2,594 Jap Planes Destroyed by U. S. Fleets in Two Months

252 MORE ARE DAMAGED; YANKS LOSE 300 CRAFT

35,000 of Foe Die in Philippine Sea Fights.

BULLETIN.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
"Enemy four motored planes" swept over the Tokyo area at 1 p. m. today (Tokyo time), a Japanese broadcast announced. Recorded by the federal communications commission, the broadcast said "the enemy planes immediately fled from our fighters."

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Oct. 31 (AP).—Carrier planes wiped out 2,594 enemy aircraft and perhaps 252 more in the two months dating from Aug. 30 thru the trio of naval battles in the Philippines sea last week.

In the same period—dating from the big task force assault on the Bonins, thru strikes at Palau, the Ryukyus, Formosa, and the Philippines, up to Oct. 31—the 7th and 3d fleets lost approximately 300 planes, Adm. Nimitz announced tonight. Many American pilots and crews were rescued.

Assessment of the enemy's staggering air losses followed bulletins reporting Japan had suffered at least 60 warships sunk or damaged within the last week and probably 35,000 naval personnel, including a few admirals.

1,462 Shot Down.

The bulletin said:

"A conservative recapitulation of enemy aircraft losses during the last two months from Aug. 30 to the present, reported by the 3d and 7th fleets [the latter operating under Gen. MacArthur] shows that 1,462 planes were shot down in the air and 1,132 destroyed on the ground, making a grand total of 2,594 destroyed by Pacific fleet carrier aircraft.

"In addition, 252 planes were probably destroyed or damaged. Our own losses during this period were approximately 300 carrier planes, with pilots and air crew losses considerably less because of rescue operations which saved many lives.

The enemy suffered its greatest losses during the following periods: Sept. 9-24 in Philippines by 3d fleet, shot down, 362; destroyed on ground, 584.

392 in Naval Battle.

"Oct. 10-16 in Nansei Shoto Islands, Philippines, and Formosa by 3d fleet, shot down, 528; destroyed on ground, 304; damaged, 59.

"Oct. 17-18 in Philippines by 3d

FLYER WATCHES BATTLE 8 HOURS FROM LIFE RAFT

ABOARD U. S. CARRIER IN PHILIPPINE SEA, Oct. 27 [Delayed]—(AP)—A blazing 27 knot battle between United States and Japanese warships was described today by a fighter pilot who was a spectator of both the night surface action and the day long air attacks which sank three enemy carriers.

One of the very few to view both engagements, Lt. J. R. Strane Jr. of Duluth, Minn., shot down three and possibly four Japanese planes. He was hit and barely bailed out of his smoking Hellcat.

From a life raft, Strane thrilled to the sight of hundreds of American planes going over to strike the enemy force northeast of Luzon two days ago. In fact, he spilled into choppy water near the oil slick left by the first enemy carrier sent to the bottom that day.

Close In Like Joe Louis.

"It was a beautiful show the way the United States ships closed in," he said. "It made me think of Joe Louis closing in for the kill."

From an American destroyer which rescued him eight hours later, Strane looked on as American cruisers and destroyers finished off the fourth Japanese carrier. That night he witnessed the violent death of an enemy cruiser.

Strane suffered only a few leg burns in aerial combat.

Carrier Sinks Rapidly.

The American ships first contacted five enemy vessels between 5 and 5:30 p. m. They closed in column of two with the United States cruisers opening fire first. A Chitose class [light] carrier damaged earlier in the day replied only weakly to the American guns.

"Everybody poured it into her," Strane recounted. "Destroyers had torpedoes primed, but didn't have to use them. The carrier sank before we had a chance to get in there."

Pass Over Ship's Grave.

In pursuit of the remaining enemy ships, the United States vessels passed over the carrier's grave. Strane saw some men in the water.

After nightfall, the American ships got the range of the fugitives and filled the air with red balls of fire. The enemy steamed wildly at 27 knots, firing back as he ran for safety. Gradually, the American vessels gained and concentrated their guns on an enemy cruiser.

A destroyer sighted Strane in the water after he flashed a mirror from a distance of five miles. She was in pursuit of Japanese ships fleeing north, but took time to pick him up.

Mrs. F. D. R. Denies Plan to Keep Her 'in Storage'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt told newspaperwomen today there was no truth in reports that Democratic party campaign strategists wanted her to stay "in cold storage" thruout the President's campaign for reelection.

Destroy Houses; Find Jap Fort

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PASTRANA, Leyte Island, P. I., Oct. 31.—Pastrana was a Leyte valley crossroad village of about 30 woven bamboo and frame houses and a half finished church, but the boys of the 3d battalion will never forget Pastrana.

They thought taking the Palo beachhead 11 days ago was tough. After tackling Pastrana they say they know what toughness is.

The battalion reached the outskirts of Pastrana about 3 o'clock the other afternoon. Men began walking between the houses and from the center of the village machine gun fire and mortars spewed in all directions. So an artillery observer crept into one of the houses on the outskirts, set up his radio and called for fire.

Drop Shells in Town.

In a half hour shells were dropping squarely in the center of the town. The mortars and artillery kept it up all afternoon and night. In the morning the crossroads was one big crater.

The troops resumed their advance, but snipers seemed to occupy every house.

"Fire the houses," Maj. Edward Howard, battalion commander and former A. A. U. heavyweight boxing champion, ordered. The men got out their matches and cigaret lighters, new weapons in this freak war.

Forts Under Houses.

Thru the flames the infantry advanced into the crossroads. Three Japs hiding under the church altar came running out. A burst of carbines and tommy guns stopped them. All was quiet as the soldiers reached the road intersection. Three houses on one corner were demolished. In the debris lay 33 dead Japs and the wreckage of one of the cleverest fortifications yet found.

Under the houses the Japs had built four log and dirt pillboxes. All were connected by a trench, and the three houses were enclosed by a waist high wall of dirt, two feet thick. From each of the four pillboxes a tunnel ran to a big cave dug under the middle house. The cave was reached thru a trap door in the house floor.

It cost the lives of 14 Americans and 40 wounded to wipe it out.

THE SUN BATHER

Kin of Stanton Shot; Gaming War Blamed

The south side gambling war which in recent years has taken more than a dozen lives, including those of Danny Stanton and Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, flared anew last night when unidentified hoodlums pumped shotgun pellets into Robert Bock, a brother-in-law of Stanton, at 76th st. and Kingston av.

Robert Bock.

The assassins' aim was poor. Bock survived their blasts and said he managed to walk nearly a mile to the Jackson Park hospital for first aid. Surgeons found he had been wounded in the left arm and the left side. At least half a dozen wounds were found.

Says He Doesn't Know Gunmen.

Bock told Lt. John Lennon of the Englewood police station and Sgt. Howard Chatt of the detective bureau he didn't know his assailants, nor the reason for the shooting.

"I was just getting into my car, near my home at 7758 Kingston av., when some one came up to me," Bock said. "I turned around, and they let go at me and ran."

Police expressed doubt that Bock walked to the hospital. They based this belief on the fact that his car disappeared after the shooting and on the stories of two boys, Ed Melin, 16, of 3036 E. 80th st. and Sheldon Kahn, also 16, of 7933 Escanaba av., that they heard the shots and saw a man, clutching his arm, get into a car. Bock was later taken to the Bridewell hospital.

Acquitted in Quirk Killing.

Bock is 34 years old and an ex-convict. Last July 15 Bock, James Fawcett, and Ray Deskovitz were acquitted of the murder of Quirk. Last December John J. Williams, John Enright, and Anthony De Lordo were acquitted in the same case.

Quirk was commonly suspected as the slayer of Stanton, Bock's brother-in-law. The two had been rivals for south side racket power.

Police ordered the arrest for questioning of Eddie Piech, James Redden, Willie Niemoth, Fawcett, and De Lordo—some friends, some foes of Bock.

Police said Bock's shooting is another incident in the never ending feud among south side hoodlums. They pointed to the shooting of Williams last March 3. He recovered. Incidentally, Williams was picked up by police on general principles last night about the time Bock was shot.

U. S. UNDERWEAR BEING COLLARED BY LEND-LEASE

New York, Oct. 31 [Special].—The nation's underwear shortage—already bad—will grow worse next winter because "lend-lease is literally snatching the underwear from the American's back," Roy A. Cheney, president of the Underwear institute, asserted today at an institute meeting.

One reason is that profits in lend-lease garments are greater than in those for civilian use, Cheney said, because the ceiling price is higher.

Find Some Cigarets? Well, Start Looking for Matches

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31. [Special].—Smokers having a hard time finding cigarets may now find it hard to get pocket matches too. WPB says 90 per cent of all penny box matches and 25 per cent of the book matches produced in the next six months will go to the fighting forces.

BLASTS AT F. D. R.'S BROKEN PLEDGES; STUDY BAN ON VOTE IN MISSISSIPPI

Roars of Crowd Greet Recovery Plan of G. O. P.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 31.—President Roosevelt's record of broken promises was thrown at him "again and again, and again"—the familiar quotation with Oxford accent—in an address here tonight by Gov. Dewey.

Twenty-two thousand jamming the Memorial auditorium at the end of a nationwide radio broadcast, roared, shouted and stomped their approval of the attack against the personal and official integrity of the fourth term aspirant. In an introductory ovation the throng chanted in mass voice, "It's time for a change," a phrase that was echoed and re-echoed thruout the speech.

The Republican Presidential candidate cited the record to explode fourth term campaign promises of reforms. Dewey asserted that on the face of the New Deal history for 12 years, the voters next Tuesday must end "government by abuse and smear," "restore honesty to our government," and forestall a third reelection, "the most dangerous threat to our freedom ever proposed."

Recites Broken Promises.

Roosevelt's fourth term campaign promises and the reasons Dewey declared they cannot be believed, "ever if repeated again and again and again," include the following:

SMALL BUSINESS.

F. D. R. PROMISE—"Will continue to be mindful of the problems of small business." DEWEY—Half a million small businesses closed their doors in 1942 and '43, drowned by a flood of rules, regulations, questionnaires, reports, and directives, leaving the white collar worker the New Deal's forgotten man.

EMPLOYMENT.

F. D. R. PROMISE—Peace time jobs for every American. DEWEY—Eight peace time years of the New Deal, in which the government spent 58 billion dollars ended in 1940 with 10 million Americans unemployed.

AGRICULTURE.

F. D. R. PROMISE—Good farm prices after the war. DEWEY—There were never decent farm prices in peace years under the New Deal.

HOUSING.

F. D. R. PROMISE—A million new homes a year. DEWEY—Under Roosevelt, an average of 380,000 homes a year were built.

The governor said he was surprised, in view of New Deal practices, to hear his opponent espouse the free enterprise system on the eve of an election.

Dewey, on the other hand, listed eight Republican proposals, virtually all of which have been opposed or neglected by the New Deal and, which he said cannot be indorsed by Roosevelt now for electioneering.

The speaker listed them, in substance, as follows:

1. Direct all government policies toward full production and full employment.

2. Reduce and simplify federal taxes.

Asks More Social Security.

3. Expand social security to give 20 million more Americans the benefits of old age pensions.

4. Free the farmers from Washington dictation and establish a floor for farm prices.

5. Restore free collective bargaining for organized labor.

6. Free business, large and small, from the burden of cumbersome government reports.

7. Prosecute monopolies.

8. Reëstablish collaboration and mutual respect between congress and the White House.

Tomorrow night, Dewey will speak on a nationwide hookup from Boston, Mass., from 8:30 to 9 p. m., Chicago time. En route to Boston he is making rear platform appearances at Pittsfield, Springfield, and Worcester, Mass.

Green Margin Downstate Is Ahead of 1940

BY LEWIS HUNT.

(Tables on page 8.)

Gov. Green's Republican campaign for reelection on his first term record has the approval of 9 per cent more voters in the state outside Cook county than supported him at the polls four years ago, it is indicated by today's totals in THE TRIBUNE's straw vote. In Chicago he is meeting stouter opposition in State's Atty. Courtney than he encountered in 1940, when Harry B. Hershey was the Democratic candidate. In the suburbs, as the day's straws swing, he is 1 per cent off. Green won in 1940 by 256,945 votes.

The Republican senatorial candidate, Richard J. Lyons, gains 2 per cent on the day's returns from downstate. Neither his nor Sen. Lucas' percentage of the Chicago straws is changed by the new tallies.

Prosecutor Race Close.

In the close contest for state's attorney of Cook county, John T. Dempsey, Republican, has only 356 fewer straws out of a total of 32,428 than the Democratic candidate, William J. Tuohy.

Based on all the straws taken thus far, the percentage ratings of the candidates for governor are:

	1944 straws [per cent].		1940 vote [per cent].
	Green.	Courtney.	Green.	Hershey.
Chicago	45	55	49	51
Cook county towns.	65	35	66	34
Downstate	61	39	52	48

The senatorial straw standings compared with the 1940 vote for Sen. Brooks and former Sen. James M. Slattery, are:

	1944 straws [per cent].		1940 vote [per cent].
	Lyons.	Lucas.	Brooks.	Slattery.
Chicago	43	57	44	56
Cook county towns.	64	36	60	40
Downstate	59	41	52	48

For state's attorney the straws show the following standings, compared with the 1940 vote for Courtney and the late Judge Oscar Nelson:

	1944 straws [per cent].		1940 vote [per cent].
	Dempsey.	Tuohy.	Nelson.	Courtney.
Chicago	46	54	39	61
Country towns	65	35	48	52

Bigger Margin Indicated.

Green's straw percentage indicates he will be reelected with a plurality larger than the 256,945 he received in 1940. Gov. Dewey, while not shown as strong as Green, has straw support higher than Wendell Willkie's share of the 1940 vote and on the straws to date would easily beat Roosevelt in the state.

The preference shown for Green and Lyons downstate reflects the same increasing Republican strength that THE TRIBUNE's Presidential poll has indicated for Gov. Dewey.

More returns in THE TRIBUNE's straw vote on the Presidential candidates will be printed tomorrow.

CONFIRM LUCAS' SHIFT OF NAVY VOTING OFFICIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—After the senate campaign expenditures committee turned down his request for a public hearing on the transfer of Lt. Comdr. Edward F. McGinnis of Chicago from the navy's war ballot office at the instigation of Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] because the officer "wouldn't get votes for Roosevelt," Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] tonight made public details of a personal investigation into the case.

Sen. Ferguson.

The open hearing was voted down late today at an executive session of the committee by a strictly party line vote. Sen. Green [D., R. I.] voted against a public hearing and also voted the proxy of Sen. Stewart [D., Tenn.]. Sen. Ferguson and Sen. Ball [R., Minn.] voted for the investigation. Sen. Tunnell [D., Del.] was not present and did not cast a proxy vote. A majority vote was necessary for the issuance of subpenas to bring the principals before a public hearing.

Gives Detailed Story.

Immediately after his motion was rejected Sen. Ferguson summoned newspapermen to his office and recited a detailed story of the transfer of the naval officer. He disclosed it had been necessary for him to get special permission from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal before he could interview any of the principals. Ferguson corroborated the story disclosed last week after Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.] challenged the committee to open an investigation.

He said Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard had ordered the transfer of the naval officer after talking to Sen. Lucas by telephone in the presence of two navy captains on duty in the war office. He said Lucas had secured the transfer in the capacity of an errand boy for Boss Kelly and had urged the transfer be made because Kelly would go to the White House.

Cautioned Not to Talk.

Ferguson disclosed that he had learned that McGinnis had been cautioned not to talk to Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], a personal friend as well as senator from McGinnis' home state and city.

"I felt this was a matter the public should learn about thru sworn

ELY, EX-DEMOCRAT GOVERNOR, SUPPORTS DEWEY AND BRICKER

Boston, Mass., Oct. 31 (AP).—Joseph B. Ely, former Democratic governor of Massachusetts and this year a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, tonight asserted in a radio speech, "I shall vote for Dewey and Bricker," Republican candidates on the national ticket.

Ely, who placed the name of the late Alfred E. Smith in nomination for President on the Democratic ticket in 1932, added:

"What was once the Democratic party has been taken over, lock, stock, and barrel, by a coterie of totalitarian Socialists, city bosses, Communists, and disciples of a disciplined—polite word for regimented—democracy."

Asserting that he had "nothing in common with such an aggregation of revolutionists and political pot boilers," Ely added: "With me it is the U. S. A. as against the P. A. C."

"Those who favor a fourth term are supporting an idea of government under which the people are the children of the state," he continued, "while the fundamental principle of American democracy, according to my beliefs, rests upon the theory that our office holders are our servants and not our masters."

Session Called to Void Bolt of 4 Electors.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 31 [Special].—Gov. Bailey late tonight issued a call for a special session of the state legislature to convene at noon Thursday to deal with problems presented by the bolting of several Democratic Presidential electors from the Roosevelt-Truman ticket.

His action came after a day and evening of frenzied debate among party bigwigs gathered at the bedside of the sick governor in the executive mansion during which a plan for selecting Mississippi's nine Presidential electors by direct action of the legislature rather than by popular vote on Nov. 7 was discussed as possibly the only legal means available to thwart the bolters.

This drastic proposal, along with a few alternatives also discussed and considered less satisfactory, will be presented to the special session, it was learned on high authority.

189 Legislators Called.

At 11 p. m. telegrams to the 189 members of the legislature advising them of the special session began going out while the governor, who left a sick bed in New Orleans Sunday to come here to deal with the crisis, began drafting a formal proclamation.

The decision to call the special session came with dramatic suddenness after the ailing governor and his advisers had consulted far into the night and after the three elector nominees who have announced their intention to vote for Sen. Byrd [D., Va.] for President had refused a demand that they resign from the slate.

The 104 year old executive mansion, a white pillared house of the plantation manor type in the heart of Jackson, was ablaze with lights thruout the night as legislators, lawyers, and party leaders came and went while the debate continued.

Plan Called Legal.

The proposal that the legislature be asked to amend the election laws to permit the legislature rather than the people of the state to name Presidential electors was advanced by several lawyers in the group consulting with the governor and was said to have brought an informal opinion from Atty. Gen. Greek L. Rice, who was present, that it was legal and backed by historic precedent.

The enormity of the reaction among Mississippi voters upon learning that they would have no chance to vote for President on election day was discussed by the group and many were said to have expressed fears that the people would never stand for it.

Service Vote a Factor.

An important factor in this phase of the matter was the fact that 25,000 of the state's service men have already voted and their ballots are in the hands of local election officials. Such action by the legislature would nullify these votes, it was said.

Gov. Bailey and his advisers undertook a telegraphic poll of the 189 members of the legislature to learn what they might expect if they called them into session and tossed the problem into their laps.

It was learned that Gov. Bailey sent out the following telegram to all legislators:

"In the event of an extraordinary session of the legislature solely to consider the Presidential elector situation, please advise whether or not you would vote for a measure which would permit Mississippi voters to vote for Presidential electors who will cast the ballot of Mississippi for the nominees of the party."

Replies Are Favorable.

Replies to this wire arrived at the executive mansion during the afternoon and evening. At a late hour a spokesman for the governor said about two-thirds of the legislators had replied and that a large majority of them had answered in the affirmative.

"There were a few dissents," it was said. "Most of them were strongly in favor of it."

Whether the legislators would be willing to go further than suggested by the governor's wire and vote for a measure which would deprive Mississippi citizens of a chance to vote for President remained an unanswered question, however.

Precedent for Method.

Students of law and history among those in the group at the executive mansion asserted the Constitution of the United States does not specify how the various states shall select Presidential electors. In the early days of the nation many states permitted their state legislatures to appoint the electors, it was said.

They said there appeared to be no legal bar to the passage of a law at the forthcoming special legislative session which would repeal existing legislation with respect to the choice of electors and allow the legislature to designate nine electors. Once such a law were passed, it was said, the legislature could then appoint nine electors by joint resolution, and these nine men could then cast their votes in the electoral college.

Constitutional Provision.

The United States constitution provides in Section 1 of Article II that "each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress."

The legal advisers to the governor said this is the sole provision in the Constitution regarding the manner in which electors are to be chosen and said it gives state legislatures absolute power in the matter. The fact that for several generations all state legislatures have provided for election of electors by popular vote does not alter the legal aspect of the question they said.

The legal advisers of the governor expressed a general opinion, however, that any attempt by the legislature to exert mandatory control over the way in which electors cast their votes would probably be unconstitutional.

Original Plan Dropped.

Because of this, original plans of the governor to ask the forthcoming special session for a law which would force Presidentia' electors to vote for the party nominees were virtually discarded as a result of discussion during the day.

Some of the governor's legal advisers suggested that it would be legal for the legislature to amend the present law in such a way that voters might, if they chose, cross out certain names now on the ballot and write in others.

This so-called "write in" plan was objected to as being unwieldly and confusing, however, and subject to the drawback that nothing could now be done about the 25,000 soldier ballots already cast.

Fail to Get Resignations.

Because of complexity of the problem the governor and his associates put forth a mighty but futile effort to force the resignation of bolting electors, agreeing that such action, if successful, would simplify everything.

Rep. J. T. Brown, a member of the legislature from Hinds county and president of the Capital National bank of Jackson, was delegated to "put the pressure" on the three elector nominees who have definitely announced a bolt.

Brown got on the telephone at the executive mansion and called the three men at their homes. They are William G. McLain of McComb, F. E. Everett of Indianola, and Clarence E. Morgan of Kosciusco. All are attorneys and all are members of the American Legion.

Blunt in Refusals.

McLain and Everett bluntly told Brown they would not resign, and he drew from Morgan a reluctant agreement to resign only if McLain and Everett did. When he learned of their refusal, he made his own positive.

McLain issued the following formal public statement after his talk with Brown:

"I have been asked to resign as an elector. I will not resign. I was nominated by the regular state Democratic convention and I will not quit under fire. If anybody resigns, let Gov. Bailey resign. I am a damn sight better Democrat than he is. At least I am not going to sell out my state to a bunch of Communists, Negroes, and south haters."

Everett authorized publication of "Hell, no," as his only comment on Brown's request.

Morgan gave out the following:

"I told Jim Brown that if Frank Everett and Bill McLain resigned, I would resign. At the same time I felt that I was letting down the people of the south.

"I accepted the appointment as Presidential elector with the firm knowledge that many people would disagree with me. At the same time I felt and now feel that if President Roosevelt continues in office that Negroes will go to our white schools and colleges, that ours will be part of a Communistic state, and free elections will cease to be within the next four years.

Fears for Democracy.

"I can send my children to private schools, but many of my neighbors cannot. My fight is made for decency in government and for the white men of the south.

"I still believe that unless some decent sections of the United States join with us and get these men with water in their veins put out of office, then Democracy is gone forever."

McLain, Everett, and Morgan precipitated the revolt last week by announcements that they had decided to vote for Sen. Byrd. They cited action by the Democratic state convention which nominated the slate of electors last June with a specification they were to be free to vote for any Democrats other than the national convention nominees in the event certain demands of the party in Mississippi were not met at the Chicago convention. These demands were ignored at Chicago.

J. B. Perry Jr., of Grenada, another member of the Democratic electoral slate, aligned himself with the bolters Sunday with a statement that his action would be "governed by the conditions placed upon me by the state convention." Two other members of the slate, Walter Welch of Laurel and T. J. Tubb of Westpoint, were said by political observers to be giving favorable consideration to joining the bolters.

When news of the revolt reached Gov. Bailey he was in a hospital in New Orleans where on Saturday he underwent an operation for removal of a cyst. He rushed back to the capital Sunday.

Among those with him today at the executive mansion were Atty. Gen. Rice, Lt. Gov. Fielding Wright of Rolling Fort, State Treasurer Newton James of Clinton, and Secretary of State Walker Wood. A stream of party leaders, legislators, and lawyers passed in and out of the mansion during the day, many carrying armfulls of law books.

Defends Electoral System.

Sen. Eastland [D., Miss.], who has been cold to the New Deal in his campaign for reelection and is regarded as a political foe of Gov. Bailey, took a hand in the situation tonight with a strongly worded denunciation of the bolters and an indorsement of the governor's plans for a special session.

Eastland asserted that the entire electoral college system will be imperiled if the bolters go thru with their plans. He defended this system as of benefit to the south and to all less populous states and said it is already under attack by the CIO, American Communists, and others who desire federalization of elections. If the bolters go ahead as they now plan, they will, he said, "not only precipitate an assault on the electoral college, but make it increasingly difficult to defend in the congress."

Wants Law Career

Gerald Haddon, 15, who participated in 13 landings on Normandy beachheads with the Coast Guard before his age was discovered, enrolled as a sophomore yesterday at Austin High school. He felt most at home in the machine shop, where George Tonn is his teacher.

His parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Willian Haddon of 4150 Harrison st., said he is determined to be a lawyer. They said they are satisfied just to have him back in school.

Gerald was in the Coast Guard eight months, and on D-Day he was on an LST boat which shuttled across the channel. He remained in action for almost 40 days of amphibious assault. He received an honorable discharge Oct. 11 in Washington, D. C.

LANDON BRANDS F.D.R. 'WASTER OF AMERICAN LIVES'

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 31 [Special].—Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas and Republican presidential nominee in 1936, tonight accused President Roosevelt of wasting American lives and prolonging the war by "one of the most costly blunders" of our national history.

In a speech at the Harrisburg city hall under sponsorship of the Saline county Republican committee, Landon charged Roosevelt with sponsorship of Morgenthau's plan which would reduce Germany to an agricultural state.

Gave Nazis New Life.

This plan, Landon declared, was announced at a time when allied armies were sweeping thru France and the German army was just about ready to quit. Instead, he said, new life was pumped into the expiring reich and a powerful weapon placed in the hands of German propaganda ministers.

"Is such a complete sterilization of Germany necessary to our national interest and to future world peace? Secretaries Hull and Stimson say no," Landon said. "They are reported along with other members of the cabinet as bitterly opposed to the Morgenthau plan. This unwise and unsound plan has already cost the lives of thousands of American soldiers and will cause the needless sacrifice of thousands more."

Landon quoted from writings of several distinguished British military commentators who condemned the Morganthau plan as "foolish."

Calls Threat Inhuman.

"Cruel and unusual punishments help to perpetuate war," Landon said. "Those things are policies of Hitler and Hirohito. If we adopt them as Morgenthau proposed, we would stand as moral bankrupts before the world. Our sons are dying to abolish such things.

"Morgenthau's inhuman threats—from the White House steps—discredited all the reasonable statements we have been distributing in leaflets over Germany. The Germans, feeling that death is preferable to surrender under such terms, are fighting with the courage of despair.

"There is only one thing Roosevelt can do to reduce the effect of this costly blunder and that is to repudiate it utterly by dismissing Morgenthau from his cabinet."

Quotes British Rebuke.

Landon quoted the following passage from an article written by Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, a British army officer now retired and working as a military commentator, as support for his contentions:

". . . Consternation swept Germany. Had more political acumen been shown [by President Roosevelt], the defeat might well have been turned into a death rattle. Instead, what happened? Allied statesmen and the press psychologically pumped new life into the expiring reich. The farther soldiers advanced the more the politicians threatened.

"Thb Eisenhower said: 'We come as conquerors but not as oppressors,' the politicians shouted: 'We come as obliterators and as hangmen.'

Rips F. D. R. Attitude.

Landon charged that even after the news from European battlefronts had made evident "his colossal blunder," Roosevelt refused to face squarely the momentous issue precipitated by Morgenthau's words.

President Roosevelt, Landon charged, refused to do anything which would "break down in the minds of the German people the conviction that they are to be subjected to cruel and unusual punishment if they surrender."

"I appeal to the fathers, mothers, and wives of our soldiers who are facing death on foreign soil," Landon said. "We can best protect them from the blood bath of continued blunders by going to the polls on Nov. 7 and retiring the Roosevelt administration from public life."

Landon accused the President of direct sponsorship of the Morgenthau plan because Morgenthau was taken with Roosevelt to the Quebec conference with Prime Minister Churchill and Secretary of State Hull, who opposed the plan, was left at home.

Landon appealed to voters to support the candidacy of Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, because "Lyons is one of the few men capable of protecting our nation."

URGE FEDERAL COURT TEST OF CIO BOOKLET ATTACKING SEN. TAFT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—A resolution recommending that Atty. Gen. Biddle file a test case to determine whether the Ohio state CIO council violated the federal corrupt practices act by distributing 200,000 pamphlets attacking the record of Sen. Taft [R., O.] was adopted today by the senate campaign expenditures committee.

Jack Kroll.

The committee action followed a hearing at which Jack Kroll, president of the Ohio CIO council, argued that the booklet attacking Taft, who is seeking reëlection, was issued for the information of CIO members and the general public and therefore was not a campaign contribution.

The federal corrupt practices act forbids contributions by corporations and labor organizations to the campaigns of candidates for federal political office.

The committee's vote to refer the case to the attorney general was unanimous, Senators Ball, Ferguson [R., Mich.], and Green [D., R. I.] all being present and voting.

101,696 ABSENTEE BALLOTS CAST; DOUBLE BOOTHS

A total of 101,696 absentee ballots have been received by the board of election commissioners to be counted in the Nov. 7 election, John S. Rusch, chief clerk, said yesterday. Members of military services and civilians returned 94,039 ballots by mail, and an additional 7,657 ballots were cast by persons who signed affidavits that they will be out of the city Nov. 7. They voted in the commission's office. County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said 800 persons are casting absentee ballots every day, and he ordered the number of booths in the office doubled, from 10 to 20. The election commissioners yesterday were processing applications for 372 additional ballots from voters who wrote for them.

NEW DEAL A BAD LANDLORD, HOME OWNERS WARNED

That the suppression of home owners is "the first step in the suppression of private business and the eventual supremacy of government owned, directed, and misdirected lives of the people of America" was charged last night in an open letter to home owners by T. H. Klapperich, chairman of the tax and slum clearance committee of the Chicago Metropolitan Homebuilders association. Klapperich said he represented 800 home owners and "millions of dollars in property."

"The New Deal will make bad landlords," the letter stated in urging the defeat of President Roosevelt in next Tuesday's election. "Unless you indicate by your vote on Nov. 7 that you have not been satisfied with the administration of this government you will be giving mandate to the New Deal and will permit the CIO-Communists to realize their plans for complete power."

Predicting a dire future for property owners unless the fourth term is defeated, the letter points to a proposed continuation of the national housing agency into the postwar period, entailing the annual construction of 500,000 tax free, public homes for the next decade. "If this building program is permitted to materialize, the people occupying these homes either will vote for the New Deal or be put out with no place to go, since private housing will be a thing of the past," Klapperich stated.

3 SEDITION TRIAL DEFENDANTS SAY FBI BARS JOBS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31 (AP).—A defendant in the mass sedition trial complained in an affidavit filed today that the FBI instigated his discharge from a job.

Chief prosecutor O. John Rogge filed an answer denying the declaration and those of two other defendants that they had been similarly discharged from jobs while free on bond during the present trial.

Today's affidavit was signed by Garland L. Alderman, 29, a former tool and diemaker. He said he was discharged this month as a clerk for the railway express agency. His foreman, Alderman said, explained that the FBI "would not approve" his employment.

Defense attorney Ira Chase Koehne, previously had asserted that FBI surveillance had cost the positions of two of his clients, Frank W. Clark and Lois De la Fayette Washburn.

Inhalator Squad Revives Five Overcome by Fumes

Equipped with two inhalators, a fire department rescue squad in charge of Capt. Myron Brown yesterday arrived at 537 Root st. It found Mrs. Margaret Bray, her mother, Mrs. Bridget Gaynor, and three children, Caroline, 3, William, 2, and Sharon, 1, overcome by fumes from a water heater. The squad members improvised three additional inhalators from oxygen bottles and revived all five victims.

DEMANDS HEARD FOR TRUTH ON F. D. R.'S HEALTH

Democrats Seek to Allay Public Misgivings.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 31.—Despite the heroic measures adopted by the Democratic campaign managers to allay popular misgivings regarding the state of President Roosevelt's health, it continues to be one of the crucial factors in the outcome of the Presidential election.

These measures, it seems, according to the reaction noted in various parts of the country, have been far from effectual and as a result the Democratic high command is facing the loss of the votes of an incalculable number of persons who regard the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate Sen. Truman unfitted for the Presidential office if he should be called upon to assume it.

In the fierce glare of the Presidential limelight Truman finds himself under the searching kind of scrutiny that a Vice Presidential candidate ordinarily is spared. He finds his capacity for public service assailed as mediocre. He finds himself denounced as the willing tool of the malodorous Pendergast machine of Kansas City which he served thruout his political career. And most recently he finds himself named as a former Ku Klux Klansman in affidavits made by acquaintances who were members of the Klan. This last charge he has denied.

Demand Impartial Examination.

Public demands are being voiced that the President submit himself to examination by an impartial board of physicians with a view to publishing their report for the information of the voters before election day. So far, the Democratic high command, and presumably the President himself, have turned a deaf ear to this suggestion, preferring to stand on Adm. McIntyre's opinion, casually stated in an interview, that Mr. Roosevelt's physical condition is satisfactory.

The point is being made that the American people apparently are going to the polls next Tuesday completely in the dark, because of official concealment, regarding two of the most important questions involved in this election—whether the President is physically fit for a fourth term and whether he was responsible for the Pearl Harbor disaster. Elaborate pains have been taken to suppress information on both these subjects.

The contention with regard to Pearl Harbor is that it has a direct bearing upon the President's qualifications for conducting the foreign affairs of the government, for the reason that the disaster which took the lives of 3,000 men, crippled our military power in the Pacific and prolonged the war with Japan at tragic cost in blood and substance was due to an executive failure to coördinate defense with the President's secret ultimatum of Nov. 27, 1941, which Japan instantly answered with war.

Question Arose in July.

The President's health has been the subject of public discussion since his acceptance speech last July and the subsequent Bremerton, Wash., speech. In these and his campaign speeches up to the present moment listeners noted the marked change in his delivery—an extraordinarily slow utterance, giving the impression of a studied effort, a slurred enunciation and stumbling over words.

Those who have seen the President in person or the news photographs of him, beginning with the acceptance speech, have been struck by his drawn and haggard look. It was apparent that he had aged greatly in six months. All these circumstances combined to pose the question of his physical fitness to endure the strains of the Presidency for a fourth term.

Leaders Nervous.

Misgivings regarding the President's health were increased when it became known that he had made his first campaign speech at the teamsters dinner sitting down, instead of standing with the aid of braces as had been his wont for nearly 12 years. The explanation emanating from the White House was that Mr. Roosevelt had abandoned the use of braces the wearing of which had always caused him great agony.

The public reaction to the evidence of a deterioration of the President's physical condition was regarded so seriously adverse to a fourth term that the Democratic leaders, already nervous over the aggressive attack on the New Deal by Gov. Dewey, rushed to the White House and told the President that a radical revision of campaign tactics was essential. He was told that he must make public appearances designed to convince the people that he is physically fit for a fourth term and answer at length the attacks on his administration.

The President assented to the demands. There followed the most extraordinary spectacle produced by American politics: a President of the United States in his third term being driven in an open car for three hours 60 miles thru New York City streets unprotected from a pelting rain and twice soaked to the skin to demonstrate that he was equal to the physical strain of a fourth term. At the Brooklyn ball park he left the car and managed to walk a few steps with the aid of braces and to stand at a microphone a couple of minutes, where he uttered three sentences.

Subsequently in Philadelphia, Chicago, and at the Foreign Policy association dinner in New York City no attempt was made to have the President stand during the delivery of a 45 minute speech, as he was able to do in the campaign of 1940 and in other long addresses up to a few months ago. In Shibe ball park, Philadelphia, and Soldiers' field, Chicago, Mr. Roosevelt remained seated in his car while making his speech.

6 MORE SUBURBS REACH QUOTAS IN WAR FUND DRIVE

Six additional suburbs have raised their quotas in the Community and War Fund campaign, Stuart W. Cochran, chairman of the suburban division, announced yesterday.

The communities and their results are: Lake Forest, $45,736, or 131 per cent; Ontarioville, $200, or 100 per cent; Wooddale, $504, or 101 per cent; Warrenville, $1,075, or 108 per cent; Flossmoor, $3,110, or 207 per cent, and Belmont, $500, or 100 per cent.

The fund, with a goal of $12,980,000, has raised more than 8½ millions since the campaign began on Oct. 2. More than 92,000 volunteers are cooperating in the appeal.

FRANCE STUDIES PLAN TO MAKE GUIANA RICH

Intends to Turn Out Cattle and Rice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 31.—As the first step in exploiting its colonial empire, the French government is studying a vast plan for the economic reorganization of French Guiana, it was learned today. The government hopes to transform the poverty stricken South American colony into a prosperous member of France's possessions.

The old policy of concentrating on production of gold, sugar, and rum will be abandoned as the output is insufficient for the needs of the country's 30,000 inhabitants. The cost is too high also.

Instead the government plans intensive production of cattle, rice, and vegetables. The soil of Guiana is better adapted to rice and vegetable production and cattle raising. The new program also would permit the colony to export to Martinique and Guadeloupe which in the past have imported rice from Indo-China and cattle from English colonies.

At the same time gold prospecting will be reorganized on a scientific basis, and attempts will be made to mine diamonds. Another source of wealth not yet fully exploited is Guiana's immense forests with their 420 varieties of precious and ordinary woods.

Developers of the plan stress that its realization depends on carrying out an immigration policy. It is impossible to effect the improvements without the aid of thousands of additional French workers, they maintain.

Marriage Licenses Drop to 3,179 During October

County Clerk Flynn said yesterday that 3,179 marriage licenses were issued last month, compared with 3,205 in September and 3,318 issued in October, 1943. Flynn reported 31,863 marriage licenses were issued the first 10 months this year, compared with 34,374 issued to Nov. 1, 1943.

50 NATIONS OPEN CIVIL AVIATION SESSIONS TODAY

BY FRANK HUGHES.

The move of the United States government to request a "wide open" policy of news coverage and a minimum of diplomatic secrecy when the international civil aviation conference of more than 50 allied and neutral nations opens here today, received promise of support yesterday from the British.

The United Kingdom delegation arrived by air yesterday afternoon. A member of the party declared he was "willing" to "bet" that the British will join the United States in asking that all plenary sessions of the conference be open. He said, however, that he could not speak officially.

To Last 25 Days.

The conference will be called to order at 4 p. m. today in the Stevens hotel to begin consideration of world-wide commercial flight problems after the war. It is expected to last at least 25 days. Adolf A. Berle, assistant secretary of state and temporary president of the conference, will give an address of welcome, followed by responses from some of the foreign delegations.

The program, and the question of who will follow Berle on the rostrum, is complicated by the fact that only a few of the foreign nations which have accepted invitations were represented yesterday. The British delegation, headed by Lord Swinton, came, but spokesmen said diplomatic protocol prevented Lord Swinton and the other delegates from being here "officially" until they had met Berle. They could not speak to newspaper men until after their official arrival.

Besides the British, the only other delegations which put in an appearance yesterday were the Canadian, Lebanon, New Zealand, and Honduras. The arrival of the British and Canadians brought to light additional information on the British commonwealth air council, which adjourned only four days ago in Montreal.

Agree on Reservations.

This meeting was attended by delegations from Australia, Canada, India, Newfoundland, New Zealand, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, and the United Kingdom, all en route to Chicago. It was one of several preliminary conferences which have been held by certain of the participating nations since last spring.

The commonwealth council agreed on the importance of joining other nations in forming a permanent international air convention, but made the reservation that nothing done in Montreal should impair the freedom of respective governments to act for themselves.

It also agreed that a complete system of air routes serving different parts of the empire and commonwealth should be established and that a standing commonwealth air transport council should be established to provide for consultation between members.

The United States delegation, headed by Berle as chairman, along with many of the foreign representatives, is expected on a special train from Washington, D. C., this morning.

A large force of the American secretariat, which is making all arrangements for the meeting, busied itself assigning rooms, registering delegates, and making out credentials. Groups of army military police were being led around corridors in the Stevens by secretariat officials. Location of various offices and officials they are to protect were pointed out.

Hotel officials said that more than 500 individual guest rooms have been assigned to the delegates and their retinues. Thruout the conference one public restaurant room in the hotel will be set aside exclusively for the delegates' morning meal and another for their luncheon.

Canadian States Position.

R. M. Macdonnell of the Canadian department of external affairs, an adviser to the Canadian delegation, greeted newspaper men in the Canadian headquarters yesterday and restated his country's position. He said that Canada agrees with the United Kingdom that there should be strong international control of world-wide commercial flying.

The Canadians, British, and the rest of the empire countries favor an international version of the American civil aeronautics board, which has power to assign routes, regulate schedules, fares, standards, and safety practices, and to hold public hearings on disputes between air lines.

The American position is that some sort of world aviation organization is needed, but nothing that strong. While there has been no concise statement of American policy, most government spokesmen have indorsed the right of innocent passage for all commercial airplanes thruout the world, and a system which would allow Americans to compete openly and fairly on all the international air routes.

Russian Absence Noted.

Macdonnell said that Canadian-American air traffic before the war was regulated by executive agreements between the two countries, which provided the right of innocent passage for aircraft of both nations, and set standards of airworthiness and systems of pilot licensing, and radio communication.

The absence of the Russian delegation, recalled suddenly by direct orders from Moscow while in Canada en route to Chicago, did not seem to disturb any of the delegates or advisers present yesterday. Macdonnell expressed regret that the Russians had withdrawn, but said Canada probably would work out individual agreements with the soviets if they fail to join any international setup.

Garber Succeeds Gorman as Railroad Mediator

John R. Garber, general chairman of the American Train Dispatchers at Tacoma, Wash., arrived in Chicago yesterday to take over his new duties as representative of the association and of the Order of Railway Conductors' Pullman system. He was appointed by the national railroad adjustment board, which was established under the railway labor act to settle disputes between labor and management. Garber succeeds A. N. Gorman of Minneapolis, Minn.

SEES GROWING ROLE FOR FORT SHERIDAN AS MILITARY CENTER

Brig. Gen. Reynolds.

Military importance of Fort Sheridan will increase steadily and reach a peak when demobilization is started, Brig. Gen. Russel B. Reynolds, new commander of the 6th service command, said yesterday.

Fort Sheridan now is the reception center for service command draftees, separation center for men being discharged from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan, and a rotation furlough processing center. In addition, Fort Sheridan also will handle discharge of all female personnel for eight middle western states. As presently set up, the center has facilities for handling about 30,000 men a month.

Camp Grant, near Rockford; Camp Ellis, near Table Grove; Fort Custer, Mich., and Camp McCoy, Wis., have served their purpose as training centers and hereafter will be used principally to house war prisoners, Gen. Reynolds said. A tactical division still is in training at Camp McCoy, and this station has a small detachment of German prisoners and several hundred Japanese prisoners—the only Japanese confined in the United States.

Gen. Reynolds said 6,000 German prisoners would be used during the winter for various camp tasks at these centers and in logging and food processing operations nearby.

fleet, shot down, 55; destroyed on ground, 31; damaged, 55.

"Oct. 22-27 in second battle, Philippine sea, by 3d and 7th fleets, shot down, 392; destroyed on ground, 31; damaged, 20.

"Liberators of the 7th air force bombed shipping in Chichi Island harbor in the Bonins on Oct 28. Other Liberators bombed barges at Haha Island on the same day. Search planes carried out strafing and bombing attacks on five small cargo ships at Kita Iwo Island in the Volcano Islands. One of the ships was sunk, one was badly damaged, and one was set ablaze."

Bombing of Rota and Yap Islands also was reported.

Rear Adm. Robert Carney, chief of staff to Adm. Nimitz, said today "there is no such thing as a Japanese fleet any more." He called recent actions the most prolonged and complex sea and air tactical operations in the history of naval warfare.

After the heavy strikes by American planes at Formosa, the admiral said, the Japanese launched a heavy aerial attack on the American ships, while Gen. MacArthur was approaching the Philippines. Then the Japanese pilots went home and fantastic stories began emanating from Tokyo of American ship losses.

American aircraft kept a close watch on the sea lanes.

All Jap Ships Moving.

"It became apparent on Oct. 17 and 18 that something was cooking," he said. "There were movements of enemy ships all along the line from Singapore to Formosa and the empire.

"Then Imperial headquarters found out that their reports on our losses had been greatly exaggerated; but even so, they kept on moving. We estimated the earliest possible time the enemy could arrive, and hung around the vicinity of Leyte so there could be no possible interference with MacArthur's landings.

"Then, as reports of enemy movements intensified, we moved close to the east coast of the Philippines on Oct. 23 to search across the central islands by air. We found a force in the Sulu sea and located another large force just south of Mindoro. We struck the southern group, damaging it, and then hit the large group approaching San Bernardino strait at the south end of Luzon.

Seek Out Jap Carriers.

"It looked then as if the Japs were shooting the works. But something was missing. We thought the Japanese carriers should be coming into the picture, so we sent our air searchers and finally located them northeast of Luzon.

"The Japanese purpose still was not clear; but with the carriers arriving, it looked like an attack, so we immediately concentrated on his carriers with our planes."

The enemy fleet had brought out all its major effective units and was attempting a pincers movement against the smaller 7th American fleet. This fleet, however, sank most of the enemy's southern forces while the 3d fleet planes and ships were destroying four Japanese carriers and numerous other ships in the north.

As American surface units of the 3d fleet moved in for the kill most of the warships saw action. Observers said the Japanese threw in bombers and fighters of all types, even float planes, against the American ships. The only American loss during this operation was the light carrier Princeton.

The Nipponese not only were suppressing figures of their losses but were broadcasting additions to their previous extravagant claims of damage done United States ships.

Nineteen more American war vessels, including nine aircraft carriers, have been sunk by Japanese planes east of the Philippines since Oct. 25, the Tokyo radio said, broadcasting an official bulletin.

Halsey Misses Battle.

ABOARD FLAGSHIP U. S. 3D FLEET, Oct. 28 [Delayed]—(AP).—Adm. Halsey, directing the American 3d fleet in its battle against the Japanese off the Philippine Islands, saw little of the battle.

This flagship was far from the scene of actual contact with the enemy when the fleets came to grips.

Halsey tried his best. The big ship was ordered under forced draft, racing toward the enemy positions. But the flagship couldn't catch up.

Sink a Jap Cruiser.

Before dawn today the group's destroyer screen did locate one damaged Japanese cruiser, traveling alone. Two cruisers and two destroyers moved in, while the flagship was still 15 miles away.

One American destroyer fired colored tracer shells, and the Japanese guns replied, their flashes visible from the flagship bridge. The second American destroyer moved in, and strings of bright tracers looped thru the skies.

Suddenly the Japanese ship burst into flame. For 30 seconds it burned brightly. Then the fire died and the shooting was visible again. Twenty minutes later there was a great explosion, then darkness.

The destroyers fired three star shells that lighted up the water. That was all the admiral got to see.

B-29 TAKES ON 79 JAPS AND BAGS 9 IN 4 HOUR FIGHT

Illinoisan Flies Plane Back Unscratched.

A B-29 BASE IN WESTERN CHINA, Oct. 31 (AP).—Seventy-nine Japanese fighter planes ganged up on a single American B-29 bomber over their own home islands recently and not only failed to so much as scratch it but had seven of their own planes shot down and two damaged by the bomber's gunners, interrogation officers disclosed today.

This four hour running battle, described as undoubtedly the severest test ever made of a B-29's defenses, began over Kyushu when a flight of nine new Japanese pursuit planes jumped the bomber just as it was heading home after a raid.

The Japanese were skilled and determined, and the American pilot, Maj. J. C. Eigenmann of Springfield, Ill., said, "They came so close you could almost read their dog tags."

Gunners Function Perfectly.

Lt. Col. Edward J. Potter of Austin, Tex., who was a headquarters observer aboard the bomber, reported the gunnery system functioned perfectly and the gunners coordinated their fire so well that they put a metal "fence" around the beseiged Super Fortress. Three of this attacking force were shot down before the others broke off after a 150 mile chase.

Immediately, 10 new Japanese fighters showed up and began a series of attacks. After 125 more miles, four of them had been downed and the others gave up the chase. They evidently had called up the reserves, however, for off the China coast 60 fighters rose to meet the bomber.

Damage Two Jap Planes.

These last attackers were described as reluctant to close, and the Super Fortress gunners, running low on ammunition, reserved their fire for the few who meant business. Two of these were damaged. The gunners complained that if they had possessed more ammunition for long shots they were sure they could have increased their bag.

A a final quirk to an exciting trip, the B-29 landed unscathed on its home field during a Japanese air raid.

BRITISH, GREEKS WITHIN 7 MILES OF YUGOSLAVIA

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 31 (AP).—British troops and Greek guerrillas, pushing the Germans out of Greece, were reported within seven miles of the Yugoslav border today.

The Germans put up a rearguard fight north of Kozane, 240 miles north of Athens, but the British and Greek forces routed them after inflicting heavy casualties and then advanced to Arnissa, 40 miles north of Kozane. The Nazi garrison at Arnissa was wiped out.

Russian pressure in Bulgaria and action of Marshal Tito's Partisans in Yugoslavia forced the Germans to turn westward and head toward Scutari, in the northwest corner of Albania. It appeared doubtful that many of the Germans fleeing Greece would reach Germany.

Of some 25,000 Germans who were garrisoned in the Aegean port of Salonika, only 10,000 were reported left.

HOME LOOTED; LOSS $50.

F. D. R. ADMITS HE SUGGESTED THOUSAND CLUB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—President Roosevelt today revealed himself as the founder and a charter member of the "Thousand club," members of which Gov. Dewey charged had been promised special privileges in return for campaign contributions of $1,000.

Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference that he had suggested the organization, which was disowned recently by Democratic National Chairman Hannegan.

The chief executive said he told a group which called upon him to discuss party funds last summer to form a $100,000 club. They laughed at me, he said, and asked who would contribute $100,000.

Lowers It to $10,000.

Why not a $10,000 club? he said was his next suggestion. This, too, he said, drew laughs from the group, whose identity was not disclosed.

Under the Hatch act individual contributions are limited to $5,000 to any party in any campaign year. Mr. Roosevelt did not discuss his suggestions in the light of that act.

Mr. Roosevelt said he then suggested the $1,000 club and the group went away. He said he never thought about it again until one day recently when a gentleman from Chicago came in and handed him a certificate of membership.

Mr. Roosevelt said he didn't know he was eligible to join the club and told the unidentified Chicagoan so. The gentleman told him he was eligible because he had made his regular contribution of $1,000.

Altho Mayor Kelly of Chicago was a recent White House visitor, it was said that the man who handed Mr. Roosevelt his membership certificate was Frank J. Lewis, head of the Chicago chapter of the $1,000 club.

Hannegan Makes Denial.

In his speech at Chicago Oct. 25, Gov. Dewey charged the President had lent his name to a plan to sell "special privilege" at $1,000 down on the barrel head. He read from a solicitation letter which promised donors a voice in the formulation of administration policy.

Hannegan was the first of Democratic leaders to assert that the President had no connection with the club. Hannegan denied that it was authorized by the Democratic national committee and asserted that its instigators had been criticized by party officials. On Oct. 26 Hannegan said the club never was discussed with the President.

Recently it was revealed that prospective members were being solicited to participate in Thursday afternoon policy making conferences at the White House. This disclosure was made in a letter written by Rep. Kefauver [D., Tenn.], soliciting memberships among Tennessee businessmen.

Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 31 [Special].—When Lloyd Lewis, 17, is inducted into the navy next week he will be the sixth son of Mrs. Mathew Lewis of Cato, Manitowoc county, to be in the fighting forces.

CHASES 40 JAP PLANES ALL THE WAY TO MANILA

ABOARD A U. S. CARRIER IN THE PHILIPPINE SEA, Oct. 27 [Delayed]—(AP).—The navy's top carrier-plane ace—with 30 planes to his credit—said today he and two other Hellcat pilots chased a formation of Japanese fighters and bombers all the way to Manila on the day he shot down nine enemy aircraft.

The ace, Comdr. David McCampbell of Los Angeles, said: "There were only two of us at the outset against 40 Japs. We really scrammed like wounded eagles for help. I first saw four, then 16, then 20 Japs and finally changed my count to 50 or 60. I radioed back, 'I need help.'

"The Japs must have thought there were more of us because they made a couple of circuits and headed back for Manila. My wingman and I followed them, working them over, attacking any planes that straggled behind, climbed, or pulled to one side.

"After half an hour, Lt. [j. g.] A. C. Slack, Lufkin, Tex., joined us. The three of us continued to tackle them until they got nearly to Manila."

2 JAP COLUMNS MOVE FOR FINAL LEYTE BATTLE

Advance Into American Trap on North Coast.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 1 [Wednesday].—(AP).—American 24th division troops, aided by mechanical units, rolled northwest thru Leyte valley today above Jaro, within eight miles of Carigara bay positions the Japanese have been reënforcing for a week.

A final enemy suicidal counterattack in that area within the next few days was expected by Maj. Gen. Franklin C. Sibert, commander of the 10th corps.

The final battle of Leyte appeared to be in the making in the bay sector where Yank cavalrymen hold strong positions.

Two Columns on Move.

Two strong Japanese columns appeared headed for Carigara. One column was reported by scouts to be two miles long. The other, of between 4,000 and 6,000 soldiers, retreated toward the bay from the central valley.

The Japanese, persistently sneaking in barges at Ormoc bay on the island's west coast despite the destruction wrecked by night air patrols, were said by a headquarters spokesman either to be planning to make a stand at Ormoc and Carigara or setting up a perimeter of defense to evacuate remnants of the trapped Japanese 16th division.

2,000 Japs Wiped Out.

Headquarters announced this gathering fight in a bulletin which also reported the annihilation of a trapped Japanese force farther south in the Leyte valley near Dagami. American flame throwers killed 2,000 Japanese in the trap and wrecked a score of pillboxes.

As Japanese fell back north from Jaro, first cavalry division troops battled west toward the Carigara positions less than five miles from captured Burigo on the coast.

The Japanese reinforcements first started at the height of the naval battles of Leyte. Had the Japanese navy won, the enemy might have endangered greatly the operations on Leyte island, a spokesman said.

Wear U. S. Uniforms.

There were increasing reports that Japanese wearing uniforms and helmets similar to American uniforms were infiltrating yank lines. Others were reported utilizing civilian dress.

The Japanese already have lost their strategic hold on Leyte in 11 days of fighting. One prisoner told Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge, of Carbondale, Ill., whose 24th corps cleaned up in areas to the south while Sibert's 10th pressed for the kill in the northwest, as saying:

"We have been here so long we are soft."

Gen. MacArthur said the advances on Leyte, now two-thirds in American hands, have been so rapid that other forces to the rear still were consolidating positions and establishing intermediate bases.

Blast 20 Jap Barges.

Japanese die-hards clinging to Catmon hill northwest of Dulag have been virtually wiped out, the bulletin said.

The bulletin told of American carrier-based planes spotting 20 barges on the west coast at Ormoc bay and destroying or damaging them. Patrol torpedo boats went after two luggers and two lighters in the same sector. It is from Ormoc bay that a road leads directly north for 20 miles to Carigara bay, where the climax appears to be in the building.

Major Gen. Hodge, said elements of the seventh division and two columns of the 96th division have trapped another sizeable Japanese force in rice paddies of the lower Leyte valley.

U. S. SUBS SINK DESTROYER AND 17 JAP VESSELS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31 (AP).—Destruction of 18 additional Japanese vessels, including one destroyer, by American submarines, was announced by the navy today. This raises to 974 the number of enemy ships sunk, probably sunk, or damaged by submarines alone since the war started.

In addition to the destroyer, which presumably was convoying Japanese supply craft, ships in the latest bag included 14 cargo vessels, one tanker, one large transport, and a naval auxiliary.

Definite sinkings credited to the submarines number 622 ships of all types. In addition, the submarines are credited with probably sinking 37 Japanese ships and damaging 115 others.

JAPS CAN CHASE FILIPINO LADIES OUT ONLY ONCE

WITH THE 7TH DIVISION, Leyte, Oct. 31 (AP).—Two Filipino women ran into a 7th division battalion command post today, excitedly waving their hands. Sgt. Donald L. Danielson, Rochester, Minn., said, "It seems seven Japs were getting tired living in the rain, so they moved the ladies and their 10 children out and they took over their quarters."

Lt. William Fou promised the women of the village of Guinaruna Dagami that he would help. The women insisted on acting as guides.

"We American patriots. First ladies to lead American patrol on Leyte," they explained. The patrol found the Japanese soldiers lodged in the house and "after considerable firing," Danielson reported, "we were no longer needed."

7 STAR NAVAL HERO IS GIVEN CHICAGO POST

Capt. Richard Kenna Gaines, a naval officer for 19 years and a two year veteran of the navy's air war in the Pacific, will relieve Capt. J. A. Briggs as chief of staff of the naval air technical training command here Friday, the 9th naval district office announced yesterday. Capt. Briggs will assume command of an aircraft carrier in the Pacific.

Capt. R. K. Gaines.

In his naval career, Capt. Gaines, whose home is in Charleston, W. Va., has accumulated 3,600 flying hours, three campaign ribbons, and seven battle stars. He was personally cited by Adm. Halsey. He was commander of the air group aboard the Enterprise which, said Artemus L. Gates, assistant secretary of the navy for air, "saved Guadalcanal for the United States."

Recently Capt. Gaines participated in storming Japanese strongholds from Truk to the Philippines. The ship's air groups shot down 60 enemy planes in the air, destroyed 105 on the ground, sank 11 ships, and damaged nine.

FATALLY CRUSHED BY ELEVATOR.

Anton Suljevich, 59, of 3924 S. Wells st., was crushed to death yesterday when he was caught between an elevator and the elevator shaft while working on the construction of an annex at 4922 Grand av. to the Permoflux corporation, 4916 Grand.

NO REST UNTIL BATAAN IS WON, SAYS MacARTHUR

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Oct. 31 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur today issued field general order No. 1 as follows:

"Now that its initial phases have been successully accomplished as commander-in-chief of the campaign to liberate the Philippine islands, I wish to express the admiration and gratitude I feel to all commanders and to all ranks for the determination, fortitude, and courage they have displayed under the most difficult, dangerous and complex situation.

Praises Gen. Krueger.

"The magnificent coördination displayed by the services was as much as the special tactical efficiency of the various branches. The ground troops have shown a tenacity of purpose which has carried them inflinchingly thru every ordeal. The tactical skill with which the troops have been maneuvered has not only outwitted the enemy but has resulted in a relatively low casualty rate that is unsurpassed in the history of war.

"Gen. Krueger has written his name high in the annals of generalship. The navy components operating under my command have not only shown complete loyalty to a commander-in-chief drawn from another branch but have exhibited an elasticity in tactical problems and that grim unflinching courage in combat which have so characterized our navy from its very origin.

"The Australian squadron conducted itself in accordance with the highest tradition of the British commonwealth of nations. Adm. Kinkaid has shown himself to be one of the great naval leaders of our day. The airforces assigned to me, both land and sea, have fought with a ferocity and intelligence never surpassed even by the brilliant performance of this branch of the service in the present war. Gen. Kenney and Adm. Sprague have confirmed their high place in the annals of their ranks.

"I am deeply grateful to the covering forces of the third fleet for their grand and successful advance forays and for their timely intervention at a critical moment in the decisive naval action following the initial landing.

Thanks Philipinos.

"To the Philippine people, civil populace as well as guerrilla, led by President Osmena, I wish to express my deep appreciation for their complete coöperation and help to our cause both before and during the operation.

"To my loyal staff: I thank them personally for their unfailing devotion thru endless hours of toil, perplexity and suspense when they so unflinchingly gave me of their soul sustenance.

"We have our holds now and I shall not relax the grip until Bataan and Corregidor once more rise to life. Almighty God has blessed our arms.

"Douglas MacArthur, general commander-in-chief, southwest Pacific area."

Big U. S. Bomber Crashes and Explodes in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 31 (AP).—An American heavy bomber crashed and exploded near Trollhattin in west central Sweden yesterday. No trace was found of the crew, believed to have bailed out.

HEAVY BOMBERS IN BRITAIN LOSE 11 DAYS IN MONTH

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP).—The 8th air force raided Germany with more than 17,500 Fortresses and Liberators and with almost as many fighter planes during October. The bombers were grounded 11 days in the month. In October, 1943, the heavies were idle 24 days. Instrument bombing stepped up this month's pace. The R. A. F., whose bombers usually fly in all weather, were out all except two nights.

The 8th air force losses were about 200 bombers and 100 fighters, a little over 1 per cent for heavies and about six-tenths of one per cent for the fighters. Fifteenth air force bomber crews operating from Italy struck German targets on five of the 11 days their buddies of the 8th were grounded in England.

During the record month the German air force lost 174 planes to 8th air force gun fire. Another 52 were destroyed on the R. A. F. night raids. Cologne was the favorite target of both the R. A. F. and American airmen. This Rhine river communications hub behind Nazi defenders of the northern Siegfried line was attacked 18 times.

HIS army knew that George Washington liked music. And so on his birthday, during the dreary winter of 1778 at Valley Forge, Proctor's artillary band (it was really nothing more than a drum and fife corps) tramped through the ice and snow to serenade him. To show his appreciation for this gesture of affection, Washington gave the ragged musicians most of the very few silver coins he had.

ENVOY TO CHINA RESIGNS AFTER STILWELL RECALL

No Connection Between Incidents, Says F. D. R.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

Clarence E. Gauss.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Personal differences between Chiang Kai-shek and Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, his American chief of staff, led to the latter's recall at the insistence of the Chinese generalissimo, President Roosevelt disclosed today.

At the same time the chief executive confirmed reports that Clarence E. Gauss, United States ambassador to China, had submitted his resignation. He insisted, however, there was no connection between the recall of the general and the retirement of the diplomat.

In attributing the return of Stilwell to personal friction with Chiang, Mr. Roosevelt insisted there were no differences on policy or strategy involved. He also said there was no quarrel on the distribution of American supplies in China between fighting troops and other units.

Nothing Political, Says F. D. R.

He said the simple fact was that the generalissimo and Stilwell had a number of fallings out quite a while ago. These differences culminated the other day, he continued, with a request from the Chinese leader that some one replace Stilwell. And we did it, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt said there honestly isn't anything political in the situation and that he did not think any one could make any politics out of it. It was just one of those things, he explained.

Mr. Roosevelt paid high tribute to Stilwell here before acknowledging the clash of personalities was responsible for his recall. He said Stilwell had done extremely well in China, that he personally was very fond of him, and that the general is to be given another post commensurate with his rank and ability.

Marshall Approval Told.

He explained that Stilwell's recall was ordered with the full approval of Gen. Marshall, chief of staff of the army. He said the Chinese generalissimo is the head of a state of more than 400 million inhabitants, the head of its government, and commander in chief of the army.

The President said that if the British ambassador were personally objectionable to him, he would call upon Prime Minister Churchill for the envoy's recall. It is customary procedure, he added.

Mr. Roosevelt said there was no connection between the general's recall and the mission of Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley and former WPB Chairman Nelson. He said the recall was purely a matter of personalities. Stilwell is on his way home, he said.

As for the Gauss resignation, he reported the ambassador has been wanting to come home for a long time. He said he was informed some days ago that Gauss would resign.

3 JAP COLUMNS CLOSING IN ON KWEILIN BASE

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 31 (AP).—Three Japanese columns were closing in tonight on Kweilin, strategic Chinese defense center in southeast China.

The Chinese high command war bulletin said Japanese forces had hammered their way to points six miles east, six miles northeast, and nine and one-half miles southeast of the Kwangsi province capital. The defenders have promised to make Kweilin "China's Stalingrad" and to defend it to the last man.

The high command said Chinese troops, in an effort to disrupt enemy lines of supply and communication, struck toward the Hunan-Kwangsi railway town of Tungan, 90 miles northeast of Kweilin, and captured Japanese strongpoints four miles northwest and 12 miles northeast of the city.

The high command said Chinese troops on the West river front had again halted the Japanese drive on Liuchow from Pingnam, a Japanese-held base 115 miles south of Kweilin.

CHINESE ARMY CONSOLIDATES BURMA LINES

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HDQ., Kandy, Cylon, Oct. 31 (AP).—Chinese troops have consolidated their positions in Myothit, 24 miles northeast of Bhamo, in the new allied northern Burma campaign to clear a land route to China. Adm. Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

To the west of Myothit, capture of which was announced yesterday, British troops in the railroad corridor continued their offensive patrol action in the Mawhun-Mawlu area, the daily war bulletin stated.

In northwestern Burma the Japanese were putting up fierce resistance around Kennedy peak, on the Tiddim-Fort White rd., the bulletin said. Allied aircraft attacked road, rail and river traffic in central Burma and in the Chin hills below Tiddim.

Admits Perjury

Mrs. Millie Sora, who admitted she gave false alibi for robbery trial defendant, and was sentenced to 60 days in jail. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Millie Sora, 24, of 1166 Milwaukee av., mother of two children, admitted yesterday that she lied Monday when she testified before a jury in Chief Justice Harold G. Ward's Criminal court that Peter Sadownicki, 24, of 1417 Division st., defendant in a robbery trial, had been with her at a moving picture show at the time of the robbery. Judge Ward sentenced her to 60 days in jail for perjury.

The jury later returned a verdict of guilty against Sadownicki and he was sentenced to a prison term of 8 to 15 years.

Mrs. Sora's offense was uncovered by Assistant State's Atty. Julius Sherwin, whose case against Sadownicki as one of the bandits who robbed the Family Loan company, 3147 Logan blvd., of $188 Aug. 25, was dealt a heavy blow by her testimony.

She told the prosecutor that Sadownicki had prevailed upon her to offer perjured testimony when she visited him in jail several weeks ago.

DE GAULLE BANS POSSESSION OF ARMS IN PUBLIC

Sets Up High Court to Try Vichyites.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 31.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle's provisional government tonight empowered the police to disarm any one not a member of the regular army or police found carrying firearms in public.

The measure will apply particularly to groups of lawless youths in the provinces who have been defying constituted authority and requisitioning supplies.

Recall All Arms.

It was announced further that "persons possessing arms who do not belong to the regular army or to the police must turn such arms over to the gendarmerie or to police authorities immediately." They will be "given a receipt for such arms and the arms will be turned over to the armed forces," it was said.

The council adopted measures also to establish military training centers in each military region in France. Dissolved patriotic militia members and guards are expected to volunteer for this military training for induction later into the regular army.

Set Up "Vichy" Court.

De Gaulle's government voted also to set up a high court of justice to try all former members of the Vichy government.

The government's earlier decision to abolish autonomous armed groups won general approval today. Even members of the national council of resistance admitted the action was wise inasmuch as many groups of so-called patriotic guards have gotten out of hand. These guards enlisted for a limited time only to do strong-arm work during the insurrectionary period. The tendency of some of these groups, especially in rural districts where there are no regular police, has been to continue operations and take the law into their own hands.

DRIVER ROBBED OF $60.

James Tolfer, 909 W. 19th pl., a driver for the Kraft Cheese company, told police yesterday that two men, one carrying a revolver, robbed him of $60 in an alley in the rear of 1822 W. 13th st.

STILWELL RECALL SAVES 'FACE' OF CHINA DICTATOR

New Details of Odd Story Passed by Censor.

BY PRESTON GROVER.

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 31 (AP).—The removal of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell as commander in the China-India-Burma theater, it can be reported, resulted from a combination of strategy and diplomacy such as could arise only in the orient.

It was possible today to get further details passed thru censorship.

The abrupt new shaping of the whole American position in this part of the world began with the arrival in Chungking two months ago of Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley and Donald M. Nelson. Both carried vast powers designed to get from China some solid commitments for increased coöperation with America in the war against Japan.

United States Makes Threat.

The Associated Press is informed that the commitments were given virtually under threat of American withdrawal of her support of Chiang's government.

In turn, the Associated Press was informed that a last minute softening in the American attitude resulted in an agreement for the withdrawal of Stilwell as supreme commander in the China-Burma-India theater as a face saving and pacifying gesture demanded by the generalissimo.

So large are official "leaks" in Chungking and other Chinese political and military circles that major portions of the story of this strange shake-up in the war against Japan were known within hours after the events occurred.

Requests Are Cited.

As related to the Associated Press, Hurley and Nelson explained to Chiang that there was much disappointment over the failure of the central government to come to an agreement with the Communists in the north so that both they and the central government troops now blockading them could be brought against the Japanese in China.

Among the requests were:

First, that Chiang should reorganize his cabinet and eliminate reactionary obstructionists and anti-foreign members.

Second, that an American general be placed in command of Chinese operations not only in Burma but elsewhere in major operations against the Japanese.

During early conversations, it evidently was assumed on both sides that Stilwell was to be the American commander.

Stormy Scenes Follow.

The terms were put to Chiang very forcefully, in some instances backed by specific messages from President Roosevelt. Some stormy scenes followed. Chiang, as was expected, refused to dissolve or reorganize his cabinet.

Then came an odd change in the proceedings.

It was discovered that H. H. Kung, Chiang's finance minister, visiting in the United States, was informing Chiang that Mr. Roosevelt was not supporting the stern position taken by his two representatives in Chungking.

Usually well informed sources, whose reports are believed to be reliable, said that Kung informed Chiang that Harry Hopkins had informed him that there was no cause for alarm in the American attitude and that if Chiang would hold out determinedly, he would win all points.

[In New York Kung said press accounts of any messages he was supposed to have sent to Chiang and "alleged reports of conversations between me and Mr. Harry Hopkins are highly misleading and unfounded."]

Learning of these reports, the American negotiators evidently obtained a flat statement from the President in a message that he was not fooling and backed the negotiators at that point fully.

Reaction Sets In.

Finally, an agreement was reached which included among other things that an American would be given command of Chinese field forces. It was a large pill to swallow, but in the interests of harmony all around, Chiang evidently agreed at one stage to take it and keep the war going at top speed. He agreed to give Stilwell command of Chinese field forces.

Then a reaction set in. To the amazement of all the negotiators, Chiang declared that Stilwell must go. He cited charges. For security reasons the nature of the charges can not be disclosed.

The generalissimo was adamant and the United States representatives were faced with capitulation on the point or a break in the policy of supporting Chiang's government. A few days ago, Stilwell was relieved of his command and left for America. But Chiang was specifically informed that the United States did not accept his charges against Stilwell.

Stilwell's Recall Eases Situation, Canadian Says

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Victor W. Colum, Canadian ambassador to China, said in a statement today that the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell from his three commands in the Asiatic area "will undoubtedly ease the situation in the far east." Colum said Stilwell is a "first class fighting soldier but he hasn't the capacity to get along with men," such as has been shown by Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Eisenhower.

BRITAIN ALLOWS EASIER DIVORCES FOR ARMY WIVES

Women Wed to Alien Troops Affected.

BY JAMES SLOAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A bill which facilitates divorces in British courts for English women married to soldiers from overseas was passed today by the house of commons amid charges that the measure is unjust, immoral, and aimed to encourage hasty war time marriages.

Mrs. Mavis Tate, Conservative, made two unsuccessful moves to amend the bill and failed in an effort to have it rejected. She first sought to have embodied in the bill provisions of the 1937 law which prohibits divorce proceedings until a husband and wife are married three years.

23 Year Clause Abrogated.

Mrs. Tate argued that Britain should not make marriage laws more difficult for girls who are married to their own countrymen or to men living here than for girls who are married to men living overseas.

Beverly Baxter, Conservative, charged that under the bill an English girl marrying an American soldier could do so with the mutual knowledge that he could commit adultery in Cairo and that they could have a divorce any time they wished, whereas a girl married to an Englishman could have no redress for three years.

After Atty. Gen. Donald Somervell pointed out that the three year marriage clause was aimed to allow time for reconciliation and that present circumstances abrogated the clause in marriages to foreign or dominion troops, the house rejected Mrs. Tate's amendment, 174 to 38.

Call Bill an Injustice.

Mrs. Tate then moved an amendment to extend the bill's privileges to all living in this country. She said she deplored that the three year limit had been swept away with respect to marriages of men residing overseas.

Other members cited the laxity of moral standards. They said the bill did injustice to the English girl who went abroad to try to make her marriage a success by denying her privileges extended to one who stayed at home and took advantage of the revised war time divorce code.

When this move failed, Mrs. Tate called for rejection of the entire bill, charging that "in helping a few hard cases we are passing a measure which does little more than legalize adultery provided it is committed with some one domiciled outside this island. This measure is prostitution of justice."

Tho other members also assailed the bill, it was passed.

INDIAN TROOPS CROSS RONCO RIVER IN ITALY

ROME, Oct. 31 (AP).—Indian troops of the British 8th army have consolidated a half-mile deep bridgehead across the Ronco river near Meldola, seven miles south of Forli, German strong point on the Bologna-Rimini highway, the allied command announced today. Polish troops ran into strong German prepared positions at Caminato which slowed their drive on Forli.

Action on the American 5th army front immediately south and southeast of Bologna was confined to patrol activities. The Americans took 100 prisoners in the vicinity of Vastellaccio.

Along the Ligurian coast, Brazilian expeditionary force troops captured a 2,800-foot peak in the face of heavy enemy machine gun fire while other Brazilians took Calomini, 15 miles east of Massa. On the Adriatic British troops continued to advance against light resistance.

ALLIED PRISONER BAG ON WESTERN FRONT 637,544

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Oct. 31 (AP). — The official allied bag of prisoners on the western front now totals 637,544. By armies, the figures are:

American 1st army	199,413
American 3d army	95,950
American 7th army	80,916
French 1st army	57,939
British 2d army	*83,582
Canadian 1st army	*82,744
American 9th army	80,000

In addition the 21st army group—the British 2d and Canadian 1st army—had another 20,000 uncredited prisoners, probably captured by French Forces of the Interior [FFI] and turned into the 21st's prisoner pens. The prisoner count covers the period up to Oct. 27 for the British and Canadian armies, and up to Oct. 28 for the other armies.

[Figures marked with asterisks (*) include prisoners taken by Polish, Dutch, and American forces operating as part of the 21st army group. Polish troops are under command of the Canadian 1st army and recently captured Breda, Holland. The American units are also attached to the Canadian army. The assignment and command of Dutch forces has not been fully disclosed.]

Chiang Prays and Works on His 58th Birthday

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 31 (AP). — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek observed his 58th birthday today. There was no public celebration because of the war. Chiang arose at an early hour, prayed and meditated before beginning his day's work. Later he went to his country residence where he refused to see visitors.

ALLIES FIGHT TO MAAS RIVER IN SOUTH HOLLAND

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP). — Allied armored forces, operating under extreme difficulties of weather and terrain, fought thru to the Maas [Meuse] river north of Tilburg tonight and closed within a half mile of the Geertruidenberg bridge, one of the main escape routes for German troops fleeing southwestern Holland.

"The battle for the port of Antwerp is over in our favor," said a spokesman for Lt. Gen. Dempsey, commander of the British 2d army. "It is a question how fast and how far back the Germans will go."

Canadian troops to the west, clearing the seaward approaches to Antwerp, charged across an 1,100 yard causeway from South Beveland Island in an assault on German forces still holding out on partly flooded Walcheren Island at the entrance to the Schelde estuary.

Tonight the Canadians were within 25 yards of gaining a foothold on Walcheren.

Black with Vehicles.

Highways south of the Maas were black with Nazi transport moving toward the four fixed and pontoon bridges left standing across the stream. A thick fog prevented the enemy's destruction by allied planes.

American, British, Canadian, Polish, and Dutch troops pursuing the Nazis across the flat and flooded Dutch countryside were forced to remain on the roads and highways. German rear guards hidden in houses alongside the roads had literally to be blown out of action.

Canadian troops driving northwestward from Breda were within five miles of the Moerdijk bridge—12 miles west of the span at Geertruidenberg. American forces had a bridgehead across the Mark river in the same vicinity and were only 20 miles from Rotterdam. Up to last night 3,400 German prisoners had been captured in the nine day allied offensive.

Believe Bridge Under Fir

Today's allied drive to the Maas was just north of captured Capelle and approximately 14 miles west of 's-Hertogenbosch. A few miles farther west two other converging allied columns bore down on Geertruidenberg, and were reported to have the long bridge there under fire.

A German Transocean news broadcast said that road traffic on both sides of the Maas had been bombed steadily by the allies, but noted that the bridges had been spared and said "the allies apparently hope to capture the bridges intact."

A dispatch from allied headquarters said a railroad bridge over the Hollandsch Diep at Moerdijk was reported to have been destroyed, but that the highway bridge there—one of the longest in Europe—"is believed to be intact."

American troops fighting near the western end of the Holland front deepened their thrust across the Breda-Roosendaal road, Canadians pressed on three miles north of Roosendaal and seized Oudgastel. Other Canadians north of Bergen op Zoom were reported within 2,000 yards of Steenbergen.

British reënforcements thrown in alongside American forces who for five days had borne the brunt of a heavy German counter-attack toward Eindhoven in eastern Holland helped turn the tide decisively today. By nightfall the allies had driven the Nazis half way back thru the shell splintered town of Lieseel, 14 miles east of Eindhoven. Hard fighting still raged in the streets of Miejel, six miles southeast of Lieseel.

The remainder of the western front remained quiet and mudbound. The United States 1st army in Germany captured a record low of only 14 prisoners in 24 hours.

U. S. BOMBERS BREACH VITAL GERMAN CANAL; DRAINED FOR 3 MILES

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP).—United States Liberator bombers breached the Mittelland canal at Minden, Germany, one of the Reich's most important east-west inland waterways, last Thursday, and drained the canal dry for about 3 miles, the United States strategic air forces announced today.

An 85 foot section of the canal wall was destroyed, and at least 30 barges and tugboats were stranded, an announcement said. The canal links central and eastern Germany with the Ruhr valley and Rhineland.

R. A. F. Lancasters wound up the month today with an attack on a synthetic oil plant at Bottrop.

Cologne was bombed twice before 9 o'clock tonight by Britain's Mosquito bombers, bringing to 18 the aerial blows delivered against that crippled Nazi citadel during October.

REDS IN CHINA DEMAND END OF ONE PARTY RULE

New York, Oct. 31 (AP).—Lin Tzuhan, spokesman for Chinese Communists, has sent a letter to representatives of the Kuomintang [national party] in Chungking calling for dissolution of one-party dictatorship and establishment of a coalition government, the Communists' Yenan radio said today.

In a broadcast recorded by the FCC, the Communist station, reported that Lin wrote: "A grave crisis exists everywhere—politically, militarily, economically and culturally." The radio said he demanded recognition of Communist "organizations behind the enemy lines."

HINTS STILWELL RECALL FIXED AT QUEBEC PARLEY

KANDY, Ceylon, Oct. 31 (AP).—While correspondents were prohibited from speculating in their dispatches concerning the reasons for Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's recall to Washington, the English language newspaper, Ceylon Observer, today suggested that the action was connected with the grand strategy evolved at the recent Quebec conference, the paper said.

"The first reaction to the news that Gen. Stilwell has been relieved of his post is to associate it with persistent rumors of disagreements he has had with Adm. Lord Mountbatten.

"But these rumors have been denied, and besides, with a Presidential election only one week ahead, President Roosevelt is not likely to do anything to provide political capital for his opponents with the suggestion that he is playing second fiddle to the British.

"Stilwell's removal must therefore be for other reasons, and it obviously is a development of the Quebec conference. There it was decided that the major offensive against Japan must await Germany's defeat. The report that C-B-I [China-Burma-India] has been split into two theaters fits into this pattern."

STILWELL RECALL LEAVES STRANGE PROBLEMS IN WAR

Yanks in Burma and India Under Mountbatten.

BY PRESTON GROVER.

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 30 [Delayed]—(AP).—From a strictly administrative standpoint it may be easier to run this theater of war now that it is divided into two parts, but the situation resulting from the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell to Washington still leaves some strange problems.

Adm. Mountbatten.

The Americans, for instance, are strictly under the operational control of Adm. Louis Mountbatten of England in Burma and India. Under Stilwell they were partly under Mountbatten, but not altogether. Stilwell, while under Mountbatten operationally in India, was also commander of American forces in China which were not under Mountbatten.

Stilwell also commanded Americans in India whose main job was feeding supplies to China. That's still the main job of the Americans in India.

Under Mountbatten's Control.

But what would happen now were Mountbatten to decide that some of the Americans on the India side of the "hump" should be used elsewhere in India? Lt. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, who succeeds Stilwell as commander of American forces in India and Burma, is now under the operational control of Mountbatten, instead of being partly under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Sultan is expected to command a considerable number of Chinese troops operating in North Burma along the Ledo road. He probably will inherit Stilwell's title of commander of Chinese troops in India and Burma, but the situation will not be the same as it was when Stilwell also was chief of staff to Chiang.

Sultan does not have that job. Instead Maj. Gen. Albert G. Wedemeyer—who is commander of United States army forces in China—has it. The Chinese troops in India and Burma belong to Chiang, who has power to withdraw or transfer those troops back to China.

Some Things Simplified.

Some things are simplified. Stilwell used to be the independent commander of the Chinese in North Burma, altho technically he also was under Lt. Gen. William J. Slim, a Briton, who was commanding Mountbatten's troops in the Burma area.

In turn, however, Slim was technically under Stilwell because the latter also was Mountbatten's deputy. Now Sultan is directly under Mountbatten, but still not quite, because Sultan still commands the Chinese who are merely on loan.

Much conferring has to be done to iron out the division of this theater, but this already is in progress.

The main American directive in this theater continues to be to supply China and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's 14th air force, and that has been unchanged by the division.

HE'S OF GERMAN DESCENT.

Adm. Mountbatten, supreme allied commander of the southeast Asia command since 1943, is of German descent. He was Prince Louis Francis Albert Nicholas of Battenberg until 1917, when his family relinquished the title and assumed the surname of Mountbatten.

Battenberg was the name of a family of German counts which died out about 1314; but the title was revived in 1851 for the morganatic wife of Alexander, a younger son of Louis II., grand duke of Hesse.

His wife thereupon became known as the countess of Battenberg. Later the countess and her children were raised to the rank of princes and princesses of Battenberg, with the right to use the additional title of serene highness.

Forced to Resign.

Mountbatten's father, the late Prince Louis Alexander of Battenberg, was the eldest son of this morganatic marriage. He became a naturalized British subject in 1868 and at the outbreak of World War I. he was first sea lord of the admiralty. Public clamor over his German descent and title caused him to resign this post.

Three years later he was created first marquess of Milford Haven. In 1921, shortly before his death, he was appointed an admiral of the fleet, an honorary title.

He married Princess Victoria, eldest daughter of Louis IV., grand duke of Hesse, and a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, who became the mother of Adm. Mountbatten.

In 1922 Adm. Mountbatten married Edwina Cynthia Annette Ashley, granddaughter of the German born financier, Ernest Cassell.

Sam Gets Bear Steaks to Replace Stolen Honey

Kane, Pa., Oct. 31 (AP).—The hunting season opened prematurely for Samuel Maze of McKinley Station, who found a 194 pound bear stealing honey from his beehives and shot it. Game officials, informed of the kill, ruled Maze could either file for damages or keep the meat. Maze settled for the bear.

Admits Wearing Uniform Illegally; Serves 1 Hour

John W. Quinn, 29, of 1506 W. 81st st., formerly employed in the Seattle shipyards after rejection by the army for physical reasons, admitted he wore the chevrons of a staff sergeant on an ill matched uniform and was let off by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday with one hour in the custody of the United States marshal for wearing the uniform illegally.

DECLARES CHIEF AIM OF CHIANG IS TO BE RULER

BY THOBURN WIANT.

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP).—The Kuomintang party regime, headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has been—and is—more concerned with the inevitable civil war against the 80,000,000 Chinese Communists than in the struggle against Japan.

After nearly two years in the China-Burma-India theater as a war correspondent, I am convinced the generalissimo and his party leaders are primarily—and mostly—interested in perpetuating themselves.

Democracy does not exist in China. There probably is no more effective dictatorship than that of the Kuomintang party. There is no freedom of speech, or of press, or of much of anything else.

On Verge of Falling Apart.

There are secret police, concentration camps, and firing squads for those who dare to speak, or write, or act out of turn. There also are ingenious means of applying "do-it-or-else" pressure.

For years China has been on the verge of falling apart.

All of this may sound strange to the American people, who had thought the Chinese had been fighting heroic battles against the Japanese for the last seven years.

Why hasn't the American public been kept informed? First, because of Chinese censorship. Second, because Washington, D. C., held out hope that the mess could be cleaned up. Washington, thru Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, gave Chiang every assistance possible under the circumstances.

But the mess became so bad that Stilwell finally was recalled to Washington.

Eager to Fight Japs.

I have excellent reason to believe that Stilwell always was eager to fight the Japanese in China, without delay. On the other hand, the generalissimo apparently figured the Americans would do the job for him eventually, and that he could hoard most of his resources for the civil war.

Stilwell did everything humanly possible. Some uninformed people hastily interpreted his recall as a kick in the pants. But, now, they are beginning to see that he deserves not only a pat on the back, but some sort of unique recognition for his long suffering, conscientious, loyal, skilful service.

For the last two years, and before that, American military and civilian observers have left China and returned to Washington with astonishing reports on true conditions under the generalissimo.

One observer said that lend-lease materials were being saved up for the civil war; that approximately 1,000,000 of the generalissimo's troops were in northern China, watching and sparring with the Communists.

He said that Chinese in many sectors were resisting only on a token basis; that goods were passing, freely in many areas, from the Japanese to the Chinese, and vice-versa; that money and letters could easily be sent into and out of Japanese occupied centers such as Shanghai and Hongkong; that the money market seemed to be maneuvered for the benefit of those in power.

The correspondents knew all of these things. But they couldn't write them then.

Taken on Escorted Tours.

Correspondents rarely were permitted to go to the actual fighting fronts. Upon occasion, they were taken on escorted tours of "cold" battlefields.

The Chinese in Burma fought well principally because Stilwell was constantly on the spot to see that they fought well.

Stilwell always contended that, properly trained, equipped and led, Chinese could fight as well as any troops in the world. Before starting the northern Burma campaign in October, 1943, Stilwell set up a school in India, and saw that the Chinese were promptly trained and equipped. He picked his own Chinese officers and led them from the start of the campaign.

The generalissimo had promised more divisions than Stilwell finally got for the Burma show. But Stilwell did the best he could with what he had—and that was good enough.

LOUIS TEETER.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 31 [Special].—The mask that Louis Teeter, 8, wore tonight in celebration of Halloween was grotesque, but to Louis it wasn't very funny. Louis looked like a comic strip man from Mars with yards of bandage swathing his face and head after a straw mat he was wearing as a costume was ignited by his jack-o'-lantern.

DEWEY PICKS UP LARGER LEAD IN N. Y. STRAW POLL

New York, Oct. 31 [Special].—Gov. Dewey doubled his lead over President Roosevelt in today's tabulation of civilian straws in the New York News Presidential poll, increasing it from 573 to 1,151. Despite this climb, Dewey's edge in the battle for New York state's 47 electoral votes remains precarious.

The 56,375 straws tabulated to date show: Dewey, 28,763 or 51.0 per cent, and Roosevelt, 27,612 or 49.0 per cent.

Relatively, Dewey's lead of 1,151 is an infinitesimal margin, since it does not represent the 605,239 New Yorkers who have applied for war ballots.

F. D. R. TO TOUR NEW ENGLAND; ADDS A SPEECH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31 (AP).—President Roosevelt added a Thursday night radio speech to his campaign windup today and charted a closing tour thru New England, capped by a Saturday address in Boston.

Mr. Roosevelt's Thursday night speech will be delivered from the White House. Democratic national headquarters said it would be broadcast by NBC at 8 p. m. central war time.

The well filled week-end schedule will give the President two more major campaign addresses, at the same time making it practically impossible for him to return to the midwest for a speech in Cleveland.

The chief executive probably will speak in Boston's Fenway park Saturday night. Before he arrives in Boston, he will talk informally in Bridgeport and Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Mass.

Secret British Larders to Supply Christmas Table

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP).—England was assured today of extra food for Christmas tables as the government arranged to distribute 20,000 tons of food stored in secret larders since 1940 when Britain was preparing against invasion.

VICTORY ROLES OF U. S. ARMOR INFANTRY TOLD

Chicagoans Clear Way for Tanks Into Germany.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Oct. 31.—Many Chicagoans and other midwesterners are members of armored infantry units, whose exploits from victories in Tunisia to the capture of Aachen, Germany, have played a vital, if not too much heralded, role in triumphs over the enemy.

Contrary to popular legend the tank is not always the leader in battle. Usually, as was the case in the early battles in the hedgerows of France, it is regular line infantry and armored infantry accompanied by tanks which exploit openings in enemy defenses.

Not Doughboy or Tanker.

The armored infantryman, tho he sometimes walks or crawls into battle, is not a doughboy and tho he rides into battle sometimes in tanks and other time in thin-skinned half tracks or on top of medium tanks, is not a tanker. He is one of the most versatile and multi-skilled fighters in the United States army and counterpart of the highly publicized German panzer granadier.

Armored infantry men are used to protect armor from close-in engagements with tanks. They are used often in straight infantry combat, where terrain and fortifications prohibit the use of tanks. In defensive positions they are the mainstay of an armored division, with tanks for support.

When "buttoned up" for battle, tanks are often blind and deaf until hitchhiking doughboys of the armored infantry supply the "eyes and ears." Riding pickaback, the G. I.s often sandbag the rear decks of the tanks and form a second turret, from which they carry on small arms fire against the enemy.

Grenade to Howitzer.

The armored infantry battle group employs everything from the grenade to the 105 mm. howitzer mounted on the Sherman tank. In between are 75 mm. self-propelled howitzers mounted on light tanks, 37 mm. anti-tank towed guns, 81 mm. and 60 mm. mortars, 50 and 30 caliber Browning machine guns, rifles, submachine guns, and pistols—and the deadly bazooka.

Armored infantry now goes into battle with free use of the air waves. Experience has shown that walkie-talkie and other portable radios confuse the enemy rather than supply him with targets as had been expected.

An armored infantry headquarters company under Lt. Carleton R. Johnson, Rockford, Ill., recently played a vital role in a battle in which United States forces were being pushed back from a town. Johnson assigned mortar, anti-tank, and reconnaissance platoons, the latter converted into rifle squads, to clear the town of the enemy.

Two Chicagoans Star.

In this battle, two Chicagoans, Corp. Steve Scerba, 3334 Lake st., and Sgt. Frank Symcak, 1458 Huron st., knocked out tanks with bazookas, took line outposts for tanks at night, and held their ground until relieved by regular infantry.

Another battalion of armored infantry held a front line position near Aachen for eight days. Its members lived in a cellar in which there was two feet of water. They were unable to get supplies or move except at night.

Lt. Robert E. Benish, St. Louis, Mo., who played for the Cardinals baseball team in civilian life, commanded an armored infantry team which forced its way into Germany. Two of his squads flanked enemy positions which had stopped tankers of the 3d armored division and then annihilated the Germans.

Leading the squads were two Chicagoans, Tech. Sgt. Edward Prikopa, 2118 S. Halsted st., and Pvt. Joseph J. Malicki, 2203 S. May st., and Staff Sgt. Lucas F. Scherb, Glenville, Minn.

Later, when American tanks moved on into Germany, Jerry 88s forced them to take cover. Again armored infantry cleared out the guns and the tank column advanced.

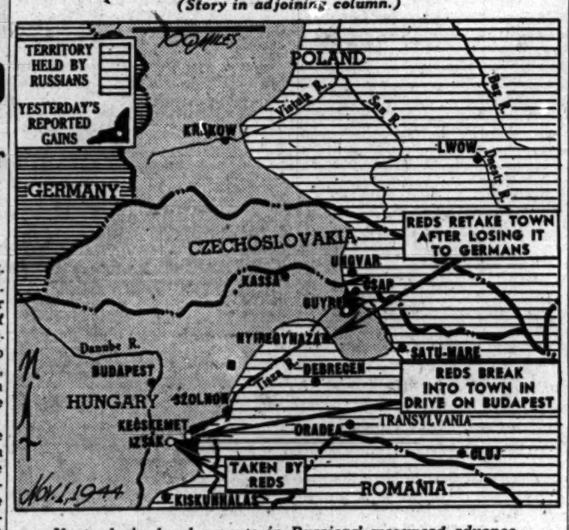
Russians Advance on Budapest

(Story in adjoining column.)



Yesterday's developments in Russians' westward advance.

Two Chicagoans Placed on State Food Board

Gov. Green announced yesterday the appointment of two Chicago men to fill vacancies on the food standards commission of the state department of agriculture. They are Dr. Lloyd K. Riggs, 25 E. Delaware pl., and Dr. Lloyd A. Hall, 420 E. 65th st., a Negro. Dr. Hall formerly was senior chemist for the Chicago health department. Both have been in research work for 20 years. They replace the late William Trevillian of Freeport and H. C. Horneman of Danville, who resigned recently because of illness.

RUSSIANS SEIZE TOWN 43 MILES FROM BUDAPEST

LONDON, Oct. 31 (AP).—The Red army, advancing toward doomed Budapest on a 60 mile wide front between the Tisza and Danube rivers, reached points 43 miles southeast of the Hungarian capital today and fought the Germans in the streets of the large railway junction city of Kecskemet.

The thrust into Kecskemet, Hungary's third largest provincial city, 44 miles southeast of Budapest, and 20 miles west of the Tisza, was announced in the soviet daily war bulletin broadcast from Moscow.

Earlier, the German radio had said a Russian mechanized column penetrated to the heart of the city of 80,000, but claimed a counter-attack pushed the invaders back to the southeast fringes.

Seize 200 Communities.

An even closer approach was made to Budapest with capture of Izsak, 17 miles southwest of Kecskemet and 43 miles below the capital, the Russian bulletin disclosed, while more than 200 communities were taken in the area extending westward to the east banks of the Danube.

The Danube, a formidable barrier, need not be crossed for an assault on Budapest, since the old city's larger area, Pest, lies on the east bank. The Germans said it would be defended as hotly as Warsaw.

Push Drive in Northeast.

Simultaneously with the push toward Budapest, the Russians prosecuted another drive in the northeast corner of Hungary, 120 miles northeast of the capital. There they announced capture of more and 50 communities.

Moscow had nothing to say of any of the other fighting fronts.

The Berlin radio, however, said the Russians continued their pressure in Poland on both sides of Pulutsk, 28 miles due north of Warsaw, and said two undefined soviet penetrations were made along the Narew river.

Threat to East Prussia.

In addition to outflanking the Warsaw entrenchments, any soviet success in that sector would be a definite threat to East Prussia from the south and would help lighten the task of Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's men who are making a frontal invasion of East Prussia from the east.

There was no word from either side on the progress of Cherniakhovsky's campaign, which has run into bitter Nazi opposition.

In southwestern Latvia, strong soviet forces were reported continuing to head for the Baltic ports of Liepaja and Ventspils, further compressing the Germans pocketed there.

REPORT ROMANIA CABINET RESIGNS AFTER PROTEST

LONDON, Nov. 1 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Rome radio reported today that the Romanian cabinet had resigned.

The broadcast, heard by the Associated Press, gave no details but said King Michael had accepted the resignations.

Earlier, the Moscow radio made a detailed report of demonstrations in Bucharest. The broadcast said the demonstrators demanded replacement of the government of Gen. Konstantin Sanatescu by a "national democratic front" regime.

Quoting a Tass dispatch, the broadcast said that not less than 70,000 persons massed before the royal palace on Monday.

CHICAGOANS ON TANKERS HELP TO FUEL WARSHIPS

They Also Carry Mail and Provisions.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, Oct. 19 [Delayed].—The tanker, little publicized work ship but backbone of the war of vast distances in the Pacific, is delivering anything from fuel oil, gasoline, provisions to mail for war correspondents.

The workaday fleet pounds up and down the ocean highways to make contacts. Rendezvous are usually made in mid-ocean. The tanker resembles a gasoline filling station, the ships lining up to be serviced. They adjust their speed to that of the tanker, hose lines snake out, and oil is taken aboard. The tanker crew toils on decks awash as oil and gasoline pass thru the hose lines, while mail and provisions travel via cable and pulley.

Chicagoans Aboard.

Their needs filled, the fighting ships flash, "Good service." "Thanks," is the reply, usually followed by the message, "Get out of the way." Among Chicagoland sailors engaged in this work aboard one tanker are:

Emanuel Venetucci, 6135 S. Talman av., Chicago; John D. McIntosh, 4210 Langley av., Chicago; J. W. Mann, 5645 S. Morgan st., Chicago; Donald Shilway, 930 W. 36th st., Chicago; S. John Kruger, Rockford, Ill.; Daniel Vincent, 605 6th st., Rock Island; Richard J. Galvin, 404 W. 79th st., Chicago; Roland Mourning, 2254 W. Madison st., Chicago; Ervin Zebenski, 5239 S. Winchester av., Chicago; Johnny Zygadlo, 4344 S. Wood st., Chicago, and R. F. Lamb, Decatur, Ill.

Hopes to See His Sons.

Vincent keeps watching the other ships in the ocean, hoping to see his two sons, Bernard and Dale, also in the navy. Lt. H. L. Bowman, 382 Briarwood pl., Highland Park, Ill., wants to get the war ended so he can get back to the middle west and stay.

When the tankers deliver their supplies, correspondents use the bail bag pulley system to transfer to other ships. This is not as long as the subway but more comfortable.

Four Chicagoans Cited for Valor at Anzio Beach

WITH 5TH ARMY IN ITALY.—Company B of the 894th tank destroyer battalion now fighting in the Gothic line north of Lucca has been presented with distinguished unit citation streamers for its success in countering German attacks last February at the Anzio beachhead. The distinguished unit badge was awarded to the following Chicagoans: Lt. John W. Madden, 1411 W. 82d st.; Pvt. John P. Capadona, 3436 N. Halsted st.; Pvt. Alex P. Skiba, 1701 S. Ashland av., and Pvt. Walter S. Wazowicz, 3139 40th pl.

CANADA'S WAR MINISTER URGES OVERSEA DRAFT

Cabinet in Debate on Replacements.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 31 [Special].—Argument within the Canadian cabinet over what to do to obtain reënforcements to replace casualties in the Canadian army has now been going on for a full week without a decision, it was learned today.

Defense Minister J. L. Ralston and some of his colleagues urge that the time has come to ask parliament approval of a measure giving the government power to send drafted men overseas, it was disclosed. That view, it was understood, is shared by the military high command.

No Recruiting by Air Force.

The issue is complicated by the fact that neither the air force nor the navy, for which there has always been an excess of volunteers is now recruiting more men. It was pointed out also that altho army recruiting has lagged it could be increased to assure the flow of trained men required.

Of the 70,000 men in the home defense army who have not volunteered for overseas service a considerable proportion, it was said, would not pass the severe medical tests required for overseas duty, and the number of men obtainable by compulsion would not balance the internal disturbance which a departure from the volunteer principle might cause.

Met Last Night.

Discussion of the situation in all its aspects was begun by the cabinet a week ago today and four full meetings held. Yesterday the cabinet met until after 9 p. m.

Reports were current today that some members threatened to resign unless all out compulsion is applied. These reports were denied, however, in official quarters which reported the cabinet survey of the situation was still unfinished.

92 AUSTRALIANS SAVED IN SINKING OF JAP VESSEL

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 31 (AP).—Ninety-two Australian prisoners of war were among those saved when a Japanese transport was torpedoed while conveying them from Singapore to Japan on Sept. 12, Prime Minister Curtin announced today.

Of these, 86 have arrived in Australia and the remainder are expected shortly. The number of Australian personnel believed to have been aboard the ship was unknown, but the survivors are attempting the task of compiling from memory a list of other prisoners on the transport, Curtin said.

[There was no indication in the announcement whether the Australian prisoners were aboard the same ship from which 83 Americans escaped and were rescued by Gen. MacArthur's forces.]

Report Finns Cut Nazi Escape Road Into Norway

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 31 (AP).—Finnish troops have captured the road junction of Muonio, cutting the German escape route to Skibotn on the base highway which runs along the Swedish border almost 125 miles into Norway, a Helsinki war bulletin said today.

NAZIS' WAR MAY END IN SUMMER, CHURCHILL SAYS

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The house of commons today moved a step nearer to extending its existence another year without a general election after Prime Minister Churchill urged members not to dissolve his coalition government before the end of the war in Europe, which, he said, might not come before late spring or the beginning of the summer.

Churchill said it would be at least seven to nine months before elections could be held.

The prime minister's statement was well received by the M. P.'s who raised little objection to keeping themselves in office for the 10th year in succession.

Break Nazis First, His Plea.

Saying that the coalition "ought not to be broken before Nazism is broken," Churchill asserted:

"I have no hesitation in declaring that it would be a wrongful act, unworthy of our country's fame, to break up the present government instrument before we know where we are with Hitler's Germany."

Both Labor and Liberal party spokesmen in subsequent debate indorsed altho some individual M. P.'s objected to Churchill's concluding appeal for suppression of controversy in parliament until the war is won.

Churchill discounted prospects of a political crackup in Germany. "On military grounds it seems difficult to believe the war can be ended before Christmas or even Easter," he asserted.

Sees Japan's Defeat in '47.

Churchill was equally skeptical about political upheavals resulting in a sudden end to the Japanese war which, he estimated, would last about 18 months after Germany's defeat.

The bill extending parliament's life will be submitted to the house for a third and final reading before being turned over to the house of lords for approval.

Some M. P.'s believed Churchill might attempt to form a new coalition after the election to carry thru a reconstruction program and that the prime minister has no intention of early retirement. The general opinion seemed to be that he intends to continue in active politics at least until the war against Japan ends.

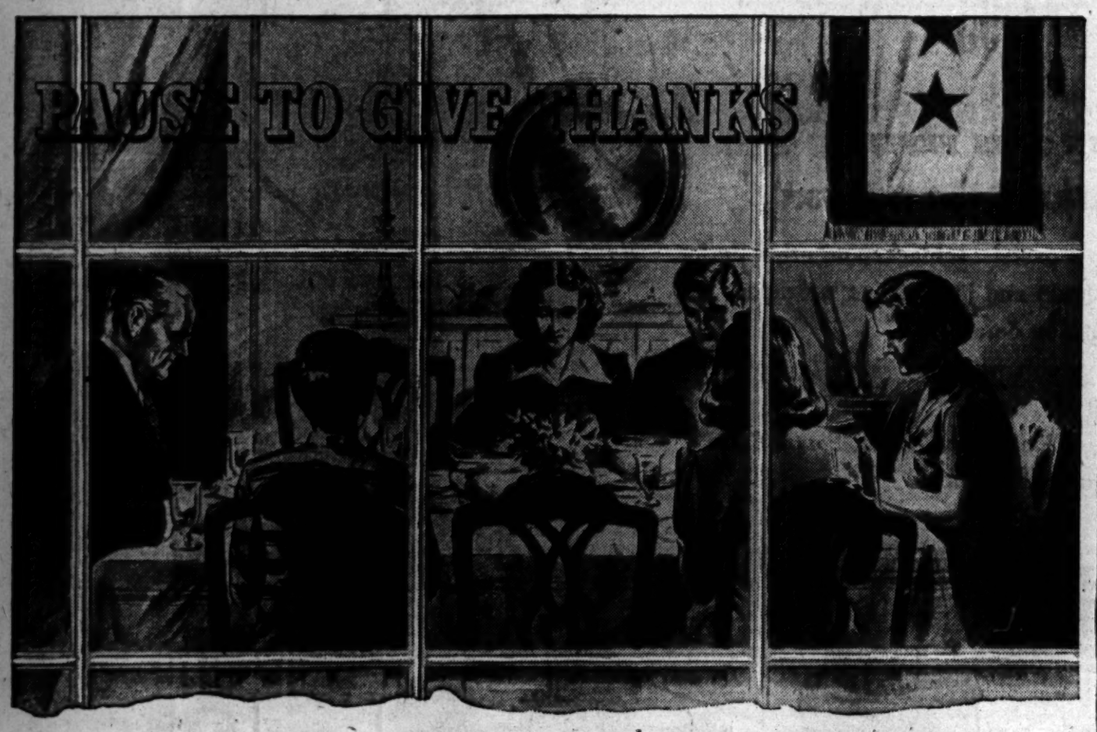
With the entire globe now the arena of action of interest to Americans, you can depend on the Chicago Tribune's news gathering facilities to bring you accurate reports of every significant happening.



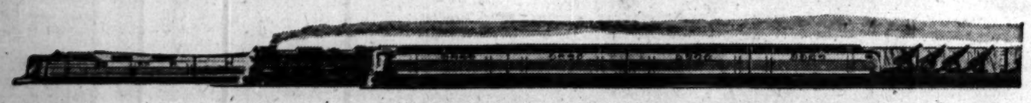
—then Look to the Brighter Days

For what America has done in this war, everyone should be deeply thankful. The days are bright with the wartime deeds of all America; its fighting forces and its working forces, men and women. Still brighter days are ahead, but we must not rest.

Let's pause only for a moment, this Thanksgiving. There is much to be done. Everyone must dig deeper and deeper for War Bonds. Our fighting men are carrying on, so our war workers must keep production humming. And the railroads must continue their vital transportation job as the war moves into its final chapter in the Pacific.

ROCK ISLAND LINES, a western railroad, is of ever increasing importance as America turns its eyes and its supreme effort toward the setting sun. Our 24,000 employees know this. They will see America through to the dropping of the last bomb, to that day of complete and total thanksgiving.

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.



Let's Finish the Job... BUY BONDS

WALSH BLISTERS TRUMAN FOR TAG OF ISOLATIONIST

Rift May Affect F. D. R. Massachusetts Vote.

Clinton, Mass., Oct. 31 [Special].—In a party disagreement that may affect the fourth term vote in Massachusetts, Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.] today blistered the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, Sen. Truman, for calling him an "isolationist" and issued a pungent defense of his own stand before Pearl Harbor.

Calling Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin, the "two most outstanding isolationists in the world today," Sen. Walsh said he resented being called an isolationist if the term meant being put into their classification.

"I know, of course, that the word 'isolationist' has been loosely and most unjustly applied to those who before Pearl Harbor did not join the interventionists and the war mongers in urging us into the war from the time of its very beginning in Europe," Sen. Walsh said in an interview at his home here.

May Affect Election.

The dispute, observers said, may well become a major factor in the Presidential fight in Massachusetts. It may prevent Walsh from making a tentatively scheduled radio speech for the Democratic national ticket this week, they said, and may even keep him away from President Roosevelt's appearance in Boston on Saturday night.

"I don't know now just what my plans will be," Walsh said.

The senior Bay state senator had announced his support of the Democratic national and state tickets only two days ago in introducing Truman to a party rally at Lawrence, Mass.

But his ire against the Democrats' No. 2 man was aroused as a result of Truman's remarks in an interview yesterday. A newsman had asked Truman "the difference between the isolationist record of Sen. Walsh and that of the eight Republican senators" whose repudiation Truman previously had demanded of Gov. Dewey, G. O. P. Presidential nominee.

Walsh Plans Reforms.

"No difference," Truman replied, "except that Walsh has two years to serve and we have a chance to reform him."

"If there is any reforming to be done," Walsh warned today, "I am going to work to do this myself, but within the ranks of my own party, which I shall not quit."

In defining his own idea of what "isolationist" means, Walsh referred to Churchill and Stalin, "who are always doing everything possible to protect, and in some cases, to expand, their imperialistic powers," as the world's outstanding examples of isolationists.

Resents the Label.

"My own political philosophy compels me to resent being called an isolationist if the terms means being put into a type with them," he said.

"Just what does Sen. Truman mean by the word 'isolationist'? Does he apply the term to the 80 per cent of the American people who were against war before Pearl Harbor? I was among that 80 per cent, and have no apologies to make to anybody for my stand.

"Does he mean a pacifist is an isolationist? I have certainly been no pacifist and my record proves that I—long before Pearl Harbor—always spoke for and worked for measures to give our nation the largest navy in the world and a mechanized army.

Wants U. S. Leadership.

"Or does he apply the word to those who are against scrapping our sovereignty and our constitutional rights in order to join an international union for peace and to use our army to enforce such a political arrangement?".

Sen. Walsh said he believes the United States should take world leadership in working to maintain peace after this war, but never at the expense of the constitutional guarantees which now exist. He said there are "two dangerous groups in the country today and they are in both the Republican and Democratic parties."

"One," he said, "is made up of those extremists who would have us scrap to Constitution by repealing the right of congress to declare war and also the provision that treaties must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the senate.

"The other group consists of those extremists who would have our country stand aloof, blindfolded, and apart from all international coöperation.

"I stand with those who believe in the fullest possible international coöperation for peace consistent with our Constitution."

PARENTS, LABOR, AND ATTORNEYS BACK DEMPSEY

Sport Stars Also Want G.O.P. Prosecutor.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Indorsements for John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, were coming into his headquarters so fast his press agents didn't know what to do with them, Edward B. Casey, Dempsey's campaign manager, announced last night. And on top of that, Casey wailed, more tickets have been sold for a "lawyers' luncheon" today than there is room, and some of the lawyers may not get seats—and you know how lawyers are.

The Dempsey indorsements of yesterday were from parents of school children, sports stars, labor leaders, and lawyers.

Parents to Hold Rally.

Mrs. Frank White, chairman of the Parents' Committee on Public Schools, advertised a rally of parents Saturday night in the La Salle hotel at which Dempsey and Dr. John A. Lapp, educator, will be the principal speakers. She said:

"Mayor Kelly's machine has a complete monopoly on local government in this community. We parents are getting nowhere with Kelly's board of education and we can get nowhere with Kelly's hand picked judges. The only hope for the public schools—the only hope for those interested in public education—is the election of an independent state's attorney."

The sport stars, who are to meet with Dempsey today to do their bit for him, were listed as follows: Harold [Red] Grange, football; Pete Miller, C. Y. O.; Johnny Gottselig, hockey; Earl Solem, president, Illinois Skating association; Dr. Edmund Kokat, president, Central Cycle association; Louis Rosiendo, boxing; Dick Wakefield, Detroit Tigers, and Ossie Bluege, manager, Washington Senators. Dempsey was a basketball coach and pal of George Gipp of Notre Dame.

Labor Leaders Aid Him.

The labor leaders who have arranged a meeting to help Dempsey win were listed as follows: Michael J. Kennedy, business agent, Electrical Workers' union, No. 134; Joe Allen, business agent, Slate and Tile Roofers' local No. 17; Thomas Priestly, president Lathers' union, No. 74; Conrad Seipp, business agent, Pipe Fitters' union, No. 597; William Neidhart, business agent, Plasterers' union No. 5, and Robert E. Shepherd, financial secretary, Tile Layers' local No. 67.

Eight hundred lawyers will honor Dempsey at the luncheon today noon in the grand ballroom of the La Salle hotel. Casey said all tickets were sold in 24 hours.

John P. Hampton, lawyer and former prosecutor, in a radio speech, gave many reasons why he and other lawyers are supporting Dempsey. He says Dempsey has no political debts to pay, is able, qualified, and honest, is the overwhelming choice of the lawyers of the county, and is recommended by the Chicago Bar association.

Night Club Owner Held to Jury as Tax Evader

Jerome Glick, 31, of 3717 Arthington st., owner of the "214 Club" at 214 E. 47th st., was held to the grand jury in $2,000 bond yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on charges of failure to pay floor stock tax on spirits in his possession.

ROB COSTUMERS OF HALLOWEEN SEASON PROFITS

A thief who knew that dealers in costumes would be likely to have money around on Halloween yesterday took about $215 in cash and $174 in checks from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Shearer, proprietors of the May Bell Shearer costume shop at 62 E. Lake st. The elderly couple, who have an apartment at the same address, were awakened in the early morning hours by a flashlight shining in their faces. They saw a man in a sailor's uniform who demanded their money. Shearer offered him $25.

"This is Halloween and business is good," the intruder said. "There must be more money around."

Mrs. Shearer told the thief to wait while she went downstairs for additional money. She found a telephone in a nearby restaurant and summond central police. In the meantime, the intruder had become alarmed at her prolonged absence and had fled after taking the remainder of the money in the apartment. Police discovered that he had entered by way of a fire escape.

IMMEDIATE QUIZ ON TRANSFER OF M'GINNIS SOUGHT

Phelan Blasts Kelly-Lucas Action as Discreditable.

Two past commanders of the American Legion of Illinois, Francis E. Phelan and David L. Shillinglaw, yesterday added their protests to widespread criticism of the parts played by Mayor Kelly and Sen. Lucas in the removal of Lt. Comdr. Edward F. McGinnis as naval voting officer in the Pacific theater of war after Adm. Nimitz had asked his appointment.

Comdr. McGinnis' transfer was reported to have been ordered after Kelly on a visit to Washington was quoted as having said McGinnis ought to be removed "because he won't get any votes for Roosevelt."

Phelan said, "We insist upon an immediate investigation of this dastardly affair," and continued:

"When a man becomes a member of the armed forces, he is duty bound to obey all commands of his superior officers. He must expect transfers in the line of duty and he will unhesitatingly accept the assignment. Such an order is final and he is not permitted to ask a senator to intercede for him in seeking or 'ducking' an assignment.

Intervention "Discreditable."

"However, it seems that a politician may use a senator to effect a transfer of a naval officer. The Kelly-Lucas intervention in naval affairs is discreditable and should cause every person interested in the welfare of service men much concern. If the Kelly-Lucas combination has the power to transfer Lt. Comdr. McGinnis because he would not get votes for Roosevelt, then Gen. MacArthur and Adm. Halsey would do well to climb on the New Deal bandwagon.

"The legionnaires of Illinois know McGinnis for his interest in ex-service men and good government, his patriotism, and his earnest desire to serve his community, state, and nation. He wanted an assignment in the war zone and to get it was willing to give up the comforts and prestige of his position as first lieutenant at Great Lakes Naval Training station."

"Unpatriotic": Shillinglaw.

Shillinglaw said Comdr. McGinnis' transfer was doubly significant when weighed in connection with the administration's insistence on having its idea of a federal ballot accepted in every state.

"Comdr. McGinnis was transferred not because of inefficiency or inability to carry on his job, but because he was a Republican," Shillinglaw said. "Naturally we assume that any activity within the army and navy is nonpartisan. When any public official asks the transfer of a naval officer for his own personal reasons he is doing an unpatriotic act.

"I have known Edward McGinnis for 20 years. He was engaged in the same type of business as I am. He has an excellent reputation, is a good business man, and always has been highly civic minded.

"Gov. Dewey was right the other night when he said that the New Deal regards politics as a matter of 'Who gets what, when and how.' But political manipulation of men who have given up their business and gone into the service is not part of the war aim, nor is it the purpose of those who are fighting and being killed overseas."

DEWEY BACKED BY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

Boston, Mass., Oct. 31 (AP).—The Christian Science Monitor, in an editorial stating it had "weighed the issues developed in the Presidential campaign," said today it had concluded that "the election of Gov. Dewey would better serve the welfare of the United States."

"We have regarded the long cherished unwritten rule of two terms much more seriously than do those who see it merely as a tradition or cynically use it as a smokescreen for partisanship," the editorial added.

"We do not believe that Franklin Roosevelt is going to make himself a dictator. We do believe that anything which brings the people to suppose that the purpose, power and wisdom of the American people can be properly expressed only by one personality weakens the roots of self-reliant self-government."

Managing Editor Erwin Canham said The Monitor had endorsed Wendell Willkie in 1940 but "not as explicitly" as it now backed Gov. Dewey.

SOUTH CAROLINA YANKS FREE TO VOTE—FOR F. D. R.

Fighting men from South Carolina overseas can vote for any one they want, provided it's Roosevelt, a letter from a soldier in the southwest Pacific disclosed yesterday.

"The South Carolina state ballot had only Roosevelt's name on it," the letter said. "If you wanted to vote Republican, you had to write for a special ballot."

Because the letter was written Oct. 8, the day after the writer's battalion voted, there would hardly have been time for a soldier desiring to vote Republican to apply for and receive a special ballot. The letter also states only five members of the battalion voted, and adds: "If that is any indication, then Roosevelt has lost thousands of votes. Anytime Roosevelt says the Republicans are trying to keep the service men from voting for him, ask about these 'only Roosevelt' southern ballots."

Soldiers Take Hats Off to La Dietrich's Kisses

PARIS, Oct. 31 (AP).—Marlene Dietrich has been kissing soldiers until it hurts—her forehead. The actress, now giving U. S. O. performances before the 35th infantry division, got so bruised by the helmets of the eager G. I.'s that she finally had it issue a general "hats off" request.

CONFIRM LUCAS' SHIFT OF NAVY VOTING OFFICER

testimony given in open hearing," Ferguson said. "The public is entitled to know what a political boss can do in our navy.

"Kelly was interested in seeing that there were no men in the service men's voting program who would not get Democratic votes. Even tho the committee turned down my request, I feel it my duty as a senator to give the facts as I found them."

The facts given by the senator supported the exclusive disclosure of the McGinnis case in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last Thursday. Ferguson would not disclose the names of the officers to whom he talked or reveal where he first heard the story. He did disclose that he had asked the committee to investigate the case as early as Oct. 19 and was voted down.

Tells of Garden Party.

Ferguson reported that on June 19 Mayor Kelly at a garden party given by Assistant Atty Gen. James P. McGrannery met and talked with Lt. Comdr. Paul A. Dever of the war ballot office. He told the officer he would have McGinnis transferred because he wouldn't get votes for Roosevelt, even if he had to go to the White House.

On June 22, Ferguson continued, Capt. Edward A. Hayes and Capt. William D. Puleston of the war ballot office were called into Bard's office and informed that Lucas had called to say that Kelly had threatened to go to the White House to remove McGinnis. Lucas, according to Bard, told Kelly such action wouldn't be necessary because he would take the matter up direct with the secretary of the navy, Ferguson said.

Hayes advised Bard he had personally selected McGinnis after thoro investigation and was satisfied that McGinnis was not a politician.

In the presence of the two captains, Ferguson continued, Bard telephoned Lucas. After several minutes of conversation Bard reported that Lucas had branded McGinnis a professional politician and that Lucas had said the officer therefore should be removed.

Bard then said McGinnis would have to go "because we have to get along with people like Lucas," Ferguson reported.

[Sen. Lucas championed the administration's soldier vote law. In that fight he charged Republicans were playing politics with the soldier vote.]

Later the same day, June 23, Hayes and Puleston broke the news to McGinnis, telling him "it was not fair or just that McGinnis would have to go," Ferguson said. McGinnis was also told that Kelly and Lucas would have to be appeased.

McGinnis was advised not to talk to the junior senator from Illinois [Brooks] and tell him what happened because a navy officer has no right to make such a move, Ferguson said. McGinnis was advised that his fitness report would show he performed his duties well and that there was no reflection on his character or ability.

Ferguson reported he discovered McGinnis was taken to Bard. The assistant secretary assured McGinnis no criticism of his integrity or ability was intended; that it was a case of his [Bard's] having to do something he did not want to do, the senator said.

Undersecretary of the Navy Bard admitted tonight that Sen. Lucas challenged the fitness of Lt. Comdr. McGinnis to supervise navy balloting and as a result of Sen. Lucas' protest he ha dtransferred the officer to other work.

Bard Explains.

Bard said, however, that he had written the committee chairman, Sen. Green [D., R. I.], a letter fully explaining the incident described by Ferguson. He said that since he had received no reply or comment he judged the explanation was satisfactory to the committee as a whole.

"The navy department," he said, "has distributed ballots all over the world and his endeavored to do so on a strictly nonpartisan, nonpolitical basis. Lt. Comdr. McGinnis, who was to have had charge of the distribution in the Pacific area, was challenged by Sen. Lucas as having been an active partisan political worker in Chicago," Bard said.

"I found this to be the case and to save both McGinnis and the navy from any possible criticism he was transferred to other work in the navy which he requested.

"Nothing was ever said to me by Sen. Lucas about votes for Roosevelt. At no time did I talk to Mayor Kelly on this subject."

LYONS ASSERTS CHINA DEBACLE SHOWS UP F. D. R.

Calls Him 'Feeble' Leader of Diplomacy.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31 [Special].—New Deal propaganda no longer can sustain the myth of Roosevelt as an all-wise leader in foreign fields, because the Chinese debacle reveals failures equal to those charged to him on the domestic scene, Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for senator, asserted tonight.

Lyons won applause from an overflow audience in the Abraham Lincoln hotel ballroom as he probed the causes of China's faltering war against Japan. Gov. Green and Rep. Fellows [R., Me.] also cited reasons why it is "time for a change" with election of Dewey and Bricker and a Republican congress.

Basing his statements on the latest reports about China to filter thru censorship, Lyons said the dispatches expose another Roosevelt sham.

Hailed as Great Diplomat.

Supporters of the fourth term drive have tried to put over "the belief that F. D. R. is a master diplomat, and "indispensable" in handling America's foreign affairs, he said.

"They have painted him as the master strategist dominating world politics," Lyons said. "They have argued that only he can successfully negotiate with Stalin, Churchill, and Chiang Kai-shek.

"But in the last few days the mask has been torn off of this portrait of Roosevelt."

The American public has been kept completely in the dark on Roosevelt foreign policy, with his deals made in secret and even the results of them generally shrouded in censorship, Lyons said.

Part of Truth Bared.

Part of the truth has finally pierced the veil in reports of the virtual breakdown of China, and reversal of the picture of Gen. Chiang as a great democratic leader, he said.

"When the American people are finally given a little of the truth they find Chiang revealed as a cruel despot with prison camps for those who oppose him. They find him selfish, ruthless, unwilling to have his armies fight against the Japanese, unwilling to accept the leadership of Gen. Joe Stilwell, unwilling to cooperate with our government which has sacrificed life and treasure to aid China."

"Chiang and the Chinese Communist armies cannot get along," Lyons said.

How About Stalin?

"Mr. Roosevelt's partisans have tried to convince the American people that only he, Roosevelt, can get along with Stalin. If Mr. Roosevelt can get along with Stalin so well, why can't he bring Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek together?

"If Mr. Roosevelt is so powerful in the foreign sphere, why is he not able even to hold an international air conference in Chicago and get his friend Stalin to permit representatives of Russia to attend?

"Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy is as feeble and as vacillating as his domestic policy is ruinous."

Gov. Green reported the Republican tide is gaining strength daily.

"The American people will be satisfied with no half-victory," he said. When they vote for Dewey, they shall also mark their ballots for their Republican candidates for United States senator and congressmen."

TRUMAN TERMS F. D. R. 'SYMBOL OF DEMOCRACY'

Calls Him Leader of World Freedom.

New York, Oct. 31 (AP).—Sen. Truman, hailing President Roosevelt as a "symbol of democracy," said tonight that "Gov. Dewey and his campaign managers have encouraged . . . a vicious and un-American campaign directed against Americans of foreign birth."

"They have refused to repudiate those who seek to fan the flame of racial and religious bigotry," the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee added in an address at a rally sponsored in Madison Square Garden by the Liberal party.

Speaks With Wallace.

For the first time in the campaign, Truman shared a speaking platform with Vice President Wallace.

The Liberal party was established last year by a group which broke away from the American Labor party. Both the ALP and Liberal parties are supporting the Democratic national ticket.

Truman called for the reelection of President Roosevelt as the champion of "universal freedom and universal tolerance." He said Mr. Roosevelt "remains the symbol of democracy."

"That is why," said Truman, "the forces of racial and religious intolerance, the exponents of bigotry and prejudice, bear toward our President a venomous and undying hatred."

Wallace Mentions Truman.

Wallace, who made no mention of Truman in his first formal address of the campaign in Madison Square Garden several weeks ago, referred to Truman by name tonight.

"Some people tell us," he said, "that here and there you can find some one skulking in his tent because he doesn't like something a reactionary Democrat has done. Well, Roosevelt isn't a reactionary Democrat. Neither is Truman a reactionary Democrat."

F. D. R. BETS QUARTER ON ELECTION BUT IT'S NO ONE'S BUSINESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C Oct. 31.—President Roosevelt today disclosed that he had bet 25 cents even money on the outcome of a certain state in the coming election.

Asked with whom he had made the bet, he laughingly snapped none of your damned business. Asked for details of the bet by the same reporter, he replied that also was none of your damned business.

Recalling of the New York law against election bets, a reporter asked if Mr. Roosevelt had disqualified himself from voting. No, was the answer, the bet was made outside New York state.

DEWEY-BRICKER PINS GONE, BUT TABS AVAILABLE

Supporters of the Dewey-Bricker ticket were issued paper shields again yesterday when the supply of campaign buttons was exhausted in THE TRIBUNE's public service offices at 1 S. Dearborn st. and in Tribune Tower. At 11 a. m., when the change was made, Manager John F. Gillespie estimated that THE TRIBUNE had handed out nearly 100,000 pins over the counter to meet requests.

The paper tabs bear small pictures of Gov. Dewey and Gov. Bricker, with these slogans: "Peace and Jobs Quicker with Dewey and Bricker," "Time for a Change—Vote Straight Republican," and "Save America at Home with Dewey and Bricker."

Efforts are being made to get more pins to meet the peak demand of the closing days of the campaign.

Where Would You Go?
YOU remember the old saw about the man who found the horse that was lost by asking himself where he would go if he were a horse . . .
When you want to reach a business executive with an important message, you'll make no mistake using the same technique; where would you go for business news if you were a business executive?
There's just one place—as shown conclusively again and again in reading habit studies: Business Week! It was emphasized again in a recent survey by Ross-Federal, in which management-men said that Business Week far outranks any other magazine in usefulness to them.
Like any survey, this one simply confirms what your own common sense would tell you. For Business Week is edited to be of service to men who shoulder management responsibilities. The news it reports is interpreted in terms of its effect on business, unlike straight news magazines, where the news is reported for a general audience.
In the trying period of reconversion and in the complex postwar world, Business Week will play an even more important part in the daily conduct of business. For intermingled with the constantly changing problems of finance, production, product development, marketing and labor relations will be the impacts of economic and social forces which go with industrial progress and world trade—impacts outside a man's own business or of the industry of which his company is a part, events occurring in far corners of the world, which still will have an important bearing on his business decisions. To keep abreast of such developments, more and more men have formed the habit of turning to Business Week.
What does this mean to you as an advertiser? It means that if you want to talk to management-men about something intimately connected with their business, you had best use the magazine they read for business news—Business Week. More than ever before, the pages of Business Week are the place to put your message and keep it in these times.

COVERS THE BUSINESS FRONT

F. D. R. PROMISES ARE WORTHLESS, DEWEY ASSERTS

12 Year Record Termed Real Gauge of Intent.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 31 (AP).—The text of Gov. Dewey's speech follows:

"Tonight I want to ask you to look ahead into our future as a nation. Join me in looking at what our country will face the day after the victory over our enemies.

"But first, let me give you right now two solemn assurances prompted by the speeches of my opponent last Friday and Saturday.

"Your next President will never use his office to claim personal or political profit from the achievements of the American people or from the sacrifices of their sons and daughters.

Vows to Keep Promises.

"Your next President will never make you a promise that he does not intend with all his heart and soul to keep.

"And let me add that except for the pledges I have made publicly to the American people, your next President will take office next Jan. 20 without a promise, express or implied, to a living soul.

"There is no One Thousand club in my party. I have not offered the government of the United States for sale at $1,000 to any man, and I never will to any one at any price. Your next administration will take office honestly, without secret promises of special privilege to any class, group, or section. We shall represent all the American people equally—we shall restore honesty and good faith to the government of the United States on Jan. 20, 1945.

Looks to Peace Time Years.

"Now put your minds ahead with me, if you will, into these peace time years which by the courage of our fighting men and with the help of Almighty God are being brought closer every day.

"Eleven million men and women will be coming home from this war eager for more education, for jobs, for a chance to start a business, and to get ahead. Twenty million war workers will want peace time jobs and opportunity.

"Last Saturday night my opponent once again promised jobs for every American when peace times come. But his own peace time record is that at the end of eight years the New Deal had spent 58 billion dollars; it enjoyed more power than all previous governments; and in March of 1940 there were still 10 million Americans unemployed. On the record, his promise of jobs is worthless. It will still be worthless, even tho it is repeated again and again and again.

Another "Worthless" Promise.

"Having discovered from my Philadelphia speech, delivered two months ago, the need for a million new homes a year, my opponent now promises that. The fact is that for years we should have been building a million homes a year just to get back up to the standards of 1930. But under Mr. Roosevelt we got an average of only 380,000 homes a year.

"On the record then, that promise, too, is no good, even tho it is repeated again and again and again.

"My opponent now promises to free the American working man from the strangling burocracy he himself has created. When a man promises, in trying to win an election, that he will reverse the course of everything he has done for 12 years—then that promise, too, on the record, is no good, even tho it is repeated again and again and again.

Farm Pledge Doubted.

"My opponent promises the farmers good prices after the war. But the farmer knows that in all the peace time years of the New Deal he never got decent prices. Under Mr. Roosevelt it took a war to get prices, just as it took a war to get jobs. On the record that promise, too, is worthless, even tho it is repeated again and again and again.

"My opponent promises to be mindful of the problems of small business. The small business men of America will know how much faith they can put in that, and I should like to talk briefly about the future of small business.

Business Burden Told.

"This is the field in which a large part of our white collar workers earn their living. This is the field of the forgotten men and women under the New Deal.

"Now, American business men know that the New Deal way of being mindful of their problems has been slowly to drown them with a rising flood of rules and regulations, questionnaires, reports, and directives.

"It's been bad enough for large business, but the big corporation at least has its lawyers, its accountants, clerks, and statisticians. When it comes to small business men, this New Deal burden of government paper work has too often meant the difference between success or failure.

"Take the case of Capt. J. F. Shields of Seattle, who is in the salt codfish business. For 33 years his boats have gone out—until last year, when the war labor board failed even to pass on his wage contracts. So last year he couldn't go fishing at all.

24 Agencies to "Clearance."

"He reports that this year he finally got clearance, after going thru 24 different government agencies in order to carry on his small business. In addition to the navy department, interior department, commerce department, treasury department, immigration service, and the maritime commission, a partial list of the agencies he had to deal with includes WLB, WMC, OPA, WSA, FCC, USES, WPB, ODT, SS, WFA, and others.

"Here is another sample of what our small business men have had to contend with. The world trembles in the greatest war of the ages and burocracy puts out the following ruling:

"'Mashed potatoes offered a la carte for weekday lunches would be in the same class of food items as potatoes au gratin offered a la carte for weekday lunches, but would be in a different class than mashed potatoes offered a la carte for weekday dinners or Saturday suppers.'

"The New Deal Way."

"Well, that's the New Deal way of being mindful of the problems of small business. It's the same from restaurants to beauty parlors, from electrical shops to the insurance business. And that's why it's time for a change—before it's too late.

"Yes, the New Deal pretends at election time to be the friend of small business. But how has small business actually fared under the New Deal?

"The record shows that in 1942 and 1943, the most prosperous years we have had under the New Deal—because of war—there was a net decline of 500,000 in the number of American small business concerns, a net figure of half a million small businesses closed their doors.

Another Promise Examined.

"And yet my opponent has the temerity to go on the radio and say: 'This administration has been mindful from its earliest days, and will continue to be mindful, of the problems of small business . . .'

"In the light of the record, that promise, too, is worthless and it will remain so, even tho it is repeated again and again and again. My opponent has read our platform and is now saying, 'Me too.' Even the New Deal knows it's time for a change.

"No, we cannot live on promises. We must have performance this time—before it's too late. As we keep our minds on these peace time years ahead, let us remember one thing: My opponent has offered no program for the peace time years ahead except the same one which failed for eight straight years of peace from 1933 to 1940.

Figures "Correctly Quoted."

"And let me add that the figures showing that failure have been correctly quoted by me from the beginning to the end of this campaign. My opponent has insinuated that they were not correct, but he has never dared point to one he disagreed with.

"Instead, he says, with a sneer, that when he was governor of New York he quoted figures correctly. I do not recollect his quoting figures at all when he was governor of New York, and very rarely since then—for one very good reason. In every administration Mr. Roosevelt has headed he ended up in the red. No country can long survive under any leader who only piles up a higher debt each year, not just in war, but in peace.

"Let us, as a nation, re-learn one simple thing. Our peace time economic system is like a high powered motor. Every part of it must work or the engine will run badly. If one spark plug goes bad the engine loses power. If the distributor is out of order or the fuel line gets stopped up or the carburetor goes bad the whole tremendous power of the machine fails.

"Tinker" Policy Assailed.

"That's what the New Deal doesn't know and never could learn. It had to tinker first with one thing and then with another. It has changed the tax laws 15 times in 12 years, so no man could plan ahead. It fought first one part of our job making machinery, then another. It was never willing in all its years to let all the parts of this machine function smoothly.

"It is a shocking thing that my opponent, after 12 years as President, felt compelled to announce, as news, last Saturday night, that he believes in the enterprise system, yet, in all his campaign speeches, my opponent has not indicated how he will achieve in post-war years what he so tragically failed to achieve in pre-war years.

"Let me summarize, in brief, some essential parts of the program of action I have proposed these last two months for the peace time years ahead. Virtually every element of our program is something the New Deal has fought against or neglected, and cannot now, for election purposes, claim to favor.

Here's Dewey's Program.

"Here is the program for these peace time years ahead:

"Proposal No. 1—Direct all government policies toward the goal of full employment thru full production at a high level of wages for the worker with an incentive for the business man to succeed. Your next administration will work out the problems affecting labor, agriculture, and business in full consultation with all three and without discrimination against any class or section of our country or any race, creed, or color.

"Proposal No. 2—Adopt an entirely new tax structure which will do these things:

"1. Change the personal exemption so that a man who makes as little as $11 a week no longer has an income tax taken out of his standard of living.

"2. Reduce personal income tax rates so that the tax law, after credit for dependents, will no longer take at least 23 cents out of every taxable dollar in the pay envelope.

"3. Change and lower the income tax on business so that it can be encouraged to expand and help create the millions of jobs we need.

"4. Overhaul the whole tax structure so that it is simple, so that every one can understand it and then stick to it over a period of years so everybody knows he can go ahead and build, and create jobs.

Broader Security Proposed.

"Proposal No. 3—Make our social security system available to every American and not to a selected part of our people. For nine long years, the New Deal has kept 20 million Americans out of our old age pension system. The right to old age benefits has become a fundamental of our society. We can and must extend the system of old age benefits and social security to all our people and build a society strong enough to support it.

"Proposal No. 4—Establish a definite and secure floor under farm prices by the means outlined in my speech last Saturday, together with the other elements of that program and free the American farmer from dictation by Washington.

"Proposal No. 5—Restore free collective bargaining in America. Sprawling government agencies have now established an iron rule over the wages, hours, and chance to get a job, of every American worker. We shall establish the fair employment practices committee as a permanent agency with full legal authority. We will merge the balance of these agencies in a strong and competent department of labor under the leadership of a man from the ranks of labor.

Urges Abolishing "Reports."

"Proposal No. 6—Survey forthwith the millions of reports required of big and little business every year by government and immediately abolish the greater part of them. We have done it in New York and we can do it in the nation.

"Proposal No. 7—Bring a competent staff of prosecutors into the department of justice so that we can bring an end to business monopoly in this country instead of just talking about it.

"Proposal No. 8—Establish an entirely new basis between the President and the congress so that once again each shall have respect for the other and be willing to work together again.

"My opponent has continually criticized and attempted to purge the members of the house of congress elected by the people. He has so abused and insulted the congress that his own senate leader rebelled just this year and denounced the words of a veto message by my opponent as 'more clever than honest' and as 'a calculated and deliberate assault on the legislative integrity of every member of congress.'

What "Unlimited Power" Does.

"That declaration was cheered to the rafters by the senators and the members of the house swarmed into the senate to congratulate the speaker.

"That is what three terms of unlimited power do to a man. That is why four terms, or 16 years is the most dangerous threat to our freedom ever proposed. That is one reason why I believe that two terms must be established as the limit by constitutional amendment.

"We have seen that a New Deal congress no longer trusts or accepts leadership from my opponent. It is generally agreed that the house and probably the senate will be Republican next year. So, already Mr. Roosevelt has undertaken to insult the new leadership.

"In his speech of last Friday night he accused the men who will be the new leaders of placing political advantage above devotion to country, just because they publicly pledged themselves to a program for lasting peace. We must not have—we cannot have four years more of stalemate and hostility between the President and the congress.

"We must restore to the White House a willingness to work out problems with the congress as equals, in the American fashion, over the conference table. We must bring an end to government by abuse and smear.

"Lastly, I propose that, with an end to name calling, and with unselfish devotion, we unite as a people behind the cause of a just and a lasting peace thru an international organization, with the strength to prevent future wars.

"By these specific means and with a government made up of the ablest men and women in this country we can restore honesty to our government and we can once again unite to secure the future, which is our birthright.

"Let us again make 'getting ahead' a vital part of our American speech and thought. For years the New Dealers have sneered at the old American idea of 'getting ahead.' Let us make sure that our children can again believe that there is room for every one to get ahead. Let us nail that principle to our masthead as we set out on a sure course for the future.

"Let us determine that the end of this war will bring our young men and women home to the kind of America they have earned.

"With high purpose, with integrity, and relying upon the guidance of the God of all of us we can save freedom in America and go forward once again."

MR. ROOSEVELT AND THE NAVY.

President Roosevelt, in his Navy day speech at Philadelphia, said that he was speaking from the record. He intimated that his opponent hadn't quoted accurately. The American people want to know if the record has been falsified, and, if so, by whom.

The 17th paragraph of Mr. Roosevelt's speech at Philadelphia reads as follows:

"The record will show that from almost the first minute of my administration I started to rebuild the United States navy, which had been whittled down during previous administrations. What the navy suffered from conspicuously during these Republican administrations was a drastic false economy, which not only scrapped ships, but even prevented adequate target practice, adequate maneuvers, and adequate supplies. It had reached the point that on some vessels the crews 'chipped in' to buy their own brass polish to keep the bright work shining."

Did Mr. Roosevelt, "from almost the first moment" of his administration start to rebuild the navy, or didn't he? The answer to that question is to be found in Table 5, on page 362 of the annual report of the secretary of the treasury, issued in 1937. It shows the annual expenditures of the navy department for each fiscal year, starting in 1794.

The annual expenditures in the Hoover administration were between 354 millions and 374 millions. In the fiscal year 1933, which was partly Hoover and partly Roosevelt, the navy cost 350 millions. But in the fiscal year 1934, the first full year under Mr. Roosevelt, the navy spent only 297 million dollars. Mr. Roosevelt started off his regime not by being more liberal with the navy, as he said in his Philadelphia speech, but by reducing the outgo for the navy to the lowest point in more than 17 years. Mr. Roosevelt put the navy on short rations in a year when he was running up other expenditures by nearly 2 billion dollars. So much for the President's statement that "from almost the first minute of my administration I started to rebuild the United States navy."

Now let us examine the statements that "the United States navy had been whittled down in previous administrations," and that "the Republican administration scrapped ships." Ships were scrapped as a result of the Washington naval limitation treaty of 1922 and the London naval limitation treaty of 1930. By these treaties we agreed to limit our navy to the size of Britain's, and Japan in turn agreed to have a navy three-fifths as large as ours. This was the famous 5—5—3 ratio. To establish this ratio we scrapped some old battleships and several then being built. Mr. Roosevelt, in his recent speech in New York, referred scornfully to these acts of disarmament by international agreement when he said that during the years before he took office "much of the strength of our navy was scuttled." He pretends that this met with his disapproval.

The record doesn't support him. On Dec. 9, 1935, he sent a letter to Norman Davis, our representative at the London naval conference. Mr. Davis was instructed to read the letter there. It appears on pages 481 and 482 of volume 4 of Mr. Roosevelt's collected papers. The 3d, 4th, and 5th paragraphs of the letter read as follows:

"The Washington naval conference of 1922 brought to the world the first important voluntary agreement for limitation and reduction of armament. It stands out as a milestone in civilization.

"It was supplemented by the London naval treaty of 1930, which recognized the underlying thought that the good work begun should be progressive—in other words, that further limitation and reduction should be sought.

"Today the United States adheres to that goal. That must be our first consideration."

Mr. Roosevelt, in this letter, went on to urge not that he be permitted to build up the navy, but that agreement be sought for "a substantial proportional reduction in present naval levels." He continued: "I suggest a total tonnage reduction of 20 per cent below existing treaty tonnage. If it is not possible to agree on this percentage, please seek from the British and Japanese a lesser reduction—15 per cent, or 10 per cent, or 5 per cent. The United States must adhere to the high purpose of progressive reduction."

Mr. Roosevelt concluded his letter as follows: "I earnestly hope that France and Italy, which are full parties to the Washington treaty, will see their way to participate fully in our efforts to achieve further naval limitation and reduction.

"The important matter to keep constantly before your eyes is the principle of reduction—the maintenance of one of the greatest achievements of friendly relations between nations."

What Mr. Roosevelt denounces in 1944 as the scuttling of the navy by the Republicans he regarded in 1935 as "a milestone in civilization." He now says that he was always for building up the navy, but the record shows that nine years ago he was willing to scuttle as much as 20 per cent of the tonnage we then had. He was willing to do that despite the fact that at the time the ratio of the navies was not Great Britain 5, United States 5, and Japan 3, as had been agreed upon, but, as shown in figures prepared for the conference, Great Britain 5, United States 3.73, and Japan 3.31. These official figures are available in Samuel Flagg Bemis' "Diplomatic History of the United States."

At the outbreak of the European war, six years after Mr. Roosevelt took office, our navy was a good deal less than "incomparably the best navy in the world," the objective which had been proposed by Woodrow Wilson. In the Congressional Record for Oct. 30, 1939, starting on page 1065 of volume 85, there are figures submitted to congress by Adm. H. R. Stark, chief of naval operations at the time. These figures show that we had only seven aircraft carriers, including those already built, being built, or appropriated for. While we had only seven of the kind of craft which has proved most effective in this war, Great Britain had 16 and Japan had 13. In heavy cruisers we had 18, Japan had 17, and the British empire had 15. Our stock of light cruisers was only 25, against 28 for Japan and 72 for the British. Our battleships numbered 23, compared with Japan's 14 and Britain's 27. Only in submarines and destroyers were we substantially in the lead, and most of our stock of both of these categories was over age, while that was not true of either Britain or Japan.

The record of our navy has been brilliant in the war. The great victory off Leyte will stand out as one of the decisive battles of history. It was made possible by the industries of the country, and the workmen who have built a navy since the war began, and by the great skill and heroism of our navy personnel. The figures sent to congress by Adm. Stark, the highest authority in the navy in 1939, two months after the war started, show how deficient we were when the fighting had already begun, measured by the number of ships and counting in not only those on the shipways, but those not even started and only appropriated for.

Mr. Roosevelt's naval record is a sorry one. His efforts to cover up by sarcastic remarks about the scuttling of the navy in previous administrations do him no credit, particularly when it is remembered that he tried to scuttle a lot more. America was saved in spite of Roosevelt. He placed the country's safety in jeopardy. He tried to bluff at a time when even Japan was able to call our bluff. The country has been saved, no thanks to this man, who was reckless of his country's security and who now is found to be reckless with the truth.

WHAT DO THEY FEAR?

The more the American people learn about the magnitude of our naval victories off the Philippines and about the progress of our army on the islands the more incredible becomes the clamor in this country to subordinate the United States to a combination of so-called great powers. What have they to give us for which we must pay so enormous a price as the surrender of the right to decide for ourselves when we are to go to war?

Surely we don't need them to protect us against any nation or any combination of nations. That has been proved. Single handed, we have beaten the Japanese from our side of the Pacific to theirs; off the Philippines we have just sunk half their navy and sent the rest of it home for heavy repairs. This is just one among many evidences to show that there isn't any power on earth or any combination of powers that can order an invading force against the United States with even a remote chance of success.

Provided only that we keep our powder dry, nobody is going to challenge us or even risk arousing us to action as long as the events of this war are remembered, and that is going to be for a very long time. The Japanese crushed Russia at sea a generation ago. The Japs laughed at Britain in this war, calculating correctly that she couldn't protect her Asiatic colonies against the Japanese army and navy. Again, the Japanese had no difficulty with the allied fleet in Asiatic waters when it was united under either Dutch or British command. It wasn't until the Japanese met an American fleet under American command that the tide turned. Our men, our ships, and our planes defeated the Japanese the other day when we apparently outnumbered them, but previously we had taken their measure at the Coral sea, at Midway, and notably in the naval battles around Guadalcanal when the enemy had the preponderant force. Today, qualitatively and quantitatively we have shown our superiority not only over the Japanese but inferentially over any other naval power.

That goes for our land forces also. The German army tore up the armies of France, Britain, Belgium, and Holland. It remained for the American army to crush Germany in France. We did it with some help from Britain and we did it while we were defeating the Japanese in New Guinea and on the islands of the Central Pacific and while we were sending huge quantities of supplies to Russia and our other allies in ships we provided for the purpose.

On land, on sea, and in the air the American fighting man has proved himself the superior of every opponent and of every ally. It is time for Americans, conscious of their country's strength and aware of the terrible cost that war exacts, to denounce the foreign agents and the sycophants who would drag us into every war whether we wish to engage in it or not.

SOMETHING WRONG IN THE UPPER STORY.

The daft addiction of the burocrat to his codes and regulations is illustrated in an incident reported from Champaign. The Burnham City hospital, it seems, was authorized by the federal government to build a two story nurses' home. The government agreed to pay half the cost. After construction was begun, the hospital decided that it wanted to add a third story.

Only two stories of the nurses' home, however, had been declared a war project. The hospital management was informed by the federal works agency that the third floor cannot qualify. But, it was understood from the FWA, if the hospital completes the two story project, puts a roof on it, and has the building declared completed and acceptable, it may then get permission to tear off the roof and add a third story and a new roof. By courtesy of the New Deal, there will be bats in the belfry.

More information is wanted on the revolving house being planned for the post-war world. Does such a house make enough speed in high gear to sling the wolf and bill collectors off the front porch?—St. Louis Star-Times.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. If an American President wished to be a dictator, which one of these mediums of public influence would he have the most difficulty in "cracking down" upon?
Radio chains Movie producers Magazine publishers Newspaper editors
2. Which city is the wallpaper center of the United States?
Philadelphia Boston Chicago Los Angeles
3. A college professor, aged 30, was given a Sabbatical leave. How many years had he been teaching? 3 yrs. 5 yrs. 6 yrs. 7 yrs.
4. Which one of the following terms describes a maudlin individual? Overly sentimental Hateful Miserly Cowardly
5. The boll weevil should make one think of which crop?
Tobacco Corn Wheat Cotton
6. Try to match the political offices listed in the left hand column below with the annual salaries attached to each. You deserve one point for each correct judgment.
[a] United States Congressman [v] $75,000
[b] Assoc. Justice, Supreme Court [w] $20,500
[c] President [x] $20,000
[d] Chief Justice, Supreme Court [y] $15,000
[e] Vice President [z] $10,000

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

"NICE WEATHER."

Only in Russia, it seems, are the victories of this war celebrated among civilians with old style razzle-dazzle. Stalin would have worn out the cannon of Moscow saluting such a triumph ["brilliant and massive," in the words of Winston Churchill] as has been reported by the American navy from the Philippines. We have taken it in stride without dancing in the streets.

During the five days which passed while the score was being compiled, the editor of this column kept an ear to the ground for reverberations. Except among his colleagues of the press he has heard no excited talk or enthusiastic comment. Among unknowns of the sidewalks, buses, and elevated trains he has overheard nothing. Casual acquaintances exchanged the routine greeting: "Fine weather we're having." The welkin did not ring. And yet the event ranks among the great naval victories of world history.

From such observations we draw these conclusions: The American people are not as mercurial as supposed, and the gigantic scale of this war has subdued their impulses to blow off steam.

Yesterday a small city in Holland named Breda was liberated from the German clutch, and no one batted an eye, of course. But any New Yorker who wanted an excuse for an extra cocktail could find it in this bit of news. In Breda, 1667, a peace treaty was signed which gave the inhabitants of Manhattan Island the privilege of speaking English instead of Dutch.

ANGAUR BEACH.

(Mailed from Angaur island in the Palaus, and written by a soldier who participated in its invasion Sept. 17, 1944.)

White is the sand on Angaur Beach,
White is the moon on the sea;
White are the faces of those who fell,
And deep are their hands
In the bright, clean sands
Of victory.

Olive drab is the jungle thick by Angaur Beach,
Olive drab are the seaweeds flung
Like garlands for the fallen.
Olive drab are the helmets washed
By the great green breakers hung
With frost as white as the lace
That graces the altar cloth
Of yesterday.

Who remembers soldiers?
Who will remember the fallen?
Bathed in the moonlight,
Washed by the ebb tide,
And made in the image
Of God? Timosius.

Fellow pups: Fala now says, and I quote: "A lot of Republicans have thought they might be President" [Oct. 30]. He is right. A lot of them have thought so, and a lot of them have been President. There is one more who thinks he will be President, who is he? [Audience: Choppy!] Will he succeed? [Audience: Y-a-a-a-a-a-a-ay!]

Fala also says he sees red because of his Russian wolfhound. Who saw red first, my friends, Fala or me? It was I who saw red first, and it was mentioned in my Oct. 12 speech. Now I see redder than ever.

Fala wants to know why I have a ghost writer. I have no ghost writer, but I will tell Fala this, that after next Nov. 7 he will be only a ghost of his former self. He will be a private citizen instead of president—that's the ghost he sees—not my ghost writer.

There is too much foreign influence in Fala's administration. Fala is a Scottie with an Italian name, and now he has a Russian wolfhound for his running mate. What kind of Fala-dee-dah business is this Scottie-Italian-Russian setup?

America has always been known as the melting pot of the world, and I am typically American. I have a good American name, Choppy, and I am a wire-haired poodle. I have two strains of good blood, where Fala has only one.

Vote for me for your one term president of the Republican dog party, and chase Fala and his Russian wolfhound up their family trees. It's time for a change. Choppy.

G. E. M. asks: "Could you tell me if I have to take advantage of the G. I. law provision for a home loan within two years of the date of discharge? I was discharged March 13, 1943."

You may apply any time within two years after separation from service or two years after the end of the war, whichever is the later date, but in no event more than five years after the end of the war.

L. O. D. asks: "On this navy air crew men training for men 18 thru 26, what is the pay received at the completion of training? How long is the training?"

Men between 18 and 26 may enlist directly for this training as seamen 2d class with base pay of $54 a month. More than 12 months of training will be given. At the end of eight months, however, men found "superior" may transfer to pilot officer training in navy V-5. The pay upon completion of the basic training will depend upon the rating achieved and may be that of 3d class petty officer with base pay of $78 or 2d class petty officer at $96. This base pay is increased 50 per cent as soon as flight status is given. Flight status calls for only four hours a month in the air. If the recruit switches to flight officer training and completes it, he receives $225 a month and allowances.

ROUTING WASPS WITH DERRIS POWDER.

THE job of combating insect pests is of interest to every one. Fortunately, we have chemicals which will destroy these "varmints" including their nests.

This season wasps particularly have been a real plague to many householders. If their habitations can be discovered, a teaspoonful of derris powder, placed near the entrance, will settle the problem once and for all. The wasps carry the material into their cells, where it kills all forms of life, including the grubs.

Most of us are familiar with the compound known as "rotenone." This is the active principle of the root of Derris elliptica, which has long been known to the natives of Java as a fish poison. It has also been employed in the spraying of crops, chiefly garden vegetables, to protect the growing plants against the hordes of wrecking vermin.

Derris powder has also been used in the treatment of scabies. This malady is brought on by the itch mite [Sarcoptes scabiei], burrowing beneath the cuticle. When utilized as directed, 94 per cent of all infestations will be conquered in 48 hours. There is one caution, however: redhaired and light complexioned people should not be treated with this product because they are quite likely to develop skin irritation.

Its success depends upon first giving the body a thoro scrubbing. Thereafter the powder is suspended in warm water and applied to the epidermis with a soft brush or cloth. A generous application is made every four or five hours during the day. This intensive plan will be followed by prompt disappearance of the lesions.

Now and then a patient will react unfavorably. In fact, agricultural workers will sometimes complain after spraying plants with the preparation. Signs of allergy will present themselves, which may be severe. These vary from reddening of the skin to marked itching, which later may be accompanied by the appearance of blisterlike blebs filled with fluid. True eczema is relatively unknown and only in rare instances will the sufferer develop asthma. This latter symptom will usually be preceded by a generalized dermatitis [eruption].

The test is simple—namely, to remove the person from contact with the drug. Manifestations will vanish, as a rule, within a few days if the insecticide is the culprit. There will be no further trouble unless the substance is again employed.

With these exceptions, we can say that derris powder is quite harmless to human beings and to animals. It is only the occasional individual with whom cure is more annoying than the disease. We are certainly justified in using it in getting rid of wasps because their stings are not pleasant to contemplate. Furthermore, they have a fashion of building their homes in odd nooks and corners. These places can be sought out and treated.

LACK OF RESERVE.

V. L. writes: Are some people more subject to pneumonia than others?

REPLY.

Those who possess low resistance are ready victims of disease—of any type. The particular malady which strikes will be the one most prevalent in the neighborhood. Many of us harbor pneumonia germs within the airways and throat. They are unable to get a head start because of the vigilance of the tissues.

AFTER EFFECT.

Mrs. T. writes: What is meant by a reaction following the injection of a vaccine?

REPLY.

The response of the system. This will vary with different individuals. The site may swell and symptoms of headache, malaise, loss of appetite, etc., persist for several hours.

DON'T NEGLECT.

Mrs. C. W. writes: My 8 month old baby has streaks of blood in his stools. What causes this?

REPLY.

A severe type of irritation within the bowel. Consult a child specialist without delay.

RUPTURE OF MEMBRANE.

S. D. writes: Can a loud noise cause perforation of an ear drum?

REPLY.

Yes, the lesion may be caused by a severe blast [explosion] if you are near enough.

Very Modern Verse.

A young gentleman [age: 7] was studying the life of Robert Louis Stevenson in school and became inspired. With that he produced the following offering:

I love my dady
better than any other thing.
I love him so much
it makes the church bell ring.
He gets me toy and candy
And a frenn nammed Randy.
He married my wonderful mother
And did not pick another.

The Circle Closes.

A Chicagoan who has been stationed in New Guinea for two years is now home on furlough. A few days ago a package mailed to him last Christmas was delivered here. His wife is extremely pleased because it contained two sealed tins of cigarets.

Metropolitan Mosaic.

The soldier walking with his girl, the girl wearing a Good Conduct ribbon. "Maybe it's an idea," comments Ray S. . . . The sign, "Booths for ladies — also refinement," in the window of a Rush street tavern. . . . The billboard on the front lawn of a funeral home advocating the election of so-and-so for coroner. . . . The army car, marked "WAC recruiting," which has been cruising about town, from all windows of which [except the driver's window] protrudes the head of a handsome, noncommissioned male.

Fair Exchange.

At least one navy wife now feels better about the housing situation in Miami. Her husband recently was ordered there and wanted her and their two children to join him. It took months to find an apartment, however, as the owners all said: "Do you have any children?" The affirmative reply closed the doors. But at last it was done, and the wife set about to sublease her home in Highland Park. She advertised its availability, and the first caller was an elderly army colonel. "How much do you want?" he asked her. She told him she wanted $100 a month. "I'll give $150," he snapped. For a moment she reflected. Then, "Do you have any children?" she asked. "No," beaming, "we have no children." "Sorry," she said. "This house can be rented only to couples with children." She finally rented it to a naval officer with three children.

Event Interpreted.

A Sgt. French somewhere in Europe recently received a copy of the Overseas Tribune mailed on Sept. 24. Inside it was a letter that had slipped thru the open flap of the Tribune envelope in transit. The letter was addressed to the Phoenix Candy company, New York, and apparently contained a check which Sgt. French could see thru the transparent window. He couldn't cash the check, anyway, so he is returning it with a letter relating how honest he is and how lucky they are, and he thinks perhaps they will come thru with a nickel bar of candy. We commend to the reading public, however, his postscript:

"This might make a good human interest story for the Trib. 'Commonplace business letter makes thrilling trip thru no-man's-land on fool's errand.' Or: 'Heroic mail clerk wades thru mud and blood to deliver misplaced letter.' Or: 'Gallant first sergeant peers thru rheumy eyes to glimpse misdirected envelope by light of flickering candle as bursting bombs and shattering shells fill the black night with all the ear-splitting and nerve-shattering sounds of modern war.' Or: 'Drooling at the mouth, Sgt. French goes berserk when he finally deciphers Phoenix Candy company letter.' I have got an eye for the human angle, eh?"

Say That Again.

News item in the New York Times:

"The elaborate story 2 year old George William Manus had given his local board in obtaining a deferred 4-D selective service classification resulted in his arrest yesterday by the federal bureau of investigation . . ."

Don't you think that is going too far?

CASH IN ADVANCE, ONLY.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—To a veteran of the Spanish-American war and World War I., who heard Mr. Dewey in his attack on the plan of the Democratic party to organize the One Thousand club, whose members, for a contribution of $1,000 each, shall be entitled to special consideration from the administration, the effect was startling and shocking.

Mr. Roosevelt, in vetoing the congressional bill to restore $103,000,000 of the $450,000,000 which his "economy act" had taken from war veterans, used this language: "No person because he wore the uniform, must thereafter demand or receive from his government a benefit which no other citizen received."

Are we then to infer that the blood of an American soldier, shed in service of his country, is not as important as a contribution of $1,000 to the fourth term? COL. JAMES E. WHITE.

AMERICA, ON HAND OR ON ORDER.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Back in the summer of 1941, my wife and I were driving thru Canada to upper New York state and we noticed in every town there were large banners stretching across the streets and posters in every window as follows: A picture of Churchill at the left and Roosevelt at the right with the British and American flags crosswise between them. Under Churchill's picture it read, "There will always be an England," and under Roosevelt's picture it read, "We will do our part."

Now, mind you, this was the summer of 1941, long before Pearl Harbor.
W. R. JAMES.

INDIANA VOTING MACHINES.

South Bend., Ind., Oct. 23.—There is a report being circulated around the country that any one can tell by means of the sound of the bell on the voting machine what party one votes for.

This is false, and the fact should be broadcast by the different political parties before election.
FORMER VOTING CLERK.

NEW DEAL GUN LEANING PROGRAM?

Chicago, Oct. 23.—So I understand that it will be cheaper to keep the boys in the army than put them on charity, in case of a New Deal victory.

Well, I must say that this would be wise as they could just lean on their guns and save us the price of 15 to 20 million shovels. T. MOORE.

HE WANTED WAR.

Toledo, O., Oct. 18.—Anent Mr. J. R. Brown's letter [headed "Pre-Pearl Harbor Pacifist"] in your Oct. 17 issue, one trouble with this country is that too many people think the war started Dec. 8, 1941, after Pearl Harbor. We were at war, thank God, long before that. Why not admit it?
F. M. TURNER.

SQUATTER'S RIGHTS.

Ingleside, Ill., Oct. 24.—There is a law in some states that when one dwells upon a piece of land 20 years, he can claim squatter's rights and become owner. Do you suppose this is the intention of the present administration?
MR. CURIOUS.

THREATS OVER A DEWEY BUTTON.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—There are would-be dictators in Chicago. Returning from work in a war plant Saturday afternoon, I was accosted in front of the place where I am living by a person who told me he is Democratic captain of precinct 52 in the 27th ward, and that he would have me arrested and put out of the precinct for wearing a Dewey button.

I am wearing the button, first, because a fellow ex-service man from World War I. gave it to me and asked me to wear it, and, second, because I consider it an insult to be told that the outcome of the present war depends upon who is President.
A. W. DRAGSTEDT.

WHO'S HE KIDDING?

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Whom does the President think he's fooling with the promise of 60 million jobs? Before the war, altho he spent billions of dollars, he could not provide jobs for 30 millions. O, yes, the farmer is to receive more income—perhaps by killing little pigs, and by being penalized by Mr. Roosevelt for raising and selling more wheat than permitted.

What a wonderful love Mr. Roosevelt displayed for business, large and small, which well remembers those "breathing spells" he allowed in the past. But why go on citing the deceit? We all remember "again and again and again." And we in turn say, "Again and again and again, Mr. Roosevelt, you will not be President again." M. A. K.

WHAT ARE THE PERQUISITES?

Olney, Ill., Oct. 27.—Does membership in the $1,000 club to promote a fourth term for Franklin, Harry Hopkins, Harold Ickes, and Mme. Perkins entitle the holder thereof to unlimited gas and tires from the OPA and a rebate on income taxes, or must he "clear with Sidney"?
DONOVAN MCCARTY.

CONFUSION SAY—

Zion, Ill., Oct. 28.—Every time I think of the present national administration I am reminded of the Chinese proverb: "Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me."

BULK SALES LAW.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—In a recent published answer you suggested that a purchaser of a business should see that the bulk sales law has been complied with. Will you please explain this law?
V. G.

The Illinois bulk sales law says that sale in bulk of major part of a stock of merchandise or other goods of vendor's business, otherwise than in ordinary course of trade, is void against vendor's creditors unless vendee, at least five days before, demands and receives from vendor a written statement, under oath, containing complete list of vendor's creditors, their addresses and amounts owing to each and, if there be no creditors, an affidavit to that effect, and unless vendee at least five days before taking possession delivers by registered letter to each creditor named, or of whom vendee shall have knowledge, written notice of proposed purchase and of price, terms, and conditions of sale. Creditors of vendor in sale violating the statute have remedy against vendor and purchaser.

DEWEY FAVORED TO WIN IN CLOSE MICHIGAN RACE

Rural Areas Backbone of G. O. P. Strength.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—The election battle in the final week finds outstate Michigan, overwhelmingly Republican, pitted against the Detroit "arsenal of war" area, a Democratic stronghold.

Republicans are concentrating on bringing out the vote in the rural areas and smaller cities. New Dealers and Sidney Hillman's CIO-PAC group are bearing down in the industrial centers. A vote as large as in 1940, when 2,085,929 votes were cast, is expected.

Gov. Kelly today called a special session of the legislature for Friday to permit cities and towns to extend the voting hours from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. where deemed necessary. The huge registration in Wayne county, where Detroit alone has increased 92,000 over 1940, led to the extension move. It was requested by the Detroit election boards, R. J. Thomas, head of the CIO United Automobile Workers, and other agencies.

As the campaign roars to a close, Gov. Dewey is regarded by unprejudiced observers as leading in his native state. The great bulk of the state's land area is regarded as far stronger for the Republicans than when Willkie carried 68 of the 83 counties and won the state by 6,926 votes.

Concentrate on Industries.

Both sides have concentrated on the war industry areas. Gov. Bricker, of neighboring Ohio, G. O. P. nominee for Vice President, spoke yesterday in Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, and Detroit. Vice President Wallace has been speaking in the state for the New Deal.

The women's vote outside Wayne county, Republican chiefs say, is stronger for Dewey than for Roosevelt. In Wayne county they rate it about 50-50.

The soldier vote, which is expected to run over 100,000, is an uncertain factors. Many theorize it will go just about the way the rest of the state does. The count of the soldier ballots may delay the returns somewhat, and if the race is tight, final results may not be known for several hours after the polls close.

How far Hillman's PAC can roll up CIO votes is undetermined, but surface indications are that a large part of the CIO members are not deliverable in politics. Dewey buttons are said to be worn by many in some CIO plants.

Population Shifts.

The shift in voting population due to the war is a great enigma here as in some other states. The latest survey shows population decreases since 1940 in 67 of the 83 counties.

In four counties, Wayne, Macomb, Muskegon, and Bay, the population has increased by 207,528, or 8.2 per cent, in the last four years. In 1940 these four counties gave a majority of 182,778 for Roosevelt, who lost the state by 6,926.

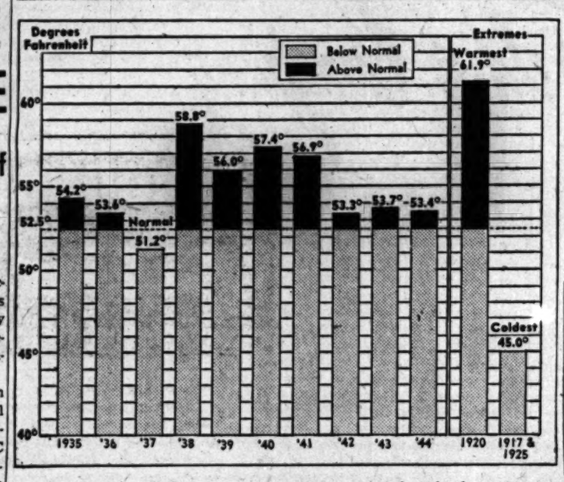
The net loss in population in the rest of the state, 79 counties, was 81,281, or 1.9 per cent.

Iron Region for G. O. P.

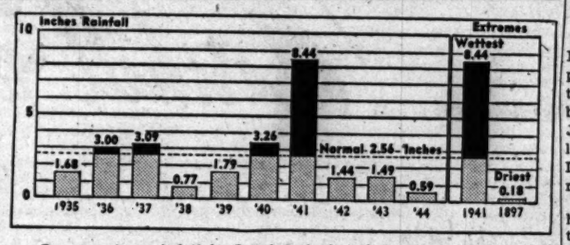
A considerable part of the population shift into the war arsenal regions has come from Kentucky, Tennessee, and other southern states of Democratic tradition. A large part of it, too, has come from rural anti-New Deal areas of Indiana and Ohio.

In the upper peninsula Republican chiefs say a marked change has taken place. Four years ago Roosevelt carried nine of the 15 counties in this region of iron ranges. This time most of the counties are reported headed back to the G. O. P. For one thing, the Finnish-American vote, an important one, is reported swinging to the Republicans, as in northern Minnesota.

Chicago's Sunny October Weather Is Driest Among Last Thirty Years



Comparison of October mean temperatures for the last 10 years with the warmest and coldest Octobers in weather bureau records.



Comparative rainfall in October during the same 10 year period, contrasted to the wettest and driest Octobers.

Record Finish

Yesterday was the warmest Oct. 31 in the history of the Chicago weather bureau. It marked up the highest temperature for any day of any year this late in the season. Today will be even warmer, H. L. Jacobson, forecaster, said last night.

Yesterday's high was 78.6 at 3:15 p. m. The previous high for the date was 78.4 in 1935. Jacobson said he expects the thermometer to go to 80 today, which will compare with a previous record high of 77.3 on Nov. 1, 1933.

The unseasonable heat, Jacobson said, probably results in part from excessive dryness. There has been no measurable rain here since Oct. 4. October was the fourth driest in the weather bureau's history, with a total precipitation of only .59 of an inch.

Cicero Employes to Get Late $66,000 Tomorrow

Henry J. Sandusky, president of Cicero, announced yesterday that approximately 350 employes of the village would receive one month's pay tomorrow for the last two weeks in November, 1940, and the last two weeks of December, 1943, totaling $66,000. The money, he said, was obtained in returned tax receipts from the county treasurer. Employes still have five two-week pay checks owing them.

TWO SENTENCED TO JAIL ON FAKE COUPON CHARGE

David Zand, 36, of 7016 Merrill av., operator of a filling station at 754 W. 95th st., and LeRoy Page, 33, of 6131 Morgan st., an employé at the station, were sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes on charges of buying and selling counterfeit gasoline ration coupons. Zand also was fined $2,500. Assistant U. S. Atty. William McCormack said this is the first instance in this area of jail sentences being imposed for this offense.

FIREMEN FIGHT BLAZE 2 HOURS.
Firemen fought a fire in the rear of the A-1 Plating works, a two-story brick building at 2940 Lake st., for two hours yesterday, with damage estimated at $3,000.

BOY, 8, TELLS HOW DAD KILLED MOTHER, 'UNCLE'

A coroner's jury decided yesterday that George Altman, 60, and his wife, Florence, 40, were murdered last Sunday morning by Mrs. Altman's former husband, Edward Lynch, 58, who then committed suicide. The tragedy, which occurred in the Altman home, 3615 W. 63d st., was described by Arthur Lynch, 8, son of the murderer and Mrs. Altman, who was the only person who saw the shooting.

"I'm not sure whether my father had a gun in his hand when he came in," the boy testified, "but I saw the gun in his hand in the front room." He described his father's rushing into the house and added "I saw my father shoot my mother and shoot 'my uncle' and shoot himself." [He referred to his step-father thruout the testimony as 'my uncle.'] As he described the scene, the boy placed his forefinger to his forehead and squeezed an imaginary trigger.

A note found in Lynch's pocket was read to the jury. Addressed to "Verna," identified as Mrs. Verna Darling, 3420 W. 63d st., a sister of Mrs. Altman, it read: "You planned and schemed to have my Florence leave me so Altman could have her. I only wish you were here, you ——. You are the cause and you will have to suffer in hell."

STUDENTS' RIGHT TO VOTE PUT UP TO CONSCIENCES

The right of students at the Moody Bible institute, 153 Institute pl., to vote on Nov. 7, was left up to their own consciences yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, at a hearing which followed objections by the 42d ward Democratic organization to their registration.

"Those of you who would go home if you were ill are not actually citizens of Chicago," the judge told them. "Using that as a guide, if you consider yourself qualified, you may vote."

The court took under advisement, however, the voting right of 10 of the students.

COMPANY EQUIPMENT STOLEN.

REPUBLICAN AID PLEDGED BY 75 NEGRO PASTORS

Unanimous Vote Taken at Bethel Church.

Seventy-five Negro ministers, representing churches thruout Chicago and its suburbs, pledged their support to the Republican ticket last night after hearing three G. O. P. leaders denounce the New Deal for fostering racial prejudice.

The group, meeting in Bethel A. M. E. church, 4448 Michigan av., as guests of Harvey A. Watkins, real estate dealer, voted unanimously.

Brooks Condemns F. D. R.

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] led off the forum with a denunciation of President Roosevelt for breaking his campaign promises to various minority groups.

The President and other New Dealers have constantly made promises to minority groups, Brooks declared, which they have never intended to keep. In the present campaign, he said, two New Deal wheel horses have been sent to Chicago with promises designed to entice the Negro vote, but neither speaker has ever had a record of effective aid to minority groups.

Tyrants' Pattern Followed.

Roosevelt, Brooks said, is following a pattern established in early history by tyrants in their rise to power. Each of them, he said, has obtained temporary power and then formed coalitions of subversive forces to secure their dominance and mold to their personal whim and will the government over which they obtained control.

Sen. Arnold P. Benson, nominee for secretary of state, and Leo Carr, nominee for sheriff, lashed the New Deal for its support of big city bossism.

Traffic Cases in October Decline from 305 to 297

Cases heard in Safety court during October decreased from 305 in 1943 to 297 this year, Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court reported yesterday.

CRANBERRY AND BEAN PRICES RISE; LEMON CEILING IS CUT BY OPA

Two price increases, one decrease, and the removal of two items from rationing marked the weekly fruit and vegetable ceilings posted yesterday by the office of price administration. Bulk cranberries will be 1½ cents a pound higher at 41½ cents, with those in cellophane bags 2 cents a pound higher at 44 cents. Beans will go up 1½ cents a pound, to 21 cents. Lemons will be 2 cents a pound lower at 13 cents.

Michigan pears and field cucumbers, few of which remain on the market, were removed from the list.

Of the 1,850,000 passenger car tires to be made available for civilians in November in the United States, 48,215 will be issued to Chicagoans, Marion W. Isbell, area OPA director, said yesterday. This compares with 40,662 in October. Other tire quotas for the area include: Light and medium truck, 3,795, compared with 2,852 in October; large truck, 2,236, as compared with 2,022; tractor, 121 small and 63 large, compared with 152 and 75, respectively.

FOURTH DEATH SENTENCE GIVEN FRENCH WRITER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 31.—Count Armand Chastenet de Puysegur, 75 year old French writer, was condemned to death this evening by the "People's" court in the continuation of collaborationist purge trials. Puysegur admitted that he got $2,000 to establish an organization which wrote pro-German chain letters to big business men in France. The count said he had made a mistake.

"I did not realize the Germans were such hypocrites till the end, and then I was too proud to withdraw," he said.

Puysegur is the fourth man to be condemned to death in a week of Paris purge court sessions. The first death sentence — that of Georges Suarez, editor of the collaboration paper Aujourd'hui—will come up on appeal before the court of cassation on Thursday. Andre Lauzin, film distributor, charged with collaboration, was acquitted. He was the first accused to escape in a week of trials.

CONTRACTOR DIES IN OFFICE.

Louis Arnold, 55, of 6733 Chappel av., a contractor's representative, died of a heart attack in his office at 222 W. Adams st. yesterday.

KELLY AND RED LEADER SWAP RALLY PLAUDITS

Mayor Kelly and Herbert March, alias Marich, one of Chicago's communist leaders, have appeared on the same platform as part of the fourth term drive for President Roosevelt, it was learned yesterday.

In addition to appealing for support of the New Deal ticket, Kelly and March exchanged compliments. March is regional director of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers' union. His communistic affiliations have been revealed by the Dies committee that investigated un-American acts.

The meeting was held Monday noon in a lot between the Armour and Swift packing plants. March, who presided, extolled the mayor in introducing him. Kelly, in turn, complimented March as a strong worker for the Roosevelt ticket. Both emphasized the contention that President Roosevelt has been a friend of labor and that the CIO members would have better postwar security under a continued New Deal.

Mayor at Stock Yards.

The mayor returned to the stock yards yesterday to campaign among commission men and drovers.

Meanwhile, Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] pledged in a radio speech that he would support the President on ratification of an allied nations organization. The Dumbarton Oaks conference he called a "long step in a sacred direction."

"Let me remind you," Lucas said, "that a minority of irreconcilable isolationists can block the will of the American people when the measure comes before the senate. The American people at the polls can decide whether this can happen. They can permit the erection of a road block to peace, or they can prevent it by their votes."

Lucas Condemns Poll Tax.

Lucas also spoke in the 2d and 3d wards, telling Negro audiences that he supported poll tax repealers, anti-lynching bills, and measures to prevent racial discrimination in war plants. The senator was indorsed by two of his Democratic colleagues, Sen. Barkley [Ky.] and Sen. George [Ga.].

William J. Tuohy, Democratic nominee for state's attorney, in a 17th ward meeting at 6839 Wentworth av., charged that his Republican opponent, John T. Dempsey, is using a "false issue" in talking about vote frauds.

In behalf of State's Atty. Courtney, nominee for governor, a luncheon will be held by Democratic attorneys this noon in the Morrison hotel.

U. S. WILL PAY VETS EARNING LESS THAN $100

Any eligible self-employed veteran of this war whose net earnings are less than $100 in any month may claim readjustment allowance equal to the difference between his net earnings and $100, the department of labor announced yesterday. The benefit is provided for under the so-called G. I. Bill of Rights.

The benefit becomes effective on October earnings, and may be drawn for as many as 10 months, depending on length of service. The months need not be consecutive, but must occur within two years after discharge, or after the end of the war, whichever is later, the announcement said. Any type of honorable discharge will be recognied.

Claims should be filed at regional offices not later than the 20th of the month after the one for which benefit is asked.

BABY DIES IN CRIB.

Paul Specialille, 3 months, of 3432 Belden av., died yesterday in his crib. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Specialille.

ANNOUNCING THE GREAT NEW Futura ACOUSTICON

Conversation Hearing Aid Based on U. S. Gov't Findings

In announcing three superb vacuum tube models at new low prices, Acousticon is making hearing aid history. These precision instruments have been especially designed to enable you to hear and understand home and business conversation. To the hard of hearing person, that is the one thing that really matters.

Acousticon, first and oldest electrical hearing aid manufacturer, has been building hearing equipment for the Government for use in planes, tanks, jeeps, walkie talkies. A "must" was the sure and unmistakable understanding of conversation, a vital battle essential. This vast and exacting war production experience on top of Acousticon's 42 years of hearing aid research and craftsmanship made possible not only great advances in hearing restoration but also astonishing new low prices.

Remember these prices are complete, including custom ear-mold. They include scientific fitting to your individual need by the new, exclusive Acousticon Speech-Hearing Test.

Honk! honk!
they passed her,
But got there no faster
Erratic driving proves so inefficient in Wartime that it's no longer favored anytime.
Deftness is the style in motoring. Tactics like swooping in and out of line seem wasted, when the little coupe—from miles behind—presently shows up anyway in the "thrill-driver's" mirror.
That's skill—making a steady good average; not leaping and bounding to make it up. You'll show still greater regard for dutiful mechanism by having your engine OIL-PLATED—internally surfaced to resist corrosion by the unavoidable acids of combustion.
Changing to Conoco Nth motor oil will automatically give you an OIL-PLATED engine. Costly pioneer research created the special Conoco Nth ingredient that gives this popular-priced oil its magnet-like action. And that's what joins OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces, as if to stay.
Acids stay too, these days—infesting every cylinder in unreasonable quantities. Former chances of ousting corrosive acids are decreased these days by low engine temperatures—longer stretches of standing cold—mileage limitations of any kind. But you can keep your engine's fine inner finish under cover of protective OIL-PLATING—resisting corrosion! Just change to Conoco Nth motor oil at Your Mileage Merchant's. Continental Oil Company

LYONS RIDICULES DEMOCRATS' BID FOR PEACE REINS

Had Chance and Failed, G. O. P. Women Told.

The only times the United States has been involved in European wars have been when the country has had Democratic Presidents, Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for senator, said yesterday in an address before 1,000 women at a candidates' luncheon in the La Salle hotel.

"The Democrats are asking for a fourth term because they say they can't trust the Republicans to make the peace," Lyons said. "Yet we know that the only times the United States has been involved in European wars have been when we had Democratic Presidents. We also remember that a Democratic President sat in on the last peace. And it didn't work."

Sen. Brooks Also Speaks.

Lyons and Sen. Brooks were the principal speakers at the luncheon, which was sponsored by the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago. Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman and club president, introduced state and county candidates.

After blasting the extravagant promises made by the Democratic Presidential nominee in his Soldiers' field address last Saturday, Lyons predicted: "Republicans will roll up enough votes in the electoral college to rid this country once and for all of the New Deal and send a fresh breath of air into the White House with the election of Thomas E. Dewey."

Sen. Brooks asked for a Republican colleague in the senate. He spoke for Lyons on the basis of the latter's qualifications as a believer in the traditions and future of America and as a candidate trained for office by 10 years in the Illinois legislature.

Brooks Hits Power Plays.

Brooks said the troubles of the world could be traced to the arrogance of men who gained temporary power and then thru coalitions sought to represent themselves as indispensable.

Attempts to shun New Deal totalitarianism among individual Democrats are not sound, he charged, "because each one is responsible [for the New Deal] and there is no real independence."

In a brief talk, Werner W. Schroeder, national committeeman, made a plea for voting the straight Republican ticket. Co-chairmen assisting Mrs. Baur at the luncheon were Mrs. George Weichelt and Mrs. James N. Rawleigh.

ALLMAN DENIES MALONE LEAVE WAS ORDERED

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday denied reports circulating in the city hall that Democratic politicians asked him to order Capt. Frank Malone of the Marquette station to take a 10 day furlough.

Capt. Malone was given the furlough because he is ill, Commissioner Allman said. Reports persisted, however, that Malone was relieved of duty for 10 days because politicians complained he was too "tough" in closing bingo games at political meetings, enforcing tavern closing laws, and attending to other police work that did not meet with the approval of ward leaders. Commissioners Allman also denied that politics caused him to extend the furlough of Capt. Thomas H. Alcock of the Fillmore st. station.

Allman yesterday transferred Capt. Patrick T. Crotty from the Pekin Inn to the Stockyards station and moved Lt. William H. Doyle, acting captain at Stockyards station, to Pekin Inn.

TELLS OF RIDING TO MOON TO LIVE WITH IN-LAWS

John Ligocki, 31, of 3516 N. Narragansett av., told Judge William J. Lindsay in Superior court yesterday that he gave up his job in Hammond, Ind., last summer because he was tired of commuting 84 miles a day, six days a week for the last 10 years to his job. He explained that his wife refused to move closer to his work because she wanted to live with her parents.

Ligocki was in court to plead that a support order of $15 a week for his wife and their two children, which she was awarded in a suit for separate maintenance, be vacated or reduced. Mrs. Ligocki charged that her husband deserted her July 11, 1944.

Judge Lindsay, who computed that Ligocki commuted 262,080 miles and spent 290 24-hour days doing it, told the defendant, "You have my sympathy. You are the first husband I have seen who has traveled as far as the moon for love of his wife, but there is nothing I can do for you, except suggest that if you love her that much you might look for a new job near her folks' home."

ROCKFORD CAPTAIN ROBBED.

Capt. Milton P. Zemlen of Rockford told police that thieves entered his auto parked in front of 5112 Hyde Park blvd. yesterday and took army clothing valued at $82.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

El Brendel's Son Faces Court on Check Charge

Elmer Norman Brendel, 31, son of El Brendel, movie comedian, was arraigned yesterday before Judge John Gutknecht in Felony court on charges of passing $190 in worthless checks. Brendel, who said his home was in West Los Angeles, Cal., was granted a continuance until Nov. 6 to make restitution.

amazing new air-wick* kills kitchen odors... makes indoor air country-fresh... contains miracle-working chlorophyll no fuss... no bother

nothing to light or burn
just pull up the wick

Pat. No. 2,313,672

Fish, onions, cabbage, fats...they're all the same to air-wick, the great new scientific discovery that kills unpleasant household odors of all kinds.

Musty closets...bathrooms...living rooms in which there has been heavy smoking...they all become "outdoor fresh" within a few minutes. Simply uncap the air-wick bottle and pull up the wick from one to four inches.

Keep several bottles on hand...for the kitchen, the living room...for closets, bathrooms and bedrooms. Each bottle should last for two months under average household conditions.

And remember, there is only one air-wick. No other household product of its kind contains activated chlorophyll...the miracle-working substance which in its natural state freshens the air wherever green things grow. You'll find air-wick on sale at all the better stores.

*air-wick deodorizer and household freshener is fully protected by U.S. patent. air-wick is a trademark of Seeman Brothers, Inc., New York 13, N.Y.

With the tip of his finger

this man controls all of the train operations on 112 miles DENVER AKRON of Burlington Route track. A quick glance at the control board shows him the exact location of every passenger and freight train at any given moment. By a mere flip of a series of levers he controls the switches over the entire 112-mile stretch and gives the engineers their instructions by signal lights. This modern miracle is called CENTRALIZED TRAFFIC CONTROL. It eliminates written train orders. It speeds traffic tremendously. It saves time and saves motive power.

It is super-safe because it virtually eliminates the element of human error.

The Burlington has invested more than $2,000,000.00 in numerous Centralized Traffic Control installations. And there will be more. Investments such as these are playing an important part in enabling the railroads to handle the biggest transportation job in history—with less equipment and in the face of a serious manpower shortage. The Burlington is proud to be on the team of America's railroads which is sweating out the answer. Through its 22 principal gateways and more than 200 interchange points, the Burlington serves as an essential link between railroads from the North, East, South and West. These modern C. T. C. systems bring additional strength to that important "link" service.

'LORD THREW ME OUT OF BOMBER,' SAYS ELGIN YANK

Lt. A. J. Allen Tells How He Escaped Inferno.

LT. ALBERT J. ALLEN, 23, describing his escape from a burning bomber over Holland, in a letter received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loe L. Allen, 19 S. Liberty st., Elgin, said: "I think the Good Lord just grabbed me by the nape of the neck and threw me out."

Lt. Allen said his plane ran into heavy flak Oct. 6 on his first combat mission, and caught fire. "We just got the door open to bail out," his letter continued, "when the gas tanks exploded. This must be the end, I thought. Everything went black. Suddenly I felt cool . . . I was falling thru space."

Lt. Allen is recuperating in England from burns and a leg fracture.

PVT. EDWARD B. STACKHOUSE, 19, of 5952 Wentworth av., has been missing in action in Germany since Oct. 8, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Stackhouse, have been advised by the war department. Pvt. Stackhouse entered the army shortly after he was graduated from Englewood High school. He was a member of company B, 117th infantry, 30th division.

Pvt. E. B. Stackhouse.

SECOND LT. THOMAS CHAVIS, 28, bomber navigator and former reporter for the Chicago Herald-American, is missing in action, his wife, Irma Lee Chavis, 517 Madison st., Glencoe, was informed. He failed to return from his fourth bombing mission over Germany, on Oct. 12. Lt. Chavis received the Purple Heart after he had been burned when his oxygen hose broke.

LT. IAN MacLEOD, 29, flight lieutenant in the royal air force, was killed Oct. 28 in a plane crash in England, his widow, Audrey, 923 Walnut st., Aurora, reported.

STAFF SGT. LEONARD WENNMACHER, 22, of North Aurora, was killed Oct. 13 in Luxembourg, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wennmacher, North Aurora, were advised.

LT. WAYNE S. SCHLENTZ, 24, a flyer, was listed as missing in action in the Asiatic theater Oct. 9, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Schlentz, 623 Section st., Aurora, reported.

NAVY FIREMAN 1ST CLASS JAMES R. COX, 19, of Woodstock died of wounds received in the South Pacific, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox, 931 Clay st., were advised. He was graduated from St. Mary's High school in Woodstock last year.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT GIVEN IN AUTO DEATH

A verdict of manslaughter was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death Monday of Joseph Eller, 68, of 7310 Ridgeland av., who was struck by a stolen automobile driven by an unidentified man. The accident occurred at 72d st. and Stony Island av.

H. P. Stevenson of 8230 Ridgeland av., a witness to the accident, testified he saw a coupe, speeding at about 50 miles an hour, pass him and, because of the speed it was traveling, he jotted down the license number. A moment later, he declared, he saw the car skid and saw Eller thrown into the air. The car, found in 67th st. near Stony Island av., was owned by Kyle Menuez of Wayne.

Two daughters of Maj. Thomas M. Logan of the 6th service command —Mary Jane, 10, and Catherine, 9, of 4419 N. Albany av., were injured as they returned to the Bateman school after lunch, when they were struck by a truck at Montrose and Sacramento avs. The driver, Raymond Schroeder, 320 W. 46th st., Western Springs, who took the children to the Swedish Covenant hospital, was arrested. Catherine, it was said, may lose her left foot. Mary Jane has internal injuries and possible fractures.

James R. Spriet, 20, 3d class petty officer in the navy, was injured fatally when his automobile crashed into a tree near Burlington, Kane county, as he was returning to his home where he was on leave. Spriet, who enlisted three years ago, had been captain of the Burlington High school basketball team.

FIREMEN CALLED TO HOSPITAL.

Waste paper, burning in a washroom in County hospital, was extinguished by an attendant with a glassful of water yesterday, but not until a nurse had summoned firemen, who arrived after the fire had been doused.

ARMY ENDS ITS DOCTOR 'DRAFT,' NAVY'S GOES ON

'Grave Shortage' Felt in Pacific Area.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—The war department announced thru the war man power commission today that recruiting of civilian physicians for the army has been discontinued. WMC Chairman McNutt said, however, that recruiting for the navy must continue because of an urgent need for approximately 3,000 more medical officers.

Other Agencies Seeking Doctors.

The public health service of the federal security agency and the veterans' administration also are continuing to seek physicians.

McNutt disclosed he has been informed by the war department that the army will fill its future requirements for military physicians from sources now available, such as students and graduates of the army specialized training program and a small number of individuals whose commissions are being processed. Accordingly, the army no longer will require certification of availability of additional physicians from the WMC's procurement and assignment service.

McNutt reported that there are roughly 60,000 physicians in the army, navy, and the veterans' administration, a total representing about 40 per cent of the active medical profession in the United States.

"Grave Shortage" in Pacific.

Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, chief of the navy's bureau of medicine and surgery, informed McNutt that personnel expansion and intensification of Pacific operations have resulted in a "grave" shortage of medical officers.

With less than 13,000 medical officers in active duty in the navy, the procurement of at least 3,000 more as soon as possible is imperative, Adm. McIntire said. Even this figure will not meet actual needs.

TRADES DIVORCE FOR SEPARATION AND $5.50 A WEEK

Edward Kendzersky, 33, a County hospital employe, is worth $18 a week to Mrs. Mary Kendzersky, 35, as her husband, but only $12.50 as her ex-husband, she told Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court yesterday. That, she said, is why she took him back, altho he did not know it.

Mrs. Mary Kendzersky.

Mrs. Kendzersky, who lives at 643 N. Harding av., said she obtained a divorce and $12.50 a week for the support of a minor child on Oct. 7, 1943. Kendzersky was drafted Oct. 21, and while he was in the army Mrs. Kendzersky reappeared before Robert J. Dunne in Circuit court. She had the divorce decree vacated, and was awarded separate maintenance of $18 a week.

She appeared with Atty. Sol R. Friedman, who said he was new in the case, to ask Judge Feinberg yesterday to sentence Kendzersky to jail for contempt of court for being $477 in arrears in support payments. Judge Feinberg said he never had heard of a person trading a divorce decree for separate maintenance, and he continued the case to Nov. 8. He cautioned Kendzersky not to remarry in the meantime.

HOOVER, UNRRA HELD OPPOSITES IN ACHIEVEMENT

'18 Job Twice as Big; Cost Much Less.

Herbert Hoover's job in feeding European nations after World War I, was twice as big as that which faces the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, Chauncey McCormick, president of the Chicago Art Institute, who was food supervisor for Poland in 1918, said last night.

Despite this, he pointed out, the UNRRA has received 10 million dollars for administrative expense, presumably for one year, compared with a total overhead expense of 1½ million dollars for the four years the Hoover relief organization was in operation.

In addition, McCormick said, Hoover was delivering supplies 30 days after the liberation of invaded countries, whereas the UNRRA has not even started the delivery of food in any section of any liberated country, altho some have been liberated for as long as eight months. Hoover, he said, operated with a volunteer staff except for clerks and certain aids delegated from the army and navy, while UNRRA long ago engaged a large staff at salaries up to $15,000 a year.

Burocratic Aims Blamed.

"These facts illustrate the vital difference between a truly disinterested service to suffering humanity and the building up of another burocratic machine for political manipulation of the fate of the foreign born citizens in the United States," he said.

As to the comparative tasks facing the two organizations, McCormick pointed out that the area now needing relief is much smaller than after the last war.

"The enemy countries, remembering the sad lessons of the last war, have maintained their agriculture and animal culture at high levels by slave and prisoner labor," he said. "Also, the united nations this time were not able to blockade their enemies as effectively as last time.

Task "Less than Half."

"Apparently Germany, Hungary, and Austria can take care of themselves after they are defeated; and Bulgaria and Romania, reporting large crops this year, will have little or no difficulty.

"The total administrative problem reduces itself to caring for probably less than one-half the load carried by Hoover's organization. On this basis alone, it is evident that Gov. Lehman does not need several times as much money for overhead as Hoover spent."

In addition, he pointed out, a much larger volume of shipping will be available after this war, together with a great quantity of surplus food seeking a market.

UNRRA Aims "Distrusted."

After the last war, McCormick said, the allied governments and the others gave Hoover complete authority and trust, adding:

"By contrast, today the British and others, who sense this new so-called relief as political rather than altruistic and humanitarian, are demanding more and more power and position in the new setup. Russia, which welcomed Hoover's aid in 1922, is demanding that Gov. Lehman's political machine stay out of Russia. Constantine Fotitch, former Yugoslav ambassador to the United States and a member of the Central National Committee of Yugoslavia, is protesting a political alliance between the UNRRA and Marshal Tito. In spite of the strictest censorship, the fact cannot be hidden that governments distrust and fear the aims and motives of UNRRA."

FAMILY TO SHARE $500,000 ESTATE OF CHARLES WENDNAGEL

Charles Eugene Wendnagel, 79, a tank manufacturer who died Oct. 14, left an estate of $500,000, it was estimated yesterday when his will was admitted to Probate by Richard P. Fredo, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. The will provided for the division of the estate among the widow, Bessie, of 4526 Greenwood av., two sons, Charles E. and Frederick W., and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Lydy. The will was filed by Attorneys A. S. and E. W. Froehlich.

Archbishop Lang Attends Services for Dr. Temple

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL, England, Oct. 31 (AP).—Eighty-year-old Archbishop Lang today took part in funeral services for Dr. William Temple, his successor as archbishop of Canterbury. Dr. Temple, 63, died Thursday. It was the first time in the history of the church that a primate had outlived his successor. The ashes of Dr. Temple will be buried tomorrow in a cloister adjoining the cathedral.

Cow Killed by Auto Stripped of Roasts

Daytona Beach, Fla., Oct. 31 (AP).—Some thrifty Floridan has saved himself a flock of ration points. A cow was killed by an automobile last night near the Tomoka river north of here. Deputy Sheriff V. E. Yaw said some unknown person cut off and took with him the choice hind and front quarters of the cow.

COMPLETE FUNERALS as low as STILL OBTAINABLE $110 AT LAIN & SON

Although costs have increased, and there is a definite shortage of merchandise—our policy of furnishing complete funerals as low as $110 will be continued as long as possible.

More families call LAIN & SON in Chicago than any other director—and this preference is your best guarantee of the lowest possible funeral costs.

Lain & Son service is available to all parts of Chicago and Suburbs.

War Scatters Bs and Bs to Distant Posts

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF the Bachelors and Benedicts had decided to return to their pre-war custom this year of giving a Thanksgiving eve ball, only a skeleton force of the committee would be on hand to welcome the guests. The last of the parties took place Nov. 19, 1941, in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House, and when the Pearl Harbor attack occurred less than a month later the organization voted to disband until after the war.

At present the majority of the 16 Bachelors and Benedicts who helped to plan the last party are serving overseas with the army and navy. Only two are in Chicago—Lt. John Jay Borland IL, who reports to the Great Lakes hospital twice a week while recuperating from an accident last summer, and Peter Fortune, who is engaged in war work. Lt. Henry Barkhausen, just back from two and a half years of overseas service with the navy, temporarily is at home on leave, but by Thanksgiving eve he and his wife probably will be on their way to San Francisco, Cal. Lt. and Mrs. Barkhausen have gone to New York for a few days but will return to join his mother, Mrs. Henry G. Barkhausen, tomorrow.

Locations of Others.

Lt. Wyndham Hasler, who was chairman of the last ball, and his wife are having a few days' reunion in San Francisco while he is in port briefly from navy service in the Pacific. Also in California are Lt. William B. Cudahy of the Coast Guard and Mrs. Cudahy. Mrs. Albert B. Dick III., whose navy lieutenant husband also is in the Pacific, will bring her 2 year old son from Pennsylvania Nov. 15 to spend two months with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick, in Lake Forest.

Now that Lt. Hugh McBirney Johnston has completed a navy course in Memphis, Tenn., he and his wife may come to Chicago to spend a few days before he reports for further orders. Of the other young men on the 1941 committee, Lt. Garfield King and Lt. Joseph E. Rich are serving with the navy in the Pacific; Lt. Thomas A. Potter Jr. is with the navy in the Atlantic; Lt. George A. Ranney Jr. is stationed in Europe with the army; Lt. John S. Reed is overseas with the navy; Lt. Col. Arthur M. Wood of the army and Lt. Howard F. Gillette of the navy and Mrs. Gillette are living in Washington, D. C., and Lt. Laurence A. Carton is instructing for the navy in California. Most recent word to reach Chicago concerning Lt. William R. Dickinson Jr. placed him in Florida as a Coast Guard instructor.

Engagement News.

Mrs. Ethel Kirkman Baker of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Virginia, to Karl F. Syren of Highland Park, formerly of Filipstad, Sweden. The wedding will take place at 4:30 p. m. Dec. 9 in the Baker home, with a reception following at 5:30.

Miss Baker, who was educated in Paris and at Northwestern university, is a great-granddaughter of the late Marshall Monroe Kirkman, a long time Evanston resident. She will have her sister, Mrs. Hunter Van Rensselaer Nicol, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Nicol's little daughter, Nancy, as flower girl. Mr. Syren, who is a graduate of the University of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering in Filipstad, will have his brother, Yngve Syren, as best man.

Miss Baker's and Mrs. Nicol's only brother, Lt. Gordon Baker, was killed in action in Italy and is buried in the American cemetery at Nettuno, not far from the Anzio beachhead. Mrs. Nicol's husband is serving as a private in the army in the South Pacific. His sister, Mrs. Walter E. Haug, recently welcomed to Chicago her husband, who had been interned in Australia almost since the beginning of the war. Mrs. Haug and their little girl have been

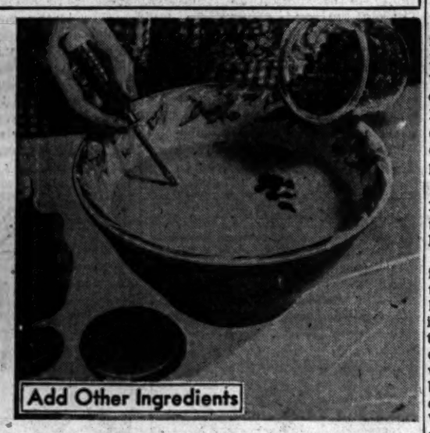
Mary Meade Makes Rice Pudding with Meringue

Cook Rice in Milk

1. Wash ¾ cup rice and put in top part of double boiler. Add 2 cups milk and 2 tablespoons margarine and cook over boiling water, covered, until rice is tender, about 45 minutes. The addition of fat helps in keeping rice kernels separate.

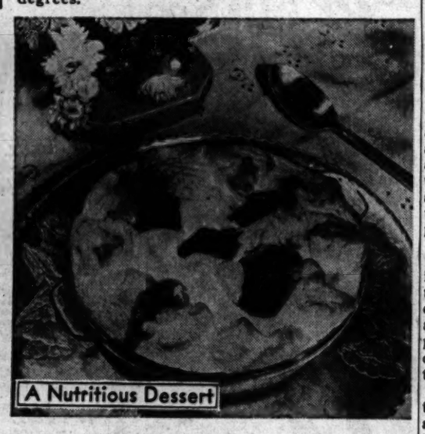


Add Other Ingredients

2. To the cooked rice, add 2 cups milk, ⅓ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ⅓ cup seedless raisins, ¼ cup brown sugar, and 2 beaten egg yolks. Pour into greased casserole, set in pan of hot water, and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Top with Meringue

3. Remove from oven, pile meringue onto pudding and dab with spoonfuls of jelly. To make meringue, beat 2 egg whites (warmed to room temperature) until stiff, but not dry; gradually add 4 tablespoons white sugar, beating until sugar is dissolved.



A Nutritious Dessert

4. Finish baking the jelly bedecked pudding at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes or until meringue is lightly browned. This eye appealing and nutritious dessert will be well received by all members of the family, particularly the younger generation.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Three Illinois women, one of them a Chicagoan, work on the largest telephone exchange in the Mediterranean theater of operations. WAC Corp. Adele V. Soltysik, 5121 Roscoe st.; Staff Sgt. Edna M. Borg, Springfield, and Corp. Anna Lee Welst, Rock Island, are on the large staff putting thru essential calls around the clock against a background of military drama.

The exchange is staffed entirely by WACs, almost all of whom were telephone operators in civilian life. Noncommissioned women act as supervisors and chief operators, while officers have charge of the exchange.

All the calls put thru by these women, who have a "speaking acquaintance" with famous military personnel, are part of the actual conduct of the war. The WACs wear the signal corps insigne, crossed flags. Many hope to remain with armies of occupation or to be transferred to Pacific theaters when the European conflict is over.

The rotational plan of granting furloughs to overseas army personnel will bring happiness soon to the family of WAC Corp. Harriet S. Simon, daughter of Abe M. Simon, 7749 Kingston av. Corp. Simon has been a secretary in the signal section at allied forces headquarters in Italy. Overseas for 21 months, she was a member of the first WAC company to leave the United States for foreign duty. She and the other 11 army women who have left for a month's furlough in this country expect to be returned to the Italian theater.

Wives of men killed or missing in action or who are prisoners of war yesterday left Chicago in a convoy of approximately 40 WAC recruits who will undergo basic training at Fort Des Moines, Ia.

Marjorie R. Japone, 21, of Springfield is replacing her husband in uniform. He was killed early this year. Cora M. Cheshire, 20, of 9241 S. Ada st., who was born in Buenos Aires, wants to become a WAC surgical technician. She speaks Spanish fluently. She enlisted to take the place of her brother, reported missing since November, 1942.

Irene M. Strauss' brother, George, a prisoner of the Germans, was shot down over Hanover in July, 1943. WAC Strauss' Chicago home is at 3416 N. Marshfield av.

Dorothy M. Eckberg, 20, of 6558 Stewart av., is following family tradition by going into uniform. Her father was in the navy for 20 years. Her stepfather and husband both are in the army.

A former member of the WAAC, Mary R. Roberts, 22, of 7007 S. Halsted st., also went in the contingent to Des Moines.

WAC Sgt. Dorothy R. Gisser, 2855 W. Nelson st., twice a medal winner in THE TRIBUNE'S Chicago Music Festivals, now is a drum major at the head of the United States 9th air force band in France.

The daughter of Mrs. Frank Gisser, a member of the WAC Mothers' club, Sgt. Gisser won 3d place in the Cook county senior baton twirling contest in 1941, and 2d place in the same contest in 1942. She also twirled batons at large exhibitions in Chicago in behalf of war bond drives.

Altho she spends some time performing on tour with the concert band and appearing before wounded men in general hospitals in Paris, Sgt. Gisser's job as a WAC is principally that of administrative clerk.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Baked Stuffed Apples.
[Serves six.]

6 large red apples of uniform size
1 cup chopped banana
1 cup cranberries
½ to 1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon [optional]
Finely chopped nutmeats.

Wash and core apples removing a little more than the usual amount of inside pulp. Combine remaining ingredients except nutmeats, using the large amount of sugar if apples are very tart. Fill apples with mixture and top with nutmeats. Bake in moderately hot [375 degrees] oven until apples are tender, about 35 minutes.

New Footwear of Gabardine Meets the Test

BY REA SEEGER.

The use of wool fabrics in the uppers and new materials in the soles are principal changes in the footwear being shown this week at the fall shoe convention.

Smooth and sturdy gabardine has been tried and tested now for use in all sorts of weather. Both street models and the so-called play shoes covered with this super-strong fabric have been tremendously successful. Seams are straight and smooth, and the material assures a slender outline. Tho only black, brown, and street shades have been exploited, next spring and summer's collections will feature color—everything from pastel pink to strong, brilliant shades in a dozen different hues. The best shopping news is that ration stamps are not needed, that is, on models made without leather soles.

Gabardine makes ideal street footwear for even the coldest weather. The specially treated wool fabric is water repellent and the wool content assures snug comfort without bulk. The texture is well known, the sheen is dull, and the finished results are very superior pumps, oxfords, and walk brogues.

Rehabilitation Plan Urged in Hospital Care

Civilian hospitals must be made into institutions of opportunity, Col. Howard A. Rusk, chief of the convalescent training division in the office of the air surgeon, declared last night at the 22d annual meeting of the National Society for Crippled Children in the Edgewater Beach hotel. He spoke at a dinner session.

The average patient suffers only 10 per cent of the time and is "bored to death" the remaining 90 per cent, he said.

"Let the hospital take its place in the community with programs for the convalescent patient, to aid in his orientation back to normal living," Col. Rusk urged. "Occupational therapy, pre-vocational therapy, and courses in languages, literature, and world orientation all can and should be incorporated into the hospital care of the ill and the handicapped. With such a program, bodies and minds will heal more quickly."

Col. Rusk had charge of the army air forces convalescent training program at its inception in November, 1942, at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. It was started for two reasons: to send the soldier back to duty in the best possible physical condition in the shortest time and to teach the soldier-patient something that would make him a better fighting man.

Col. Rusk reported that 40 million man hours of heretofore wasted time have been spent in physical and educational activities in army air forces hospitals, hospital readmissions have been reduced, and thousands of men have passed the air forces physical fitness test on their day of discharge from the hospital.

He cautioned civilians, in greeting the disabled returning veteran, to remember he is a man, not a casualty, and to use good manners and common sense. Too much sympathy and questioning prompted by curiosity must be kept out of receptions, he said.

Those at home must prepare themselves to greet not only disabled service men but also men who have faced combat without being wounded, Col. Rusk declared. They have lived at a high emotional pace and it will be some time before they again reach the normal peace time emotional level, he said.

He warned that women also are suffering from "operational fatigue," for they listen to newscasts, wait for letters, and expend much emotional energy in their anxiety for their husband, brother, or sweetheart who is serving overseas.

Col. E. W. Palmer of Kingsport, Tenn., has been reelected president of the National Society for Crippled Children. W. Watson House of Hartford, Conn., is vice president, and Eugene Conklin of Hutchinson, Kas., treasurer.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Your Next Boss.

A young woman quit a job five years ago to be married. She had been secretary to one of the top men of the firm, and, altho her leaving was mourned politely by her employer, secretly it was celebrated with delight by the other secretaries and stenographers, glad to be free of her highhanded domination.

A month ago, the young woman found it necessary to go back into business and applied for a position with the same company. In the meantime her former boss had gone; many of the younger men were in service, and the offices were "manned" by the girls. Several of her former feminine co-workers were in positions of authority, and one, who happened to be doing the interviewing, made it clear to the one time secretary that things were not the same. Pointing out that the only way possible to turn out the amount of work they were called upon to do was thru coöperation and consideration, the interviewer reminded the secretary she lacked both these qualities and had done a good deal of bullying when she was Mr. Top Man's secretary. The interviewer would take her as her own secretary—provided there was definite effort to coöperate with the other employes.

The secretary, chastened, sat down and wrote a letter to this desk. Sadder and wiser now, she thinks it important not merely to do a job well but to treat your co-workers well because, she adds, "one of them may turn out to be—your next boss!"

It Sticks in the Mind.

The inscription on the wing of a captured Nazi plane exhibited recently. It read: "Wellerstedt loves Lucille."

The appealing little lad at a child guidance clinic, reported by Social Worker. Asked why he let his big sisters boss him, he said plaintively, "'Cause I'm little and I don't know what to do." And haven't we all felt like that in the face of our own inadequacies!

The pint-size alert Dorcas Campbell, author of "Careers for Women in Banking and Finance," posing for a picture at the Edgewater Beach hotel during her Chicago visit. An Indiana gal, graduate of the University of Michigan, she is director of public relations for a New York bank. She believes women will hold their gains in the field of finance after this war more than after World War I.

A Lazy Daisy May Find Self Out of a Job

BY MAUREEN DALY.
[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

High school fellows and girls have done an admirable job in lending a hand to tide over the employment gaps left by the boys now in service. Many of them have worked on the double to fit in homework and extra work after school and Saturdays. And many of them haven't worked quite so hard simply because they didn't take their work seriously. Fellows and girls are needed, but remember—by volunteering to give your time and services for a definite price [paid to you in folding money] you're not doing any one a favor!

You're a cute kid, no doubt, but if you take a bored and blasé attitude some one else can be found to fill your place. Just because times are tough for employers and you can pick your spots, that doesn't make you Mrs. Astor, Eve Curie, and Lana Turner all rolled into one. You still have to learn to earn your money.

If some one is willing to pay a penny for your thoughts don't be too hasty to up them to half a dollar unless you are sure you're worth it. You can't expect to start off at a salary which it may have taken others five years of hard work to get! You may be the only applicant for a job now, but how will your chances stand when you have to compete for the same job against experienced and willing workers? Just because jobs are a dime a dozen now they won't be as easy to get for the rest of your working life.

And once that job is landed these days, remember, it's yours to have and to hold—and you won't be holding it long unless you really work hard. No loafing behind the counter, no giving the customer a brush-off just because you're too lazy to look for the stock, or, if you're working in a home, no sweeping the dust under the rug or feeding fudge to the baby!

You're not just holding this job till the right thing comes along, because taking a pay envelope for laziness and indifference is as dishonest as if you slipped that green stuff up your cuff from out of the cash register! Times have changed, and if you're not definitely needed at home on Saturdays and after school, get in there and start pitching. It's necessary for every one to give a hand, but be a good sport—use both hands!

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

UNPLEASANT REMINDER.

When Sgt. Abbott had departed Miss Silver opened the glass door into the garden and looked out. As she stood there the door in the wall was opened and Garth and Janice came thru.

Agreeably surprised, Miss Silver addressed herself to Janice.

"I was afraid that I would miss you. If it is not too late, I should be glad of a few words with you."

While she spoke she was aware that something must have occurred between these two young people. It was plain that they walked on air.

"Did you say you wanted to see me?"

"If you can spare the time," said Miss Silver, and carried her off.

When they were in the study and the door was shut, she said:

"I am afraid this may not be a very good moment, but there is no time to waste. Will you do your best—your very best, my dear—to recall just what Mr. Harsch said to you on that Tuesday evening. There may be something that we have missed. Just throw your mind back and tell me everything you can remember."

Janice looked at her with startled eyes. She felt a little dazed. Perhaps it was because of this that her answer did not meet the question. She said in a stumbling voice:

"I—don't—know. Miss Madoc said—but that wasn't on Tuesday——"

"What was not on Tuesday?"

"Something he said to Miss Madoc—but it was on Monday, after he was so late getting back from Marbury. I don't think I told you."

"What was it, Miss Janice?"

"Miss Madoc told me, and she spoke of it again today—she was telling her friend about it. She thought it was a warning. Mr. Harsch came back very late because he had missed the train which connects with the bus and he had had to walk from the Halt. Miss Madoc said he looked dreadful, and he said he had seen a ghost."

"Dear me!" said Miss Silver mildly. "And what did he mean by that?"

"I don't know. She didn't like to ask him, and he didn't say any more, but she thought he had seen something when he was coming across the fields, and she thought it was a warning."

"And did he say nothing to you?"

"I was working with Mr. Madoc. I didn't really see him till Tuesday evening."

"But on Tuesday evening, when he was talking to you—did he say nothing then?"

"He said he was talking about coming over here and making a new life when the old one had been destroyed. He said, 'You say such things are dead and buried and the door is shut—you think that it will never open again. And then all at once some day you find it is open and some one standing there like a ghost.' And then he said, 'But we will not talk of things like that—it is not good. You may come to fancy something that is not there, and to see your own thoughts. That is not good.'"

"What did you think he meant by that?"

"I thought something had reminded him of the things he did not want to remember. I said, 'Don't think about it any more,' and he said, 'No—it is not wise—and besides I am not sure.' Do you think that something happened when he was in Marbury—something that reminded him?"

Miss Silver said, "In Marbury—yes—" She paused and repeated. "In Marbury——" Then, very quickly, "Did he say any more than that?"

"Not after that. But before—O, when we were having tea, I think it was—I asked how he had got on, and he said, 'I missed my train, and so I missed my bus,' I said, 'How did you do that?' and he said, 'I could not make up my mind. That is a very bad fault. I thought I would have some tea because I was tired and thirsty, so I went into a bad hotel which is called the Ram, and I am no sooner in than I come out again, and I have forgotten all about my tea and I miss my train.' No, it was not when we were having tea—it was later on, after he had put thru his telephone call to Sir George. And then he went on to talk about coming away from Germany. He said it was like shutting a door and you thought it would never open again, but you couldn't be sure. He repeated that in rather an odd sort of way—'You can't ever be sure.'"

"Did he mention seeing any one he knew in Marbury?"

"He saw Bush—I do know that, tho it wasn't Mr. Harsch who told me. It was Mrs. Bush. She said Bush had gone over to see his sister who is married to an ironmonger in Ramford st. He said he saw Mr. Harsch, so I suppose Mr. Harsch saw him."

"Dear me!" said Miss Silver. "And is the Ram in Ramford st.?"

"Yes, it is—and very nearly opposite the shop. But quite a lot of Bourne people were in Marbury that afternoon. Miss Doncaster went over because some one told her you could get suet there, but she couldn't find any and she came back frightfully cross. And Mr. Everton was over, too. As a matter of fact he goes over quite often. They have all the best films, you know, and he is a tremendous fan. But how I know he was there on Monday is that Ida Mottram told me he got a new valve for her wireless."

"Yes, she told me that, too. And was Mr. Madoc also in Marbury."

Janice looked startled. She said, "O!" And then, "I don't know where he was."

"You mean that he was not at home?"

"No, he wasn't. He went out after lunch on his bicycle, and he didn't come home until well after 7."

"And the distance to Marbury is, I believe, no more than 20 miles by road—he could have been there?"

Janice said, "I suppose he could." And then, "But, Miss Silver, none of these people had anything to do with Mr. Harsch's past. I mean, he wouldn't have called any of them a ghost, would he? He wouldn't have meant any of them when he talked about an opening door."

"No, he wouldn't have meant any of them. But I think perhaps the door he spoke of opened in the Ram, and it is possible that one of them was there."

Sgt. Abbott escorted Miss Silver to Marbury next morning. They had a carriage to themselves. From her shabby handbag Miss Silver produced an envelope containing half a dozen snapshots, which she extracted and handed to him.

"Miss Brown has an excellent camera. I was so pleased to find that Miss Fell had these photographs. They are very good and clear, are they not? The first two were taken at the Mothers' Strawberry tea in the rectory garden. Bush has come out very well in the first photograph, but his wife had turned her head away. Miss Doncaster is very good in both of them. Then there are two excellent snapshots of Mr. Madoc. In one of them he is walking with Mr. Harsch. In the other he is conversing with Mr. Everton. It is really very good of them both, I am told. I have not had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Madoc as yet, but Miss Sophy informs me——"

"Yes, it's like him."

"And very like Mr. Everton. Most characteristic."

Screen Story of Guerrillas Is Well Acted

"UNDERGROUND GUERRILLAS."

A Columbia picture, directed by Sergei Nolbandov, with John Clements, Tom Walls, Rachel Thomas, Stephen Murray, Mary Morris, and Godfrey Tearle, and presented at the World Playhouse.

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Altho arriving rather belatedly—one wonders how many pictures in production will be left high and dry as the war moves on—"Underground Guerrillas" has some things to recommend it, besides the important mission of keeping before an easily forgetful public the memory of all that Nazi Germany has typified.

These guerrillas are Yugoslavs, and it is in the casting of Slavic types that the picture attains such moderate distinction as it enjoys. The plot pattern is conventional and familiar. Two sons of a sturdy peasant family are ardent patriots. One, Stephen Murray, is a surgeon, the head of a clinic in Belgrade; the other, John Clements, is an army officer married to a village school mistress, Mary Morris.

The Germans overwhelm the country, and the officer son flees to the hills to lead a band of guerrillas. The doctor remains at his post, ostensibly to collaborate with the enemy but actually to maintain contact with the patriots. When the German general—a good portrait by Godfrey Tearle—is wounded it is the doctor who removes the bullet. But he is not trusted too much, and when it becomes known that his brother is the guerrilla leader, the father and the brother's wife are both tortured in an effort to learn the rebel's whereabouts. The doctor and the father finally sacrifice their own lives to aid the cause.

The acting is reasonably good and the photography and settings somewhat above average. Nothing to go out of your way for, but not one to run from, either.

Stage Note

Betty Lawford and Hugh Marlowe of the Selwyn's "The Voice of the Turtle" will be guest speakers when the Publicity Club of Chicago meets at 12:30 p. m. today in the Morrison hotel. Meanwhile, the New York cast of the comedy announces Betty Field to replace Margaret Sullavan when Miss Sullavan steps out Dec. 18. That is the part played here by K. T. Stevens.

Play Cast to Be Guests of Friends of Drama

Members of the cast of "Over Twenty-One" and principals of other current Chicago plays have been invited by the Friends of Drama to a noon matinee breakfast today in the Mural room of the Bismarck hotel. Miss Mary Santi, singer, will give the breakfast program, after which the group will attend the matinee performance of "Over Twenty-One." Mrs. Carlyle Emery is chairman for the party, and assisting her as hostesses will be Mrs. T. C. Lemon, Mrs. George D. Gaw, Mrs. J. Fleming Stewart, and Mrs. A. Ver Brugghen.

Boston Singer Shows Promise in Debut Here

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Robert Hall Collins, who made his Chicago début in Orchestra hall last night, is a big baritone from Boston who may easily be going places. He has a robust voice of exceptional quality with the range, the potential resonance, and some of the flair for music drama that should head straight for opera. He also has a talent for choosing beautiful songs. But to exploit these prodigal gifts to the utmost he must discover a dependable method of using that voice to best advantage and he must ruthlessly uproot a tendency toward soft singing—soft in the sense of character, not dynamics—which can take the spinal drive right out of the greatest of songs, and can devitalize the most stirring aria.

Probably the best bit of singing Mr. Collins did all evening was the opening of Lully's "Bois Epais." It had somber beauty, superb placement, and the lovely arched line of projection which alone can do justice to the meeting of a fine voice and a beautiful song. It didn't last, but it was there, and it can become the habit rather than the exception of Mr. Collins' performance. His way with Peri's "Incovazione di Orfeo" was another success, distinguished for simplicity and stature. But Strauss' "Allerseelen," at its best an incandescent song of great emotional drive, was soggily done, and it fizzled out like a damp firecracker.

Altho Mr. Collins is potential opera material, his singing of "Eri tu" from "The Masked Ball" was little more than amateur Verdi. The voice was there, and it takes a real voice, but the dramatic line sagged along with the singer's jaw, which suddenly stiffened until he was singing back of a wall of his own building. He will have to come out into the musical open to reach his full success, but the promise is worth the effort. And in the struggle he will need a more professional accompanist than William Weston, who sometimes found the going difficult.

Bishop Magee Tells Methodist Plan for 25 Million Crusade

Bishop J. Ralph Magee, resident head of the Methodist area of Chicago, told at a press conference yesterday of an international 25 million dollar post-war "Crusade for Christ" program which he has been named by his denomination to head. The press conference, his first since his appointment here last July, was held in the Lake Shore club.

The crusade contemplates aggressive missions activities thruout the world, as well as church rehabilitation work in war torn countries and domestic development programs, Bishop Magee said. He also told of reorganization of work in Chicago, including the organization of the Chicago Methodist council and the creation of what virtually is a fourth administrative district in the city.

The council, Bishop Magee said, has authority to act in various interdenominational capacities, and the new district, headed by Dr. Aubrey S. Moore, has oversight of all aided congregations in the city's three regularly constituted administrative districts. Dr. Moore, a former district superintendent, is head of the Methodist Home Missionary and Church Extension society.

Woman's Republican Club to Hear Four Candidates

An open meeting of the Woman's Republican Club of Illinois, at 2:15 p. m. today on the mezzanine floor of the La Salle hotel, will bring as speakers Republican nominees Richard J. Lyons, for United States senator; John T. Dempsey, for state's attorney; Laddie T. Pelnar, for clerk of the Superior court for Cook county, and Patrick B. Prescott Jr., for associate judge of the Municipal court of Chicago. Mrs. Ethyl G. Kennedy will preside and introduce the candidates.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead, seven of hearts.

Sometimes a choice must be made between two distinct lines of play and the "percentage play" that is the one with the greatest probability of success should naturally be selected. At other times the campaign may be so mapped as to permit several lines of play in succession. That is, if one fails, there is still a chance for others. The attention of Mr. South is invited to this discourse.

South's four heart bid is a distinct stretch. Actually he gained nothing by his brashness, because had he bid only three, his partner would have been glad to proceed to game inasmuch as he had a very sound raise to two. The point is that North's raise might have been lighter in which case there would have been no sound play for game.

West opened a trump and declarer drew one more round. It appeared to him that everything depended on the location of the jack of spades, so he wasted no time in taking the finesse of the ten. When this failed he was down one. Declarer had overlooked several chances. Everything did not depend on the success of the spade finesse. First of all there was the remote chance that one defender held queen-jack-x of clubs in which case the ten could be established in dummy by ruffing once. Declarer's first play should have been the ace, king, and another club. When the two honors failed to drop he should ruff out the last club. The remaing trump is extracted and now the enemy is given the ball with a diamond. If West wins the second lead of that suit, it's all over but the shouting because he is obliged to lead into South's tenace in spades.

If East wins the second trick, as he should, he will lead a low spade presumably. South should play low. He is now home if East has either the nine or the jack. Note that if the lead is from the nine, it will take West's jack to force the queen, and if it is from the jack, the finesse of the 10 will work next time.

Foster Parent Usually Faces Difficult Task

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Becoming suddenly a mother is really a challenge to any woman. To have to rear a boy or a girl whom you haven't known until the age of 8, 9, or 10, is an important job well worth doing, but not an easy one.

Every so often a letter comes to me from an aunt, foster-mother, or a step-mother asking for help. One such letter follows:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Please send me some advice about what I have heard you refer to as, 'living with our inbetweens.' I have taken on a big job, that of raising my brother's 10 year old son. I'm at wits' end as to what should be expected of him, or what a boy of that age may leave undone. Would you please help me on these questions:

"What time should a boy of his age go to bed?

"Should he be able to listen to so many mystery programs, especially after bed time?

"How much spending money should he have, besides what it costs to send him to Cub Scouts and the Y. M. C. A.?

"What should I do when he deliberately disobeys?"

To answer these questions in detail would take much more than one day's article. Perhaps other mothers would be interested in reading the reply which I sent to this letter:

"This certainly is a tricky age even for a mother who has been 'on the job' since babyhood. So it is, of course, additionally difficult for you. However, I know that with lots of friendliness, patience, and reasonable firmness you will get results. I believe it also will help you to gain this lad's coöperation if you will sit down and talk some of these very problems out with him, in a sort of 'man to man' fashion.

"It is difficult to tell you how much spending money he should have because it all depends upon what he is supposed to use it for. I think he should be given enough so that outside of the actual necessities, such as car fare and school lunches, he has a little left to save for movies or something special he wants. In addition, I think there should be enough leeway to set aside something as regular savings for a bank. This last may be as little as 5 cents a week.

"For punishment, which I don't believe in at all in the ordinary sense of whipping, it is best at this age to expect a boy to forego something that he specially wants to do. For instance, if he is supposed to do certain chores before going out to baseball practice or to a movie, and he chronically neglects these things, it is only reasonable to come down hard once in a while and say that he will have to do without his baseball practice or his movie. I think that these suggestions will start other ideas flowing to help you with your problem."

Knitted Cardigan

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

A pretty knitted sweater makes an ideal Christmas gift, and this attractive, hand knitted cardigan has the front and sleeves done in an unusual, yet simple design, while the back is done in ribbing. The directions include sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20.

For instructions in knitting the cardigan sweater, No. 1030, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

2,400,000 Join Hospital Care Plans in 1944

In the first nine months of this year approximately 2,400,000 additional employed persons and members of their families joined Blue Cross hospital service plans sponsored by community hospitals, bringing the national total of members to 15,400,000, Dr. C. Rufus Rorem, director of the American Hospital association service plan commission, disclosed yesterday. Under the plan members make moderate annual payments which provide for the greater part of their hospital bills in advance.

Dr. Rorem said that about one person in every eight now pays his hospital bills in advance on a voluntary basis. Plans now are serving workers in 42 states, seven Canadian provinces, and Puerto Rico, he added.

The number of hospital plan members added in the first nine months of this year is equal approximately to the number added in the entire year of 1943. The enrollment in the third quarter of 1944 was 66,000, compared with 527,000 in the third quarter of last year.

In Chicago, 199,335 persons joined the Plan for Hospital Care in the first nine months, raising the total membership to 701,837, John R. Mannix, executive director of the plan, reported.

"The establishment of several new plans—in Indiana, Florida, and Arizona—and the extension of Blue Cross membership to more rural communities and self-employed urban residents are expected to boost the national increase for 1944 to more than 3,500,000 persons," Dr. Rorem said. "More than 94 per cent of the residents of the continental United States now live in states in which a Blue Cross plan operates."

Dr. Rorem said that more than 700,000 members of the military services continue to hold Blue Cross contracts in inactive form until they return to civilian life.

Of the 81 Blue Cross plans which pay hospital bills, he said, 17 are coördinated with medically sponsored plans which pay doctor bills in hospital cases.

Wedding News.

Because they were unable to obtain reservations in a New York hotel, Mrs. Horatio B. Hackett, Mrs. Charles W. McNear, and Mrs. Eugene B. Clark were forced to give up plans to attend the wedding in New York today of Maj. Stuart Prosser and Mrs. Robert K. Stafford. The ceremony will take place in the Park av. apartment of Mrs. Stafford's mother, Mrs. George D. Terry. Maj. Prosser, son of Mrs. William Adams Prosser of Highland Park, and his bride will live in the Churchill hotel. The McNears currently have a visitor from New York, Mrs. Howard A. Shaw, who will be with them until next week.

The marriage of Miss Carol Seng, daughter of the John F. Sengs of Evanston, and Lt. [j. g.] Robert Carmichael of the naval air forces, took place Oct. 21 in Deland, Fla. Miss Janice Seng was her sister's maid of honor. Lt. Carmichael, son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Carmichael, is instructing at the Deland naval air station following a year of sea duty. He and his bride are at home in Daytona Beach, Fla.

Miss Lois C. Venning, daughter of Mrs. Frank L. Venning and the late Mr. Venning of Highland Park, and Robert Cohlmeyer, son of the J. Carl Cohlmeyers of Overland Park, Kas., were married Oct. 14 in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church, with a supper following in the home of the bride's mother. The bride was given away by her uncle, Howard J. Venning of Glenn Ellyn, substituting for the bride's brother, Capt. Jack H. Venning, who is serving with the army air forces in England. Miss Frances Venning attended her sister. Mr. Cohlmeyer and his bride are at home near Kansas City, Kas.

Today's Events.

The first concert of the season by the Russian Trio will be given at 11:30 a. m. today in the Arts club under the sponsorship of the Chicago Chamber Music society. Mrs. Charles E. Brown is the society's new president. Some of those who have made reservations for luncheon following the concert are Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, and Mrs. Nathaniel Leverone.

A group of south siders will meet at the Quadrangle club for dinner tonight preceding Louis Bromfield's address, "Free Democracy Needs a Change of Administration," at 8:15 in Mandel hall on the University of Chicago campus. The meeting has been planned by Miss Naomi Donnelley and Mrs. Herbert H. Riddle, who will have Mr. Bromfield as her guest at dinner.

News of Births.

Word is on its way to Capt. John H. Fowler, stationed with the army somewhere in Europe, of the birth of a daughter, Judith Holden, Monday in the Evanston hospital. While her husband is overseas Mrs. Fowler, the former Joan Holden, is living with her mother, Mrs. Richard Roy Holden, in Highland Park. Dr. John Henry Fowler of Moline, Ill., is Judith's paternal grandfather.

Mrs. John Boylston's latest great-grandchildren were occupants of the Evanston hospital nursery at the same time. The second son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boylston Gleason [Patricia Butler] of Glencoe was born Oct. 18 in the hospital and named John Patrick, the second name for his maternal grandfather, the late Patrick Butler, whose birthday anniversary he shares. Three days later Lt [j. g.] and Mrs. John Boylston [Patricia Harshaw] became the parents of a daughter, Susanne. While Lt. Boylston is overseas his wife and baby will stay with her parents, the Myron Harshaws, whose other daughter, Mrs. Richard L. Clark, also is with them while Lt. [j. g.] Clark is abroad. Lt. Boylston's mother, Mrs. John L. Clarkson, and Comdr. Clarkson are living in New Orleans, La., while he is serving with the navy there.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 31.—"The Lost Week-End" will boast about 7,000 feet of drinking film. Most of the New York shots were done on the Q. T. with a camera concealed in packing cases, laundry trucks, etc. There's a shot of the receiving entrance at Bellevue hospital at 5 a. m. That should be pretty gruesome. New Yorkers bumped into Ray Milland as he was lurching down the street; some bawled him out, others just looked at home and didn't recognize him. During the time the picture takes place Milland drinks 54 straight shots for his social drinking at bars, 11 quarts and two pints for private drinking. Billy Wilder has had letters from the W. C. T. U. damning the picture, another from the brewers' organization asking about it. All are wondering how it will affect the drinkers of the country and the sale of liquor. On the other hand, Alcoholics Anonymous, an informal organization of ex-drinkers, believes the picture will do much good in cutting down excess drinking.

Straws in the Wind?

Have you noticed how many producers are being dropped by Warners? I don't believe they even know that Warners intend to produce only 15 pictures next year. Could Jack have gotten some inside information when he was back in Washington? Well, they had 24 producers listed, and if you make only 15 pictures, you certainly don't need that many brass hats. . . . Every studio in town is talking with Henry Blanke because his contract is up at Warner's. I think he's outlasted every person on that lot. He's been with them for 22 years. Started as Ernst Lubitsch's assistant. Has never made a picture any place else. But, before he makes his decision, he'll give Jack Warner a chance to make a deal. They were to have had a huddle before Jack left for the east, but Henry's mother died Oct. 4 and he didn't feel like talking with anybody.

O, What Fun to Play Hookey.

The other day Bill Seiter couldn't find Joan Fontaine for a scene in "Affairs or Susan. She finally was discovered on a set near-by where Bob Benchley was making a short about boogie-woogie, and there she was with her back to the camera, jitterbugging with the rest of them. Now the studio's scared pink that David Selznick will want an extra check for her services. . . . Judy Garland doesn't sing in "The Clock," but Jimmy Gleason, who doesn't sing, will. He plays a milkman. . . . Donald Cook, who got Maria Montez in "Bowery to Broadway," gets Martha O'Driscoll in "Here Come the Co-eds," with Abbott and Costello. . . . R. K. O. wants two leading men for Laraine Day in "Those Endearing Young Charms." It would like Bob Young and Dana Andrews. Who wouldn't? . . . Marjorie Rambeau has been added to "Salome, Where She Danced" cast. . . . Sterling Holloway goes into "A Walk in the Sun," his first picture since being discharged from the army. It's not a comedy role. He plays a first aid man and wants to do serious roles from now on. . . . Because he likes Al Pearce's work in "Hitch-Hike to Happiness," Herb Yates has given Al a better part in his next, which will be "Night Train to Memphis." . . . Wonder why 20th Century got the Andrews Sisters to do that sensational bit of comedy in the picture version of "Winged Victory." It was the best thing in the show when done by three boys on the stage. Even the Andrew Sisters couldn't look that funny.

This and That.

Loretta Young got the bargain of the year when she paid $35,0000 cash for Connie Bennet's magnificent home. She also bought the Ambassador apartments on Wilshire blvd. for $150,000 cash. . . . Linda Darnell likes her maid, Hazel, but Hazel likes her name in print. And, says Linda, "I guess I'll have to get her a publicity agent in order to keep her." . . . I never knew before that Xavier Cugat toured with Enrico Caruso for five years. . . . Harry James hates flying but is so eager to get back to Betty Grable and the baby that he's trying to get a plane reservation home.

Local Boy Makes Good.

Bob Graham, a local 19 year old baritone, certainly is getting the breaks. He was signed to a long termer at Paramount and given a bit in "Duffy's Tavern." Ed Gardner likes him so much he'll do the singing on his show. And now he's got a part in "Week-End at the Waldorf." . . . Diana Lynn goes to Wellesley because they're going to give a shindig in her honor. She'll be met by Emily Kimbrough, who once upon a time was a pupil there. . . . Mary Beth Hughes, Marjorie Reynolds, and Ann Howard will serve as "waitresses" for 1,000 convalescent service men from Birmingham hospital who will be Pop De Lucia's guests of honor when his new Hollywood eatery opens next week. . . . Frances Langford arrived in a ward at Oak Knoll naval hospital, Oakland, just after Navy Flyer James Dunnagan of Long Beach had the cast removed from his arm. By way of celebration she sang "Embraceable You" for him. . . . Chill Wills, who with a bunch of boys has finished doing a streamlined version of "See Here, Private Hargrove" for our boys overseas, wants to turn right around and go back. . . . S. Z. Sakall, who owns a home in Hungary, was happy to learn that it is intact after being occupied by Nazi officers—who are out of it.

Thru the Looking Glass

Feel yourself getting a little thick about the waist line? Then start exercising—but promptly. There is no spot easier to reduce and by the same token there's no more noticeable bulge that can be added to the figure. An extra inch or two about the belt line can throw a sylphlike silhouette out of focus and with the new fashions, it's hard to camouflage the defect.

The cut of the latest gowns and the new, spectacular notes in belts and midriff trims call attention to the waist line so that an extra little roll of flesh in this area simply won't do. The bulgy waist line can't be a thing of beauty, and when it's high-lighted with jeweled belts or a bright colored ribbon, the result is pretty sad. More discouraging, the bulges make a woman feel dumpy and take away that feeling of youthful suppleness we gals cherish so dearly.

The exercises you choose to taper the waist line needn't be strenuous, but they have to be performed faithfully to be of any use. Even so simple an exercise as putting the arms on the hips and bending the trunk forward slowly from the waist, straightening up and bending backward, going forth an back about five times will help keep the waist line under control if it is performed daily.

The value of good posture in maintaining a trim midriff shouldn't be overlooked. Many of us let ourselves sag in the middle, practically resting our ribs on our hipbones so that the flesh in between ripples out in a "spare tire." Straightening the spine, and standing tall will do much to eliminate the thick look of the waistline and the entire silhouette will be immeasurably improved.

And if you'd make doubly sure that your waist line will be trim and stay that way, try passing up that second helping of potatoes or that extra rich dessert.

LOUISE DOOLEY.

REVAMPED HAWKS BATTLE RANGERS TONIGHT

WILDCATS JUMP GUN IN DRILLS FOR GOPHERS

Players Cut Short Their Leaves.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern university's football squad resumed practice yesterday for its game Saturday at Minnesota. The Wildcats, most of whom are navy trainees, have vacationed since last Wednesday between terms and while classes will not be resumed until this morning, the boys cut short their leaves to put in an extra afternoon preparing for the Gophers.

Ben Schadler.

As usual, the annual game between Minnesota and Northwestern is important. However, for the first time since Lynn Waldorf assumed command at Northwestern and for the first time since the start of the Bernie Bierman regime in 1932, the importance of the football engagement is not based on the outcome of Big Nine race. Neither Northwestern nor Minnesota has won a conference game altho, in recent weeks, each has performed creditably and with evidence of steady improvement.

Better Than Records Show.

Since Iowa, with four defeats and no victories, meets Nebraska this week in nonconference competition, the loser at Minneapolis will share the Big Nine cellar with the Hawkeyes. The mathematics of the conference standings do not reflect the caliber of the annual game between the Gophers and Wildcats.

Last week Minnesota outgained Ohio State but lost to the conference leaders principally because it has no such climax runner as Les Horvath, the Buckeyes' right half back. In the Northwestern-Indiana game, the Wildcats' last appearance, Northwestern spotted Indiana two touchdowns in the first half and then completely outplayed the Hoosiers in the final periods, losing, 14 to 7. The Wildcats also have been nosed out by Wisconsin, 7 to 6, and beaten by Michigan.

Ten Northwestern players have been lost by navy transfer for this game and two more will depart after Saturday, Earl Crum, first year tackle from Rawlings, Wyo., and Alan Wierman, from Waldo, Wis., are permitted to play a final game at Minneapolis. Both are V-12 students.

Sickels to Be Ready.

The more important losses for Saturday are Bill Roper from Napa, Cal., who had became the No. 2 left half back for the Wildcats, and Jim Meulendyke, second choice at full back. Meulendyke, a reserve, has been called for air training.

Northwestern hopes to present its entire first line cast against the Gophers. In particular, Dick Conners of Chicago and Larry Savage are expected to take part in the game at right half back. Conners, who is Northwestern's best kicker, may get the starting assignment, altho Henry Altepeter, who held the position against Indiana, turned in a splendid game.

Duane Sickels, veteran end, who was injured in the last game, will be ready for Minnesota. Sickels easily is the most proficient receiver for Yungwirth's passes. Most important addition, however, is Ben Schadler, quarter back, who was injured before the opening game. He made his first appearance against Indiana and threw the pass for the Wildcats' touchdown. He has now fully recovered and this strengthens the Wildcats' air attack.

HOPPE, COCHRAN TO FINISH TITLE DUEL IN CHICAGO

Willie Hoppe of New York, world three cushion billiard champion, will defend his title against Welker Cochran of San Francisco, a former champion, in a challenge match to be played in four cities starting Nov. 8, the Billiard Association of America announced yesterday.

The 1,000 point match will open in Kansas City, where games will be played afternoon and evening thru Nov. 11. The balance of the schedule follows: St. Louis, Nov. 13, 14, and 15; Detroit, Nov. 16, 17, and 18; Chicago, Nov. 20 thru Nov. 25.

Hoppe has been confined to a Chicago hospital for a week recovering from an intestinal disorder which developed after his good-will billard tour of Mexico and Central America.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THAT man you saw putting in storm windows on the second story of a Wilmette residence the other day was Will Harridge, president of the American league. . . . Will's hired man, after taking care of the first story installation, demurred at the altitude, so he held the ladder while Will finished the job. . . . In 1924, Walter Johnson, pitching his first world series game for the Senators against the Giants, had hundreds of admirers who wanted the best seats in the park. . . . He bought boxes as a favor, but the ones who had ordered them begged off leaving Walt with $324 worth of unused stubs. . . . That was the game he lost, 4 to 3, on a pair of cheap home runs while striking out 12 batters. . . . Ray Impellettiere, who, at 6 feet 7½ inches, was taller than Primo Carnera, suffered no ill effects from his ring career. . . . Ray is manager of the New York branch of a big tire company and is doing quite well. . . . In his fighting days he was flattened by Carnera and Bob Pastor. . . . Maj. Mike Mikulak of the army M. P.s, former Oregon full back, is provost marshal in Naples. . . . He has been overseas two years. . . . Ed McKeever, Notre Dame coach, financed his way thru Texas Tech by selling rattlesnake skins. . . . "It was the most lucrative job I ever had," Ed recalls. "All it cost me was a dime for salt to cure the skins. My equipment was a rake, and, brother, there were plenty of rattlers down there in Texas. I'd go out with the rake and catch as many as a hundred in a day, cure the pelts, and make belts out of them. Those belts would sell at a buck apiece." . . . George Senneff is coaching his 25th football team at Moline [Ill.] High school. . . . The biggest score ever run up by a Georgia Tech eleven was 222 to 0 over Cumberland in 1916. . . . The star for the losers was George Allen. . . . He sparkled by losing only 9 yards in an attempted end run. . . .

Columbia university has a freshman guard named John Begosh. . . . Lou Boudreau was the fifth Cleveland Indian to win the American league batting title. . . . The others were Larry Lajoie, Elmer Flick, Tris Speaker, and Lew Fonseca. . . . Since Coach Frank Murray introduced the T formation at the University of Virginia, his teams have played 30 games and scored 583 points, an average of 19 per game. . . . Pvt. Frank Crespi, former Cardinal, who suffered a broken leg in an army game last summer, got into a wheel chair race in the corridor of a Topeka hospital recently, crashed into a wall, and fractured it again. . . . Line Coach Clarence Munn of Michigan can outpunt any player on the Wolverine squad. . . . Michigan State's gridiron schedule has a feline tinge. . . . It includes the Scranton Tomcats and the Kentucky and Kansas State Wildcats. . . . Lt. [j. g.] Joe Zeller, former Indiana university, Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bear football star and Navy V-12 athletic chief specialist at Marquette university, has gone to sea as commander of an armed guard unit on a merchant ship.

The Bare Facts.

The Wake's percentage of correct picks for last week's major football games was .730, based on 27 winners, 10 losers, and two ties. The figures follow:

This cross of mine—I pray Thee, God,
Help me so carry it
That others all along the way
May, looking, be more fit
To bear their own. I would not stay
Forever 'neath its weight;
But, with Thy help, will manage it
Until I reach Thy gate!

A Soldier's Dream.

[By V-Mail.]

What a weird dream I had last night! Can't get it out of my mind.

It was 1950, and three ex-soldiers were sauntering aimlessly down Main street. They were talking very seriously about something. As they drew near, I heard one say, "I'd like to have a dollar for every shot I heard during the year."

The young man in the middle sighed and remarked, "I'd like to have a dollar for the ones I thought were going to hit me."

The third man looked neither to right nor left as he spoke thru tight lips, "I'd like to have a dollar."

What a nightmare! I'm certainly glad my Uncle Samuel won't let this one come true. —Baron.

RAISE $740,000 FOR CHARITY AT ILLINOIS TRACKS

Total for Year Will Grow Next Week.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Illinois race tracks have raised more than $740,000 thus far this year for war relief and charity, Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, chairman of the Illinois state racing board, said yesterday. The statement was made at a meeting of the board, which voted to thank the racing associations of the state for their coöperation. The total will be increased considerably next week, when Sportsman's Park will act as agent for The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in presenting a charity week at the Cicero half-mile track.

The associations which have cooperated in the year's charity efforts are the Arlington Park, Washington Park, and Lincoln Fields Jockey clubs; the Chicago Businessmen's Racing association, operator of Hawthorne; the National Jockey club, operator of Sportsman's Park, all in the Chicago area, and the Fairmount Race Track association of Collinsville.

The year's chief contribution, $400,800.04, accrued during the five days of racing sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. at Washington Park last summer.

Help Finance Veterans' Center.

For the last three years the racing associations have contributed to the Illinois Veterans' Services, Inc. This association, of which Gov. Green is chairman, has concerned itself with the rehabilitation of disabled veterans of the present war, particularly those suffering from mental illness and others who are not eligible for treatment and training by the veterans' administration at federal expense.

The veterans' rehabilitation center at 2449 W. Washington blvd., made possible by the contributions from these racing associations, will be dedicated Friday. Dr. Harry A. Hoffman, state psychiatrist, will preside and short addresses will be made by Gov. Green, Dr. Herman Kretschmer, president of the American Medical association; Dr. Alfred P. Solomon, and Col. William C. Potter, director of the school of military neuropsychiatry in Brentwood, N. Y.

More Help From Sportsman's

Sportsman's Park will contribute the net proceeds of Friday and Saturday's programs to charity. The National Jockey club's welfare fund will be the beneficiary.

The announcement was made yesterday by President John L. Keeshin who said that all receipts over actual operating expenses will go into the fund and the officers of the track will donate their services. The same procedure will be followed during the running of the Tribune-sponsored charity meeting which opens Monday and closes the Chicago racing season on Saturday, Nov. 11.

Foresees Successful Charity Week.

The Sportsman's Park meeting has been the best in the history of the track. The daily betting average is more than $750,000 and the attendance in excess of 11,000 daily. Such backing by the lovers of the sport, says President Keeshin, portends an additional contribution to charity next week which may exceed the $185,321.97 raised during the track's added week of racing last fall.

A crowd of 9,955 took advantage of pleasant weather and the track's invitation to women patrons yesterday and wagering continued apace. The mutuel handle for the day was $704,754.

Daily Double Hits $351.40.

Long shot bettors received their rewards early, as Merry Bid, an 11 to 1 shot, ridden by Ken Robertson, beat Royal Minuet, another outsider, in the first race, and Chance Tea, with Jack Jessop aboard, took the second at 6½ to 1. Merry Bid paid $23.80 and Chance Tea, $15.60. The daily double was worth $351.40.

Jockey Andy Lo Turco, who had the mount on Brilliant Hope in the second race, suffered a broken collarbone when his horse stumbled on the turn out of the back stretch.

Louis to Box Exhibition Bout Friday in Detroit

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31 (AP).—Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, arrived today for a week's furlough visit with the home folks, and one of his first acts was to sign the papers for a three round exhibition Friday with Johnny Denson. The bout will be an added feature of the show headed by Jack LaMotta-George Kochan fight.

SCOTT RETAINS BOWLING CROWN IN KALAMAZOO

Eddie Scott, the Kalamazoo, Mich. tenpin practitioner, yesterday became one of the old settlers in the All-Star individual match game tournament by winning the Kalamazoo Gazette's battle for the city singles title. It was the third consecutive year in which Scott had captured the crown and made him the Michigan city's candidate in bowling's world series, to be conducted by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in the Auditorium Service Men's Center from Dec. 2 thru 10.

Scott averaged 197 for the 45 game elimination in Kalamazoo, scoring 213 points on the Petersen system. His closest pursuers, as was the case last year, were Charley Treat, with 197.02 points, and Leo Muryne, with 196.86.

Seek Qualifying Berths.

Jerry Hagan of the Gazette, who was in charge of the Kalamazoo trials, is only one of several sports editors thruout the country conducting similar trials. Other papers cooperating with the event include the San Francisco Chronicle, the Philadelphia Record, the Terre Haute Tribune and the Nashville Tennessean.

Meanwhile, Chicago is currently engaged in determining its qualifiers for the big show at five centers. The leaders in these, together with their addresses and operators, follow:

BOWLING LANES, 8221 Broadway, Ralph Olsen and Jack Samuelson. Leader—Carl Berger, 672.

CASCADE BOWLING CENTER, 3825 W. Madison st., Lloyd Wevang. Leader—Ted Lewon, 695.

GARDEN RECREATION, 4074 Milwaukee av., Mike Hechinger and Lyman Bolger. Leader—Norman Nelson, 675.

PARK MANOR BOWLING CENTER, 100 E. 75th st., Dominic De Vito. Leader—Joe Gasparo, 621.

ROSE BOWL, 11517 S. Michigan av., Paul Young. Leader—Bob De Young, 668.

All Bowlers Eligible.

Any bowler is eligible to compete in the Chicago tests. Only requirements are the payment of $2 and bowling for each three game, total pin series, and the rule that no man shall bowl a succeeding series on the same pair of alleys as its predecessor. The top eight men in each of the five centers will be sent into round robin match play competition after the last total pin sets are rolled, as of 11:55 p. m., Nov. 16. The round robin will be rolled on Nov. 18 and 19, with each man meeting his seven rivals in as many four game blocks, all based on the Petersen point system.

This afternoon and evening, Day will carry on the free bowling school he has been conducting for THE TRIBUNE since Oct. 12 at the Milo Weisner recreation, 823 W. 35th st., where his match play opponent will be Marlowe Thompson. Tomorrow Ned will go on to Eddie Oakes' Major recreation, 2912 W. Cermak rd., and on Nov. 12, he will conclude the school with an evening session at Richard Roush's Samuelson arcade, 3947 N. Pulaski rd., with a match against Frank Kartheiser.

Lambeau Cracks Information Line in Bears-Packers Quiz

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Later in the week the reading matter which follows would not be available from Curly Lambeau, because along about this time of the week preceding a football game with the Bears, the Green Bay head man scarcely speaks even to his mother, so deep is his concentration.

Lambeau was reaching for the phone in his suburban Green Bay ranch house last night to call Scout Eddie Kotal for up-to-the-last-play information on the Bears when he got this call from Chicago.

It was apparent that Curly would rather be talking to Kotal, who scouted the Bears Sunday when they beat the Rams, or continue sitting in his easy chair by the fireside and plan the strategy for Sunday's contest with the Chicagoans in Wrigley field.

Pays Tribute to Luckman.

But always gracious, he agreed to engage in a quiz contest, which went something like this:

Q.—What is the difference in your preparations for the Bears than against other teams?

LAMBEAU—I would say that we follow the same general pattern for all games—unless the Bears have Sid Luckman—whom, I understand, they will have for Sunday's game. Luckman is a great passer and a still greater field general and I'm telling you that we got awful tired up here waiting for Sid to leave for the service while reading about the McAfees, Standlees, Osmanskis, Artoes, and Stydahars going off to war. This Luckman is the Bears' most valuable man and I'm including all those who have gone away in the last two or three years. With him in there it means we'll have to do a lot more planning than otherwise, even tho I always say you must be at your physical and mental best to beat any Bear team, whether it's up or down in the race.

Rates 1941 Game Tops in Series.

Q.—What do you think has been the greatest game in the series?

LAMBEAU—Gosh, there have been so many! All of 'em have been pretty hot. I guess maybe the one that gave me the biggest thrill was that one in November, 1941, when we beat the greatest Bear team of all time, 16 to 14. We had everything that day.

Q.—Do you recall the first game played between the Bears and Packers back in 1921?

LAMBEAU—Yeh, sure do. I played right half that day in Chicago and my old friend, George Halas, was at end for the Bears. As I remember it, they beat us, 20 to 0. [Right, Curly, the record book bears you out]. They had lots more stuff than we did that day.

Q.—What have your scouts told you about the Bears' Al Grygo who gained almost 150 yards against the Rams?

LAMBEAU—That was going to be my first question when I talked to Kotal. The young man must be pretty good and I suppose Ray McLean will be all rested up, too. [Right again, Curly, the Bears are figuring on the Scooter more than a little].

Trafton Has No Slogan.

Q.—How is your line coach, Mr. George Trafton, behaving? Has he got a slogan for this game against his old team?

LAMBEAU—Nope. George is just like the rest of us. We're all working hard. Got two workouts tomorrow. Then we'll have long single ones Thursday and Friday, loosen up Saturday morning, and come into Chicago that evening.

Q.—How about Roy McKay, your hard luck rookie half back from the University of Texas?

LAMBEAU—It looks like maybe Roy will finally get a chance to play his first pro game Sunday. We'll make our final decision after watching him run tomorrow. If he's ready, he'll go on the active list, which means that Tony Canadeo may not play. If we used both McKay and Canadeo, we'd have to drop some one from the squad. And since Tony's furlough soon will be up, we can't afford to release any one who might help us clinch the western title and play in the league championship game against the eastern winner.

Seek First Sweep Since 1935.

If the Packers win Sunday it will be the first time they've swept a season series from the Bears since 1935. That year they won by scores of 7 to 0 and 17 to 14.

Wrigley field gates were locked yesterday and lookouts posted as the Bears started preparing for the game. Today Tipp Mopney will be fitted with a special pad to protect his injured shoulder. Its construction is such that the force of a blow on that spot is transferred to a lower region. Ray McLean still is a rubbing table case, with Trainer Andy Lotshaw trying to rub the soreness out of his left leg.

BASEBALL MEN ASSEMBLE FOR DRAFT MEETING

A sprinkling of major league baseball officials arrived in Chicago yesterday for the annual draft meeting to open this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the office of Commissioner K. M. Landis, altho the judge will not be present for the bidding ceremonies because of illness.

Early arrival included Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants, Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics; Lou Boudreau, Cleveland Indians; Bill De Witt, St. Louis Browns, and Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs. Harry Grabiner will represent the White Sox and George Weiss is expected to act for the New York Yankees.

The White Sox who finished seventh in the American league race will have fourth choice of players today since the team that finished last in the National league is entitled to first and Washington, the eighth place dweller in the American league getting the second choice. The selections alternate thereafter.

General Manager James T. Gallagher of the Cubs and Grimm will both attend the meeting and the former announced last night that the Cubs are more than mildly interested in new talent. Grabiner, too, is hopeful of coming out of the meeting with material that might strengthen the White Sox.

Hagg, Andersson Decline Invitation to Run in U. S.

New York, Oct. 31 (AP).—Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the National A. A. U., received a radiogram from the Swedish Amateur Athletic association today in which Gunder Hagg and Arne Andersson, Swedish milers, declined an invitation to visit the United States during the indoor track season. The message gave no reason but said a letter of explanation was being mailed.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

It's a trifle early for a hockey manager to become irked, but the usually genial Paul Thompson, manager of the Chicago Blackhawks, has indicated that he was none too happy about that 11 to 5 trimming the Toronto Maple Leafs handed his young men last Sunday. As a result Mr. T.'s peeve has taken the form of an abrupt shuffling of lineups for this evening's battle with the New York Rangers in the Chicago Stadium. A crowd of 12,000 is expected.

Time was, like last season, when the Rangers were looked upon as a soft touch when they wound up at the bottom of the National Hockey league heap. Now comes Frank Boucher, the visitors' coach, who used to play a lot of center for the Rangers in the days of the Brothers Cook and Ching Johnson, to state that his 1944-'45 team is no longer a basement eligible. The Rangers proved they mean it this semester by holding the Leafs to a 2 to 1 victory on Toronto ice.

Purpur Gets a Chance.

Thompson is going to present a new line in Lude Check, Harvey Fraser, and Fido Purpur, and a defense replacement in Red Mitchell. Check, a Winnipeg youth, played with the Quebec Aces last year, the same team which won the Allan cup, emblematic of the world's amateur hockey championship. He has been loaned as a left wing from the cup-defending champions, the Montreal Canadiens. With him, on the borrowing setup, is Wilf Field, veteran defense man, who is expected to arrive in time for Sunday's game against Boston.

The Rangers, who used to scare the daylights out of Chicago fans in the Cook-Boucher-Johnson era, last year smashed all league records for being scored against. In spite of their unhappy record, they are going along with Ken McAuley, the courageous young man who saw that puck fly by him 310 times in the 1943-'44 campaign.

Shore Sends Up Three.

Bolstering Kenneth is a quartet of defense men including Ott Heller, still rated the headiest man on the New York squad; Bob Dill, a man who occasionally digresses from hockey to fisticuffs; Bucko McDonald, the rotund one who used to play for the Detroit Wings and the Leafs, and Hank Goldup, a converted forward.

Up front, the Rangers have four forward acquisitions, three of them from the Buffalo club, now operated by Eddie Shore, a fellow who made hockey history over the league in his playing time. The quartet consists of Center Fred Thurier, Right Wing Fred Hunt, Right Wing Ants Atanas, and Right Wing Hal Cooper. The first three named played with the team which won the American league pennant last season and Cooper is from Providence.

Last season the Rangers and Hawks met 10 times, Chicago winning seven against the Rangers' one, with the other two ending in deadlocks. Thru those 10 games, 99 goals were registered, which fact should promise a deal of scoring this evening. Those 99 were broken up, 58 to 41, in favor of the Hawks.

PETE CAWTHON'S AIDS TAKE OVER BROOKLYN CLUB

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 31 (AP).—Ed Kubale, former head football coach at Centre college, and Frank Bridges, one-time head coach at Baylor university, were named co-coaches of the Brooklyn Tigers of the National Football league today by Tom Gallery, general manager.

They succeed Pete Cawthon, who resigned yesterday. Both started the season as Cawthon's assistants. Their new contracts run only for the remainder of the present season.

Gallery said he spoke to Capt. Dan Topping, owner of the club now outside of the continental United States with the marine corps, last Wednesday and that Topping suggested if Cawthon offered his resignation it should be accepted and the assistant coaches promoted.

Del Bissonette Succeeds Sheehan as Braves' Coach

Boston, Mass., Oct. 31 (AP).—Tom Sheehan today resigned as Boston Braves' coach and Del Bissonette of Winthrop, Me., manager of the Hartford club in the Eastern league, was signed immediately to replace him, the Braves announced today.

WISCONSIN HIT BY LOSS OF TWO LINE REGULARS

Schwartz Ineligible and Bahlow Transferred.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 31 [Special].—Coach Harry Stuhldreher today announced that Ed Bahlow, right end, and John Schwartz, left tackle, both regulars on the University of Wisconsin football team, will be unavailable for the remainder of the season. Bahlow, a naval trainee, has been transferred and Schwartz failed in his classwork.

Also gone for the remaining games are Tom Ryan, a freshman guard who enlisted in the navy; Charles Halverson, an end who has been ordered to drop the sport due to a shoulder injury of last summer, and Bob Fick, a reserve center and naval trainee who also has been shifted.

John Davey, veteran guard, will be acting captain for the Purdue game Saturday.

The Badgers were sent thru a surprise scrimmage today, with Allen Shafer returning to quarter back on the first eleven and Jim Ackeret at right half in place of the injured Joe Campbell. Martin Meyer was at left tackle and Wray George at injured Nick Collias' post.

PURDUE REBUILDS TEAM.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 31 [Special].—Reorganization of Purdue's football squad, depleted by V-12 transfers and injuries, was started today as the Boilermakers opened drill for the homecoming game with Wisconsin here Saturday.

Six out of the eight men who normally constituted the first two Boilermaker back field combinations were absent as the coaches started their reconstruction task. Bob [Stormy] Pfohl, promising freshman from Goshen, took over for Chalmers Elliott and Stan Dubicki, transferred veterans, at left half back, while Ray Schultz, ace quarter back, who will be transferred for further training after the Badger battle, was the lone player in his normal position.

CHECK INDIANA OFFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 31 [Special]. — Indiana's football team sharpened up its offense today. Running plays against Ohio State formations used by the third team, the first and second teams also got a workout on defenses to be used against the Buckeyes' T and single wing formations. The Hoosiers will meet Ohio State in Columbus Saturday.

OHIO AT FULL STRENGTH.

Columbus, O., Oct. 31 [Special].—Ohio State began intensive work on defense today for the game with Indiana here Saturday.

Hoosier T formations were demonstrated by the third and fourth quads with the varsity doing a good job on solving them.

Several new plays were given to the Ohio squad and, for the first time in three weeks, every member of the squad was in uniform.

SEAHAWKS IN CONDITION.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 31 [Special].—The Iowa Seahawks hustled thru a spirited combination offensive defensive drill here today in preparation for Saturday's invasion of the University of Tulsa for what Pre-flight coaches feel will be the hardest game remaining on the schedule. Added respect for Saturday's foe stems from the fact that the Seahawks will be inferior in age and experience as well as weight. Tulsa's eleven averages 23 years of age and 193 pounds.

The Cadets expect to be in top condition, with the knee injuries of Alex Kapter and T. S. Ary progressing satisfactorily along with Charlie Woodward's charlie horse. Bon Gerstenberger remained the only doubtful player when it was announced Bon Rerleth, absent since the Second Air Force game, would be ready for a tackle post.

ILLINI GROOM TACKLES.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 31 [Special].—Both Lester Joop, reserve tackle, and Chuck Smith, first string guard, were being groomed today as possible replacements for Don Janssen at tackle in the Illinois lineup. Janssen is to join the army next week, three days before the Illinois game at Michigan. The Illini have an open date Saturday.

Joop subbed for Janssen at tackle against Notre Dame last week. Smith started the season as the regular at that spot, then shifted to guard when Coach Ray Eliot sought more weight in the line. The coaching staff is emphasizing Smith's dual assignment now, so he can play either position.

When Smith is at tackle, Rudy Macchione, Chicago, or Ken Siegel, Belleville, may play guard.

LIST 20 GAME SCHEDULE FOR ILLINI QUINTET

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 31 [Special]. — A 20 game basketball schedule was announced today for the University of Illinois by Douglas R. Mills, athletic director and basketball coach. The schedule features three games with Great Lakes, one here, one in the Chicago stadium, and one at the naval center. The Indiana series, last played in 1942, is resumed with two games. A game at Chanute is yet to be dated. The schedule:

MICHIGAN GETS ROPER, EX-N. U. BACKFIELD STAR

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 31 [Special]—Needed strength was added to Michigan's back field today with the arrival on the campus of William Roper, navy V-12 trainee transferred here from Northwestern university. Roper, 6 feet, 170 pound half back from Napa, Cal., played against Michigan in the Wildcat game here two weeks ago. He has appeared very little with Northwestern this year because of injuries suffered early in the season.

The Wolverines concentrated on offensive formations today as Coach Fritz Crisler prepared his team for Saturday's clash with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Lund to Do Punting.

Much of this afternoon's drill session was devoted to working Don Lund and Ralph Chubb, full back and wing back replacements for Bob Wiese and Bob Nussbaumer, respectively, into the intricacies of the Wolverines' ground attack.

Lund, who has inherited Wiese's punting chores as well as a share with Quarter Back Joe Ponsetto of his captain's duties, spent considerable time practicing kicking.

IRISH SHIFT LINEUP.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 31 [Special].—Ed McKeever, Notre Dame coach, made several varsity lineup changes in this afternoon's scrimmage and indicated that he would probably make more before Notre Dame's game on Saturday with Navy in Baltimore.

Elmer Angsman, full back, was shifted to right half back, where he shared duties with Bob Kelly. John Corbisiero, freshman full back, was moved up to the varsity. Tom Guthrie, 17, another freshman, took over Bill O'Connor's right end position. The left half back job was filled by George Terlep, who replaced Chick Maggioli, transferred by the navy from Notre Dame to the Parris Island marine base.

This new outfit scrimmaged against Navy defenses, with Kelly and Terlep getting away for several long gains.

STRESS DEFENSE AT NAVY.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 31 [Special].—Navy football coaches stressed buildup of strong defense to cope with the "T" formation employed by Notre Dame as they put the Middies thru a strenuous practice session today for the game in Baltimore stadium on Saturday.

According to Head Coach Swede Hagberg, Hal Hamberg, 150 pound passer definitely will be out of Saturday's battle, having aggravated a leg injury in the Penn game. Bob Jenkins will do most of the passing, but there are also a number of other good pitchers.

LANE TO START DRILL FOR SAVOLD BOUT TOMORROW

Larry Lane, Trenton, N. J., heavyweight, who knocked out Georgie Parks in Chicago two months ago, will arrive this afternoon for his 10 round bout with Lee Savold in the Coliseum next Wednesday. He will open workouts in the Coliseum gymnasium tomorrow. Tami Mauriello of New York will meet the winner of the impending contest in the Coliseum Nov. 24, Matchmaker Jack Kearns said yesterday.

C. Y. O. ENTRANTS TO GET PHYSICAL EXAMS TONIGHT

Boxers eligible for the 14th annual C. Y. O. amateur tournament will take their physical examination at the C. Y. O. center gymnasium between 6:30 and 8 p. m. tonight, Lou Radzienda, boxing director, said yesterday. Elimination bouts will start Nov. 20. The finals will be held in Ashland auditorium Dec. 6.

Big Nine Is Vindicated in Rules Stand

Statistics on football games played this season in the Western conference indicate there is no necessity for changing the rules to help the offense, the office of Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Nine athletic commissioner, revealed yesterday.

Maj. J. L. Griffith.

Last summer a movement was started in the east to amend the rules in the interests of greater and more frequent gains and larger scores, and some of the eastern colleges and universities have played under new rules which permit running with a fumbled ball and passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage.

Big Nine Vetoes Change.

The Western conference elected to abide by the 1941 decision of the chairman of the Football Coaches' association rules committee, which was that the coaches felt there was an equal balance between offense and defense, and recommended that no changes be made in the rules. Teams in the Big Nine and thruout the middle west adhered to the National Collegiate Athletic association rules.

That there was and is no necessity for changing the rules to aid the offense is indicated by the report from Maj. Griffith's office, which reveals:

The coaches in this section have been able to develop offensive plays that will score under the rules that have been in effect now for a good many years. Clearly this has been an offensive year. In 1943, in the first 11 games, conference teams in conference games scored 339 points. In 1944, in 11 games, conference teams scored 360 points. In 1943, the total net yards gained were 1,872, and this year, in the same number of games, the teams have advanced the ball 2,251 yards.

Increase in Gains, Scoring.

In 1943, 1,373 yards were made by rushing, and in 1944, 1,675 were made by rushing. In 1943, 499 yards were made by passing, compared to 576 yards this year.

Big scores have been common this year. For instance, last Saturday, in the Ohio-Minnesota game, the score was 34 to 14; Michigan-Purdue, 40 to 12; Great Lakes-Wisconsin, 40 to 12. In other areas, Army beat Duke, 27 to 7. Tulane beat S. M. U., 27 to 7. The score of the Nebraska-Missouri game was 24 to 20, and of the Oklahoma Aggies and Tulsa, 46 to 40.

NAME OFFICIALS OF HORSE SHOW ASSOCIATION

The Chicago Horse Show association has been formed to sponsor a horse show in the Coliseum Dec. 9 to 17.

Paul Butler is president of the new association. Members of the executive committee are John F. Cuneo, chairman; H. Leslie Atlass and Curt G. Joa. Other officers are Walter D. Monroe, John T. Pirie Jr., Thomas E. Bond, Clarence T. Randall and Theodore A. Mohlman, vice presidents; J. L. Younghusband, secretary, and James R. Leavell, treasurer.

Known as the Chicago Horse Show, the event will present nine evening sessions and five matinees. It will be managed by A. P. Fleming, nationally known executive of horse shows.

PRICES OF HOGS BREAK AGAIN AS RECEIPTS RISE

Average 85 Cents Lower in 2 Days.

Cattle Sales at Peak

Marketings of cattle and calves in federally inspected packing plants in October broke all records, the American Meat Institute said yesterday. Cattle marketings were 11 per cent above September and 14 per cent above a year ago, the institute said. Calf marketings were 23 per cent above September and 41 per cent above a year ago. Sales of hogs, sheep, and lambs exceeded September but were below October, 1943.

New price declines swept a majority of hog markets yesterday, slashing an estimated 25 million dollars more off the value of stock on farms. The wide break Monday, after weeks of ceiling price trading, was reported to have cut 50 millions from farm inventories.

Prices at markets thruout the country ranged from fairly steady at some to breaks of as much as 75 cents a hundred pounds. Chicago buyers paid an average of $13.80, or 45 cents less than on Monday and 85 cents under last week's close, the least since July 24. The $14 top, lowest since July 20, was paid early in the session for selected 200 to 240 pound hogs. Sellers were unable to get more than $13.75 for similar kinds in final trades, the weakest of the day.

Not as Large as Year Ago.

The sudden price drop accompanied a seasonal increase in receipts as the spring pig crop began coming to market in volume. Shipments remained smaller than a year ago, but prices were lower. Packers are not as well equipped to handle large volume, Chicago stock yards sources agreed, and were unwilling to bid more than necessary.

The packers' position also is that they have been losing money thru purchases made indiscriminately at ceiling prices to keep busy during recent periods of record low receipts. It was said they now are able to be "choosey" about what they pay for various types of stock in an effort to stay on the profit side of the ledger.

Receipts Climb 40 Per Cent.

Receipts Monday and yesterday in 20 markets totaled 231,000 head, compared with 208,000 in the first two days last week and 40 per cent above the 165,000 two weeks ago. The Chicago increase was from 29,000 two weeks ago to 41,000 last week and 51,000 the last two days, a jump of 75 per cent.

Plain quality lights and pigs were hit hardest on the break when pressure for volume eased. Some sold as much as $2 below last week. Most of 180 to 240 pounders, the bulk of offerings, brought 85 cents to $1 less. Heavy butchers, which were scarce, lost only 15 to 35 cents.

Blames U. S., Packers for Hog Price Dip

Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, yesterday blamed the government and the packers for what he termed the present uncalled for break in the hog market. The price drop in the last two days was the most severe in five years.

Earl C. Smith.

The American Meat Institute replied that meat packers had been "frozen at a loss" when paying hog ceiling prices under a government system of maximum and minimum prices.

Smith charged that "chaos" in the market resulted from the failure of high government officials to agree on recommendations last July by live stock producers and the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Urge Subsidy Adjustments.

Producers urged that subsidies to packers be reduced to the extent that the market on good butcher hogs fell below the ceiling price and be removed entirely when average monthly drove costs fell below $13.50.

The packers had no valid excuse for breaking the market 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds in the face of current heavy demand for pork, Smith charged. He asserted that pork ceiling prices permit packers to pay above the hog ceilings and make a substantial profit.

"It is time the public should know that packers receive a subsidy of $1.30 a hundred pounds on all hogs they slaughter, regardless of what they pay the farmer," Smith said. "The public also should know that when the price farmers receive for their hogs falls below the ceiling, it is not reflected to consumers.

Claim Loss, Not Enrichment.

"It is easy to see that a raid on the hog market unjustifiably enriches the packers in an amount equal to the farmers' loss." He said farmers were justifiably enraged.

The institute said it had informed the government packers were "suffering serious losses" at ceiling prices because their returns, including "the so-called subsidy," were less than the cost of hogs plus operating expenses. It also said the industry was operating under serious man power handicaps.

"The so-called subsidy was put into effect by the government to offset the rollback in wholesale and retail prices," it said. "The 'subsidy' might better be termed an equalization allowance."

THREE MIDWEST AREAS AFFECTED IN WMC REVISION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Three midwestern communities were included in war man power commission revisions of labor market classifications announced today and effective tomorrow.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., was moved from the group 2 classification to group 1, which designates an area of acute labor shortage. Dekalb, Ill., and Anderson, Ind., were shifted from group 1 to group 2, a less acute shortage classification. WMC said the Cedar Rapids area already was behind schedule on various items on the production urgency list and its labor demands were expected to increase in the next few months because of requirements of companies producing communication equipment, motor vehicle parts, and machinery.

EXPORT EASING BEFORE FALL OF NAZIS FORECAST

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31 (AP).—Relaxation of export controls, to give American trade a fast reentry into world markets, probably will begin before German collapse. Within a month or so the list of more than 1,000 products subject to export quotas and licenses may be cut to about 200, high government officials predicted today.

A committee made up of WPB and foreign economic administration officials has gone to work on relaxation plans. One official described both agencies as operating on the theory: "Unless a good case is made for continued control over an item, we're against it."

FEA, with hopes of boosting exports to 6 or 7 billion dollars annually compared with pre-war shipments of about 3 billion, is described as particularly eager for the earliest possible removal of trade barriers.

MILWAUKEE LINE PLAN UPHELD BY APPEALS COURT

The 7th Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday dismissed appeals from the revised plan for reorganization of the Milwaukee railroad, an action expected to hasten reorganization of the road, which has been in trusteeship since June, 1935.

Judge Major wrote the unanimous opinion stating that the court would not consider further the claims of stockholders. It held that the plan approved by the interstate commerce commission conformed with requirements set up by the Supreme court. District Judge Igoe already had approved the modified ICC plan.

The ICC expects a vote of creditors to be completed by the end of the year when it will submit the results to Judge Igoe for his action. The plan would cut capitalization from $713,517,670 to $533,090,068.

SETS V-E ERA WAR WORK CUT AT 20 BILLIONS

Hinckley Predicts Quick Settlement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Allied victory in Europe will bring cancellations of more than 20 billion dollars in war contracts, an amount nearly equal to total cancellations from the start of the war to date, Robert H. Hinckley, director of contract settlement, predicted today in a report to congress.

Hinckley said most of the proposed contract terminations will come within three months after Germany is defeated. He estimated they would represent at least one-third of outstanding war production.

Seven Per Cent Already Canceled.

The report gave this statistical raport on war output: Total contract commitments to date, 325 billion dollars, of which 240 billions have already been completed. Total cancellations so far, 21½ billions, or 7 per cent, involving 116,000 contracts. Contracts still outstanding, about 65 billions, of which one-third will be canceled soon after victory in Europe. This would leave less than 45 billions of orders for war goods.

Hinckley's report said the war and navy departments and the maritime commission have accounted for 21 billion, or nearly all, of the terminations to date. The cancellations by these three agencies have involved 37,000 contracts, of which 28,000 have been finally settled. These involved actual payments by the government of 340 million dollars, or about 4 per cent of contracts originally valued at 9 billion, the report explained.

The war department leads in cancellations with 17 billion dollars, or 80 per cent of the total, and has finally settled 86 per cent of its terminated contracts, Hinckley reported. The navy has settled 47 per cent and the maritime commission 16 per cent of canceled commitments.

Cut Settlement Period.

Hinckley said the average time for making financial settlements with contractors has been reduced recently and reported that some agencies are settling all but a few large claims within six months after the contracts are canceled.

He asserted that experience shows "the challenge of mass termination can be met" and added that conversion from war to peace production "need not be delayed by contract settlement."

The army and navy announced that they have agreed on new joint contract termination regulations, with one set of rules and forms for business with either the army or navy. The new regulations, covering 300 loose-leaf pages, are being sent to war contractors thruout the country and will be supplemented from time to time by revisions, the announcement said.

WARNS BIGGEST POST-WAR TASK IS DISTRIBUTION

Increased efficiency in distribution will be a much more difficult post-war problem than production, which already is highly efficient, T. G. MacGowan, chairman of the marketing committee of the committee for economic development, asserted yesterday at a luncheon of the National Shoe Fair in the Palmer House.

"Distribution has lagged far behind in achieving ways to sell more goods at lower prices," said MacGowan, who is manager of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company marketing research department. "We have not in any recent peace time year distributed enough goods to give enough of our people jobs."

MacGowan disclosed that the shoe industry had estimated to the CED that the value of shoe products manufactured after the war will be 37 per cent higher than in 1940, on the basis that shoe prices return to the 1940 level. Volume estimates were for a production of 500,600,000 pairs of footwear, including rubber.

Ward Asks High Court Review of Damage Suit

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31 (AP).—Montgomery Ward & Co. filed in the Illinois Supreme court today a petition for leave to appeal its $105,200 damage suit against Franklin union, local No. 4 of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, and other labor associations. Dismissal of the case by the Cook county Superior court had been upheld by the first district Appellate court. The dispute involved a delay in 1942 printing of a company catalog.

Vote to Alter State Banking Law Is Urged

The proposed amendment to the Illinois banking act, which will be submitted at the general election next Tuesday, would enable state banks to service post-war needs of business and industry better, Harry C. Hausman, secretary of the Illinois Bankers' association, said yesterday.

He asserted that the amendment, passed by the legislature and approved by both the Republican state auditor and his Democratic opponent, would place the state banks on a more equal basis with national banks in making loans and in investment in securities. It has the indorsement of the I. B. A., which includes both state and national banks.

Seek to Clarify Language.

The amendment, to section 10 of the act, would clarify the authority the banks have in the making of loans and investments and not leave the matter to implication from the language of the act, as at present, said Hausman.

The amendment provides that up to 15 per cent of a state bank's capital and surplus may be invested in any one marketable security, or on aggregate loans to any one borrower, he explained. Banks would have unlimited loaning power in the case of federal and state issues. The purchase of municipal bonds would be unlimited in the county in which the bank is located.

Adds to Lending Authority.

Additional lending authority would be granted when a loan is secured 100 per cent or more by government bonds or secured by a guarantee of the federal government or its agencies, as in connection with V, VT, GI, and other loans associated with the war and reconversion.

Hausman said the amendment would encourage building up banks' capital structures by permitting surplus above 100 per cent of capital to be considered in determining loan limits. The present law grants state banks no additional lending power based on additional surplus.

People and Events

The appointment of A. W. Bigham as general adjuster for the Milwaukee railroad with headquarters in Chicago, effective today, was announced yesterday by M. L. Bluhm, general solicitor. Bigham succeeds Ray Webb who retired. L. D. Phelan, district adjuster at Aberdeen, S. D., was promoted to assistant general adjuster in Chicago.

John D. Moynahan, president of the Chicago Association of Underwriters, announced the appointment of Clarence E. Smith, agent for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, as treasurer to succeed Raymond W. Frank, who recently was made general agent for the State Mutual Life. Harold P. McLaughlin, agent for Massachusetts Mutual, will succeed Smith as a director.

The retirement of C. H. Shircliffe, superintendent of dining and parlor cars of the Chicago and North Western system, was announced by L. L. White, vice president in charge of operations. J. J. Stein, special representative of vice president, was named general superintendent of the dining car department.

Frank V. Martinek, assistant vice president of Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will address the Junior Traffic club tomorrow in the Hamilton hotel. Martinek, formerly navy lieutenant commander, will discuss Japan.

Hugh R. McLaughlin, vice president of General Mills and president of its central division with headquarters in Chicago, retired yesterday, Harry A. Bullis, president of the company announced.

Croil Hunter was reelected president and general manager of Northwest Airlines.

SURFACE LINES PLAN PURCHASES OF 1,183 NEW CARS AFTER WAR

A post-war program of the Chicago Surface Lines to purchase 798 new trolley and gasoline buses and 385 new street cars was disclosed yesterday in a report filed in the court of Federal Judge Igoe. The minimum cost will be $16,627,250, with a 19 million maximum if prices rise.

The report was submitted by Charles Aaron, counsel for the trustee of the Chicago City Railways, a Surface Lines company. It was prepared by John E. Sullivan, chairman of the lines' joint board of management and operation, who estimated the program would add 55,000 to seating capacity.

Of the new equipment listed, 270 buses are on order, but not released by the office of defense transportation, and application has been made without success for 200 new street cars of the most advanced type.

Judge Igoe postponed to Nov. 15 a hearing on the lines' bankruptcy proceedings because of an inadvertent delay in mailing 1,600 notices to creditors. Objections so far fall into three categories: To retention of present trustees, to claims of creditors, and to the list of creditors.

CIO GETS 4 MEN ON WLB AS AFL SHUNS PAY CASES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Two CIO representatives today replaced two AFL members who withdrew temporarily as the war labor board began consideration of 43 pay increase demands affecting approximately 1 million workers. The replacements put four CIO men on the board with four each representing industry and the public.

The AFL members who sat on the board during consideration of demands that the Little Steel formula be broken — Matthew Woll and George Meany—had announced last Thursday that they would withdraw. They objected to consideration of the 13 auxiliary wage demands until a general policy is determined concerning the formula, which generally has held wage increases to 15 per cent of January, 1941, wages.

John Brophy and Neil Brant were the CIO members who replaced Meany and Woll, joining R. J. Thomas and Emil Rieve who have been sitting with the board since the discussions started Oct. 9.

EVANSTON TURNS DOWN RESEARCH BUILDING PERMIT

The Evanston city council has concurred in his refusal to issue Victor Adding Machine company a permit to build a 2½ story research structure near the city's downtown area, Building Commissioner E. M. Goodman said yesterday.

The city classified the Victor project as commercial and had to reject the company's application because the contemplated site at the northeast corner of Hinman av. and Davis st. is in a residential zone.

The original application was rejected by Goodman, but his decision was appealed to the city zoning board of appeals. The board after a public hearing confirmed Goodman. The board's action was approved by the city council.

Vernon R. Loucks, attorney for the company, said the company will abandon plans to build in Evanston, but will build on an undetermined site.

Delay Certain-teed Stock Increase Vote to Nov. 21

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 31 (AP).—A special meeting of Certain-teed Products corporation stockholders, called to consider an increase in the authorized common stock from 1 million to 2 million shares, was adjourned today to Nov. 21. Rawson G. Lizars, chairman, said that to date holders of 61 per cent of the common stock had indicated approval of the change, and 66⅔ per cent is necessary.

EDISON'S SALES OF ELECTRICITY, EARNINGS RISE

Gas Deliveries Dip, Revenue Larger.

Commonwealth Edison company's sales of electricity increased in the first nine months of 1944, as did profit, but unit volume of gas sales was slightly below a year ago, Charles Y. Freeman, chairman, reported yesterday.

Sales of electricity totaled 7,833,638,195 kilowatt hours in the nine months ended Sept. 30, a rise of 7.2 per cent over the 1943 corresponding period. Electric revenues increased 5.2 per cent. Gas sales aggregated 227,540,933 therms, a decline of 0.8 per cent. However, gas revenues increased 1.5 per cent.

Profit Tops 16½ Million.

Consolidated net income in the nine months was $16,542,629, equal to $1.30 a share, compared with $16,221,566, or $1.28 a share, a year earlier. Per share profit in the 12 months ended Sept. 30 was $1.79, against $1.73.

Consolidated Edison Company of New York, an important supplier of gas and electricity in the New York City boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, and Queens, and sole supplier of electric power in Brooklyn, reported increased sales of electricity and gas in the 12 months ended Sept. 30, but earnings dipped slightly.

Electric sales amounted to 9,252,032,002 kilowatt hours, against 8,227,012,297 a year earlier. Gas sales totaled 42,125,668,700 cubic feet, compared with 40,235,165,200.

Consolidated profit in the 12 months' period was $32,022,668, or $1.84 a share, against $32,877,256, or $1.91 a share, a year earlier.

Finance Firm Earns More.

Household Finance corporation, Chicago, had nine months' profit of $3,540,305, or $3.97 a share, compared with $3,420,191, or $3.80 a share, a year earlier, B. E. Henderson, president, reported. He said Household had $61,528,432 of customers' notes receivable outstanding on Sept. 30, against $61,314,929 a year ago, and $696,563 less than on Jan. 1, 1944.

Cuneo Press, Inc., Chicago printing house, reported nine months' profit of $1,088,473, or $2.86 a share, against $834,757, or $2.14 a share, a year earlier.

National Cylinder Gas company reported nine months' profit of $1,178,423, or 87 cents a share, against $1,617,679, or $1.21 a share, a year earlier. Sales of the Chicago company totaled $19,081,948, compared with $20,120,642.

A. O. Smith Profit Rises.

A. O. Smith corporation, Milwaukee producer of pressed steel shapes for automobile manufacturers, had profit in its fiscal year ended July 31 of $6,407,283, equal to $12.84 a share, against $5,633,723, or $11.29 a share the preceding year, L. R. Smith, chairman, reported. Sales rose to $178,112,593 from $173,268,447.

Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation reported nine months' profit of $5,478,034, or $2.04 a share, compared with $7,060,581, or $3.03 a share, a year earlier.

American Steel Foundries, Chicago, reported net profit in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 of $2,675,383, or $2.25 a share, after federal tax provisions of $9,978,000, compared with net income of $2,752,543, or $2.32 a share, after setting aside $14,850,200 for taxes a year earlier. Sales fell to $80,970,797 from $96,773,638 a year earlier.

'WEARY' COMBAT PLANES HEADED FOR SCRAP PILE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31 (AP).—"War weary" and obsolete combat planes having no commercial value will be salvaged and scrapped.

With an increasing number of fighters and bombers declared surplus in this country and abroad, W. L. Clayton, surplus war property administrator, today authorized removal of all usable parts and storage or sale of the scrap.

He said the program not only would clear material in the way of military operations in active war theaters, but would avoid expenses entailed in bringing back useless aircraft.

Stock Prices Rally on Long War Forecast

New York, Oct. 31 (AP).—The stock market turned upward today with modest recoveries centering on aircrafts, steels and other issues in the armament classification.

Shares of companies facing reconversion problems apparently were propped by British Prime Minister Churchill's prediction of a possibly longer war than generally expected. Many issues were neglected as customers maintained an aloof attitude pending more light on the coming election and international developments. Dividends and earnings reports aid some stocks.

Early Advances Trimmed.

Gains ran to 2 or more points in the forenoon. These were trimmed or erased here and there at the close. Dealings were relatively slow altho expanding at intervals, and totaled 676,210 shares against 604,997 yesterday.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was up 0.1 at 54.8 and for October showed a net advance of as much. Of 846 issues registering, 385 were up against 192 down and 269 unchanged.

New 1944 highs were posted for Douglas Aircraft, Grumman, and Texas Pacific Land Trust.

CHICAGO LIST RISES.

Prices were a little higher in increased turnover of 26,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Volume leaders included Curtiss-Wright, up ¼ at a 1944 peak of 6¼; Chicago corporation, up ⅛, and Commonwealth Edison, General Finance, and Consolidated Biscuit, all unchanged. Acme Steel closed at a 1944 high of 65, up 2½.

BONDS TEND UPWARD.

New York, Oct. 31 (AP).—A moderate rally in rails and industrials and a few utilities gave the bond market a lift today. Trading expanded to $6,119,900 from $4,892,600 yesterday.

CONSTITUTION TERMED KEY TO INSURANCE RULE

The only way to obtain regulation of insurance companies by states only is by adopting a constitutional amendment making such jurisdiction unmistakable, A. V. Gruhn, general manager of the American Mutual Alliance, said yesterday at the convention of the National Association of Mutual Insurance companies in the Drake hotel.

"Clearly the situation calls for complete coöperation between the insurance companies, insurance commissioners and congress in working out a program which will make it possible for companies to carry on legal operations without apprehension that they are running contrary to some law that was never intended to be applied to them when it was passed," he said.

Few farm insurance companies are operating in groups on rating matters and consequently were probably free from the possibility that "anti-trust laws affect them seriously," Gruhn said.

AM. COLORTYPE BUYS SITE FOR POST-WAR PLANT

American Colortype company yesterday bought 18 acres of the site of International Harvester company's Deering works for $285,000 as the site of a proposed post-war plant. The property lies north of Fullerton av. between the North Western railway tracks and the north branch of the Chicago river.

It contains two warehouses and miscellaneous buildings. E. Lennox, president of Colortype, said some of the buildings would be occupied by Jan. 1. Harvester retains 18 acres of the original Deering tract just north of the land sold Colortype. John William Wood was broker.

EXTRA DIVIDEND OF 40c DECLARED BY JEWEL TEA

Jewel Tea company yesterday voted a special dividend of 40 cents a share with the regular quarterly disbursement of 25 cents to bring total payments for 1944 to $1.40, compared with $1.15 in 1943. Lionel corporation declared an extra dividend of 10 cents a share, with the regular quarterly payment of 20 cents.

LACK OF LABOR SLOWS OUTPUT OF U. S. STEEL

Profits for Quarter Below Year Ago.

New York, Oct. 31 (AP).—Scarcity of man power is hampering the steel industry in its effort to meet war demands, Irving S. Olds, chairman of United States Steel corporation, said today. He said his company's production rate of 93½ per cent of capacity was well under its war time peak.

Irving S. Olds.

Olds said the corporation had a production loss of 710,000 tons of steel and 274,000 tons of coal up to Oct. 27 thru work stoppages, but October losses from this source were less than in any other month in 1944.

Profit Equals $1.22 a Share.

The corporation reported net profit of $16,924,356, equal to $1.22 a share on the common stock, for the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with $15,354,917, or $1.04 a share, in the June quarter and $19,166,596, or $1.48 a share, in the September quarter of 1943.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30 net profit was $49,306,889, equal to $3.49 a common share, against $50,252,649, or $3.60 a share, in the corresponding period of 1943.

Sales for the nine months were $1,535,783,742 compared with $1,446,647,355 in the 1943 period.

Directors voted the usual dividend of $1 a share on the common stock payable Dec. 9 to holders of record Nov. 10. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock was declared payable Nov. 20 to holders of record Nov. 3.

Tax Provision Large.

Estimated federal taxes against income for the third quarter were 25 million dollars against $33,800,000 in the preceding three months and $26,700,000 in the 1943 September quarter. A provision of 6 million dollars to cover estimated additional costs applicable to the quarter arising out of the war compared with similar deductions in the June and September quarters last year.

Olds said the corporation's order backlog had shown a further decline and was equal to about five months' operations. He said the time lag between the end of the war and completion of industrial reconversion which would release large orders for civilian steel was difficult to estimate, but he thought a substantial quantity of steel products might be sold to Russia and China if satisfactory financing could be arranged.

CORN DECLINES ON INCREASED COUNTRY SALES

Increased sales of corn for deferred shipment from the country at prices 4 to 5½ cents a bushel under the office of price administration ceiling price of $1.16½ for No. 2 yellow caused general selling of futures yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. At no time did the market show an inclination to rally and closing trades were 1¼ to 1⅝ cents lower.

Weakness in corn influenced other grains. Rye lost ⅛ to 1 cent, oats ⅝ to 1 cent, and barley 1 to 1½ cents. Wheat held within narrow limits and closed ¼ cent higher on December and ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower on deferred deliveries.

OPA PROCEDURE CHANGED TO AID 1942 CAR BUYERS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Automobile rationing regulations were amended today by the office of price administration to help certificate holders find cars. The principal change will be the requirement that all automobile dealers post lists of 1942 cars for sale, showing make, body type, serial and engine number and whether new or used. If the dealer has no 1942 cars for sale, a notice to that effect must be posted.

OPA said dealers who refuse to sell a car to a prospective buyer holding the necessary papers and having the required cash may be barred from dealing in any cars now rationed or which may be rationed in the future. Any certificate holder who has difficulty finding a new car for sale may write for information to OPA's inventory and control branch, Empire State building, New York City.

Extend Validity Period.

Another change extends the validity period of car ration certificates from 15 to 90 days. Certificates valid on Nov. 3 remain valid thru Nov. 30, and those issued on or after Nov. 4 will be valid for 60 days. All certificates expire at the end of the validity period and are not renewable.

OPA explained additional time is necessary because the stockpile of automobiles available for rationing is less than 20,000, or fewer than a normal two day supply before the war, and many certificate holders were unable to obtain a suitable car within 15 days.

Alteration Permit Needed.

Another amendment prohibits alterations to any 1942 automobiles held for sale without permission from the OPA in Washington, D. C. Previously, permission was necessary only for alterations to two door, metal topped 1942 sedans held for sale. This action was necessary to conserve more passenger cars for the use of essential motorists by preventing "speculative" alterations which might affect the worth of the car, OPA said.

JUDGE RESTRAINS RAILROAD FROM NEGRO JOB SHIFT

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining the Santa Fe railway from dropping from active service 23 Negro porter-brakemen. Also named in the order were the national railroad adjustment board, F. W. Coyle, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and 10 other defendants.

The complaint alleged that the work of the men as brakemen was to be stopped today under a contract entered into between the railroad and the union on April 27 this year. Judge La Buy ordered that the present status of the employes be maintained until the matter is heard Nov. 21 by a three judge statutory court which will pass on the constitutionality of the national railroad adjustment act.

The complaint said that the railroad adjustment board, 1st division, ruled in April, 1942, that only union members could be employed as switchmen and that because Negroes are not allowed to join the brotherhood they are deprived of rights under the 5th amendment to the Constitution.

10 MILLION WAR HOME PROGRAM ENDED BY HOLC

Ten million dollars have been spent by the Home Owners Loan corporation in its combination public-private program of converting various types of buildings in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan into 5,500 home units for war workers., Charles Collins, HOLC regional director, said yesterday. Of this amount about 1,300 units have been provided in the Chicago metropolitan area, 900 for white and 400 for Negro families, at a total cost to HOLC of $2,363,400.

Collins said that the program ended because no more funds were available, altho priorities remain available for 100 more homes for Negro war workers.

Announcement of the close of the conversion program was made during an inspection tour of HOLC projects for Negro families on the south side, conducted by the national housing agency. Six projects in various stages of construction were visited. They will accommodate 251 families.

CONVICT ADMITS, THEN DENIES, HE IS WAC SLAYER

Asserts He Confessed to Protect Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31 [Special].—William Luallen, 23, Indiana state prison convict, late today repudiated a written confession reported earlier today by Sheriff Otto Petit in which the convict was quoted as saying he had killed Corp Maoma Little Ridings, Camp Atterbury WAC in the Claypool hotel here 14 months ago.

William Luallen.

Luallen said he had made up the confession "in order to keep my wife out of trouble." His divorced wife, Wynona, was named by him last week as the WAC's slayer but, after lie detector tests indicated she was innocent, Luallen made the confession, which he later repudiated.

Held for Further Tests.

Asserting the convict "must know something about the murder," Sheriff Petit said he would hold Luallen here for at least a week for further lie detector tests before returning him to the prison at Michigan City, where he is serving from 10 to 20 years for burglary. Petit said he would ask Criminal Court Judge William D. Bain to appoint two psychiatrists to examine Luallen.

In telling of the confession the sheriff quoted the convict as saying he had met Corp. Ridings, a former nurse at the Warm Springs, Ga., infantile paralysis foundation, a week before the murder and visited an Indianapolis tavern with her.

Asserts WAC Called Him.

The convict is said to have stated that Corp. Ridings called him the evening of Aug. 28, 1943, and asked him to go to her hotel room where, he said, he was introduced to a "woman in black" by the WAC.

A "wild party" followed, during which a large quantity of liquor was consumed, Luallen said. The convict said he became drunk and murdered the WAC with a bottle during an argument, while the "woman in black" fled.

Atty. Edwin J. Ryan, representing the convict's ex-wife, said he would ask the court for a reduction of the $10,000 bond under which she is held in the county jail.

U. S. Witness on Stand in Timber Fraud Case

Walter Packard, agricultural engineer of Berkeley, Cal., in charge of the experiment station of the Imperial Valley of California, an important government witness, took the stand yesterday in the second trial of Arnold Joerns, president and manager of Resources Corporation International, and four associates on charges of mail fraud and violation of the securities and exchange act involving Mexican timberland. Objection by defense attorneys delayed Packard's testimony. He may take the stand again today before Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw.

OPA SUSPENDS, SUES TO ENJOIN 4 GAS STATIONS

The office of price administration yesterday filed suit in federal District court against the Martin Oil company, said to be the largest independent gasoline distributor in Illinois, and asked the court to back up by injunction the OPA's suspension of four stations as directed by Hearing Commissioner John R. Allen.

Marion W. Isbell, area director, said this was the first time the OPA had brought injunction proceedings here against a suspended station. Stations at 104th st. and Indianapolis blvd., 76 South Chicago av., 2551 South Park av., and 130th st. and Torrence av. were suspended for selling gasoline above ceiling prices without coupons.

Isbell also filed suspension proproceedings with Allen against George Talbot, 5024 W. 16th st., Cicero, charged with a shortage of 3,750 gallons; Edward McMullen, 2510 S. 58th ct., Cicero, charged with overdrawing an illegal ration banking account by 19,717 gallons, and the Verland Service station, Blue Island, charged with giving 1,050 counterfeit coupons on the purchase of 4,602 gallons of gasoline.

SCHOOL FOOD STOLEN.

Theft of a radio, butter, meat, and 10 gallons of ice cream from the lunch room in the Tennyson school, 2800 Fulton st., was reported to police yesterday.

OPA FILES NEW SUITS ALLEGING PRICE VIOLATION

Eleven suits charging violation of price regulations were filed yesterday by the office of price administration in Circuit, Municipal, and federal District courts, while two previous suits filed in federal District court resulted in judgments totaling $4,579.

Suits were filed in Circuit court against Abe's Grocery Market, 3132 Indiana av.; John Beaton, 353 S. Cicero av.; Lake View Food Market, 5532 Belmont av.; Roma Meat market, 3441 Chicago av., and the North-Luna Food mart, 5543 North av.

Rent Suits Name Two.

In Municipal court rent ceiling suits were filed against Agnes Royal, Negro, of 434 E. 48th pl., asking $154, and Mrs. Irene Sheehy, 6505 Cottage Grove av., seeking $50.

In federal District court, suits were filed against Ben Weiss, 131 S. Market st., seeking $989, and against Ruddy-Brook, Inc., 622 Roosevelt rd., I Arbertman & Co., 326 Adams st., and the Walker-Leavitt company, 121 S. Market st., seeking triple damages for overceiling sales in an unspecified amount.

$3,082 Judgment Issued.

Judgment for $5,082 against E. C. Judd company, 176 Adams st., wholesale lumber dealer, was issued by Judge John P. Barnes in federal District court on OPA charges of over-ceiling sales.

Judge Walter J. La Buy issued a judgment for $1,497 against J. W. Doncer, 3356 W. 65th pl., wholesale meat dealer, on a charge of overceiling sales. The same defendant paid a $1,385 judgment on a similar charge last December. Both judgments were accompanied by injunctions against further violations.
